She was put into the custody of Sheriff Lyon. On inquiry this was discovered to be a Steison hat, handled by Hall & Anderson. Hall & Anderson had recently had a large consignment of these hats atolen from a Seaboard car. Mr. Lyon questioned Fannie Hall closely and op information obtained from her he made several other arrests. These lead to the information that certain negroes in Anderson were carrying on systematized thefis. Mr. Lyon went to Anderson and spent two or three days. He arrested one Jesse Williams on the description given, but he found him to be the wrong man. He was, however, almost a duplicate of the real man. be found him to be the wrong man. He was, however, almost a duplicate of the real mun, Isaac Green. Mr. Lvon learned that Isaac Green had sold a number of Setson hats out on Mr. Hammonds plate and he and police man Martin arrested him. These two officermanaged to get a full confession from Isaac Green in volving the stealing of about $300 worth of guns out of the depot in Anderson, the stealing of several hundred dollars worth the stealing of several hundred dollars worth of hats and other articles at a different time. The negroes implicated in the stealing were Isaac Greene, Geo. Quarlesand Walfer Davis and others not yet captured. They disposed of much of their loot through a negro Ben Keil, at Pendieton, who runs an establishment on a tremendous scale for disposing of stolen goods.

Another branch of the band is about to be unearthed near Green wood and is being followed under sheriff Lyons direction.

Ever assistance was given Sheriff Lyon by the sheriff of Anderson County and by the police, but the fact is the trail was started in Abbeville and the game treed by Sheriff Lyon. The band seemed to be a perfect organization in every detail except that they were not chartered.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

Recently an article appeared in the Anderson's Sheriff and police force in uncerthing a systematized band of negro robber who have been breaking into car boxes and disposing of thousands of dollars of valuable loot.

With the greatest respect and even the kindislest feelings possible, for the Dally Mail and with a kindred feeling for Andsrson's splendid Sheriff, the Press and Banner must say, that the real hero of the narrative was not mentioned at a l. He was none other than our own Sheriff C. J. Lyon, who has proven thimself to be without superior past or present, among all those who have worn "croked hat and sword" in the annals of the State. The facts are about as follows: The city police found a man's hat on one Fannte Hali, that cost more than the hats usually worn by after improvement.

Dr. Kuess also had considerable success in using the serum, and so did Drs. Lenoir and Negry had a similar experience.

Professor Lancelongue's report attracted much greaterattention in the medical world than the fresh cialms made by Dr. Doyen for his serum treatment of cancer. In a paper read before the congress of surgery, Doyen cited several cases which had been declared hopeless, and which he said had actually been cured by his treatment.

He summed up as follows:

"The results of anti-cancer vaccination are now certain. It is indisputable that this method is the only efficacious means of struggling against the extension of malignant immors. The mortality caused by cancer is in fact constantly augmented. This augmentation from 1880 to 1900, a perion of twenty years, has attained the proportion of 24 to 30 per cent in all countries where exact statistics are available.

"The progress of the disease constitutes a great social danger, and vaccination against cancer ought to be employed not only in confirmed cases, where it is often too late, but in the beginning. It is necessary to learn to firmed cases, where it is often too late, but in the beginning. It is necessary to learn to diagnose cancer early to treat it successfully When physicians have learned to use the vaccine it is probably the only method to be employed as a preventive as well as of New Orleans. The Progressive Union of New Orleans, representing the vast and varied financial and commercial interests of New Orleans, and which has participated fraternally in the Convention of the National Farmers' Union,

Convention of the National Farmers' Union, hereby resolve:
First: That we heartly commend and approve the objects and aims of said Farmers' Union Convention, to wit, the praiseworthy and opportune efforts to make cotton bring better prices, and we call upon all the financial and commercial strength of the cotton growing States to join in and co-operate with the Farmers' Union in the accomplishment of such purposes, realizing as we do that every interest in such States will be greatly benefited thereby.

Second: That we realize that the cotton grower is justly entitled to the active aid of Second: That we realize that the cotton grower is justly entitled to the active aid of the financial and commercial interests to enable the grower to so hold and opportunely sell his cotton instead of being in large part compelled, by present spatems of credits and times of payment, lack of proper warehouse facilities, etc., to sell cotton in the fall months, thus glutting the market and lowering prices.

Third: That a great step forward has been taken, by the appointment of committees from the Farmers' Union and the New Orleans Progressive Union to hold joint conferences and prepare plans to remedy these conditions, and we express the belief that such joint committee will devise safe and proper plans for the solution of these problems.

HOTEL KEYS.

They Are Carried Off by Guests Who

Forget to Give Them Up. "Our key fitter is one of the most important men on our staff," said the manager of a large New Orleans hotel. "He :s kept busy every day of the year, and sometimes he is so rushed with work that

"But I would suppose," remarked a listener, "that even a big hotel would acquire a sufficiency of keys in the course of time "So it does," replied the manager, the public would only let it keep 'em; but it won't. It would astonish anybody not leave the house. When the average man gets ready to depart, he packs his valise, locks his door and then goes direct to the cashier's wicket to settle his bill. When that formality is attended to, he is generally in a rush to get to the depot and is quite apt to forget that he has omitted to return his key at the clerk's desk. That, at any rate, is the way I account for so much absentmindedness on the subject. The clerk doesn't discover that the key is gone until the chambermaid applies for it to clean up the room, which is probably an hour or two after the guest has taken his departure. Then nothing remains but to call in the key as quickly as he can. Formerly the hotels tried to guard against this innocent kleptomania," the manager went on, "by having their keys made very large and cumbersome and attaching them to enormous metal tags, the idea being to render it impossible to put them in one's pocket. To that end they were probably a success, but they were such an unmitigated nuisance other wise, and guests complained so bitterly at the annoyance of handling them, that they were generally discarded. You will still find the plan popular in the country, however, and in small houses that have no locksmiths on the premises, and only a week or so ago I dropped into a quaint little establishment where the keys were attached to brass disks fully as large as dessert plates and serrated at the edge

"At present most of the big hotels use a modest metal check, stamped with their address and a request to forward through the mails if accidentally carried off. All that is necessary is to attach a 3 cent stamp to the tag and drop the key in the mearest letter box. Incidentally I may say that about one man in 50 takes the trouble. But, aside from the room keys carried away by guests, a vast number of all kinds disappear through the mysterious channels to oblivion that exist in all large hotels. They vanish, and that's the end of it—keys to furniture, wardrobe keys, closet keys, bathroom keys, keys to the help's lockers, padlock keys from the outside storerooms, big coal bunker keys, gate keys and keys of every imaginable size, shape and style. They are continnally missing and have to be replaced.
If a lost key turns up later, the duplicate is carefully ticketed and laid away in a drawer set aside for that purpose. But they seldom turn up. They have gone to the limbo of lost pins, last season's birds' nests and the snows of yesteryear."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Eat All You Can, Mother! An old man whose hair and beard were cut in a chaste, rural design appeared in one of the table d'hote restaurants the other day. He had his wife with him. That was more than the old lady could say of her hearing. She was almost stone deaf, which gave everybody a chance to find out what splendid lungs her husband had. The meal was luncheon. The price which the old man was asked after he had ordered two meals was 75 cents.

"Seventy-five cents!" he exclaimed.
"You don't mean apiece?"

"Yes, sir." "Gracious!" He thought it over a minute or two Then he looked at his wife as if considering whether he should try to get the dreaded news past the old lady's tympanum. Evidently he gave it up. But he did what he could. When the first course came on, he leaned over and shouted in "Eat all you can, mother! I'll tell you why after, awhile!"—New York Sun.

Got His Time Direct. One of the shrewdest serving men who has come to light lately is a waiter in the employ of Whittaker Wright, a London millionaire and director of the London and Globe Finance corporation. Mr. Wright not long ago discovered that the waiter was practically running & syndicate on the strength of remarks relating to the mining transactions the millionaire let fall at home. From the day that Mr. Wright discovered it that syndicate began to experience a series of misfortunes, and from that hour forth the face of the domestic, formerly so bright, became more and more careworn. The ultimate fate of the syndicate was what might

Sale of Old Furniture.

Capt. G. N. Nickles sold on last Saturday all the remaining furniture of the old tobacco barn. The farniture consisted of desks, tables, files, chairs, carpets, benches, etc. The furniture brought very good prices, netting the commission about $165.00. None of the old furniture went into the new court house. All the furniture of the new building is in keeping with the building itself.

GOOD ROADS BY RAIL

TRAINLOAD OF EXPERTS ON EDUCA-

TIONAL TOUR. Phird Train That Has Been Sent Out by the National Association—South to Be Taught to Build Highways Scientifically. A train of twelve cars, known as the "Good Roads Special," left Washington on the lines of the Southern railway early in November to stop at ten or twelve of the chief cities reached by the system and aid in organizing good roads associations and at the same time give a practical illustration nodern roadmaking. The tour will end Jan. 1.

The train carried a full equipment he has to call in an assistant. It is no of roadmaking machinery and a party exaggeration to say that he averages of eighteen persons, all skilled in the manufacture of good dirt and macadam roads. It is the third such train to be organized through the efforts of the National Good Roads association. one having been sent along the route of the Illinois Central from April to in the business to know how many guests July and a second having traversed the walk off with their room keys when they district between Chicago and Buffalo along the routes of the Lake Shore route and the New York Central. Everywhere the meetings have been widely attended and have produced permanent organizations determined to better the country roads of the section concerned.

> Mr. Martin Dodge, director of the office of public road inquiries in the agricultural department, and M. O. Eldridge, his assistant, with Mr. W. H. Moore, president of the National Good Roads association, are in charge of the "Good Roads Special." Under their direction fourteen road experts, Mr. R. W. Richardson, secretary of the national association, and several clerks will undertake to organize in each of the cities visited a permanent good roads association. To this end they will confer with the mayor and city council of each city and the officers of its commercial organizations, arrange that a suitable hall shall be hired and obtain the use of ten or twelve teams, as many men and a sufficient supply, of crushed stone to construct a length of good road as a sample. When the train arrives, the engineers will begin at once to build about a mile of dirt road with the teams, men and materials furnished by the locality. They will then surface or macadamize as much of that road as their time will permit. When the practicability of the movement has been thus manifested, the mayor and commercial organizations will unite in a call for a public meeting to organize an associa-

President Moore of the National

Good Roads association says of the project: will, and the sooner the citizens get together and work along some well organized and practical line these results will be reached the quicker. There is nothing that will do more to increase the value of virgin lands and advance the development of the rural districts than well constructed public roads. The improvement of the road system will have a wonderful effect upon stimulating the settlement of people on farms, and as these settlements are being made so will the value of the land increase. "Wherever a city or town is found possessing well made roadways leading therefrom you will find the business of that point is in a prosperous condition. Therefore the citizens of every town in the south will be promoting their own interests if they give this movement their moral and if necessary financial support. "It is hoped that every state, county, city and town officer will give this subject of better roads serious consideration and then take the matter in hand immediately and show his constituents that the movement for better roads will receive his utmost consideration and utmost co-operation. "It is universally decided that good roads are what we want. In order to secure them we must pull together, working systematically and on practical lines. This grand tour, planned by the Southern Railway company, is a signal for action. If the states visited are not alive to this and do not avail themselves of the opportunity to secure information rendered by the good roads special train, no one will be at fault except the citizens of the states in which the exhibits are made." Grades of Roads.

The grade is the most important factor to be considered in the location of roads. The smoother the road surface the less the grade should be. Whether the road be constructed of earth, stone or gravel, steep grades should always be avoided if possible. They become covered at times with coatings of ice or slippery soil, making them very difficult to ascend with loaded vehicles, as well as dangerous to descend. They allow water to rush down at such a rate as to wash great gaps alongside or to carry the surfacing material away. As the grade increases in steepness either the load has to be diminished in proportion or more horses es power attached.
