A man is judged by the Clothes he wears.

The Clothes need not be very expensive, but must be of a becoming pattern, fit well and hold shape.

IN buying a suit the safest plan is to buy from a reliable firm. This is the way we do in buying our goods to sell. We buy only from established houses, who have made their reputation by making high classed clothing, and we back every garment we sell by our personal guarantee.

We have been in business long enough to know that it pays us to give our customers the very best values for their money.

The Veterans.

Abbeville enjoyed the pleasant duty of entertaining the survivors of Orr's Rifles. In addition to the survivors of Orr's Regiment, there were quite a number of veterans present who belonged to other regiments. All seemed to enjoy this meeting together again to the fullest.

When a man spends four years of his life, of his young manhood, in a war such as that one was, the impress of that war upon the life of the man will be deeply burned in. There is little wonder that after forty odd years of the events of the war stand out so bright in the memories of these soldiers. "We are a part of all that we have ever met," and these four years make up a large part of the experiences of these veterans.

They enjoy these reunions. To recount the stories of camp life, to laugh again at the quips and cranks of the regiment's wit, to go over again softly the horror, the carnage, and the terror, please these old soldiers beyond the appreciation of the young.

With every reunion the ranks are growing steadily less. Just in a few years now there will be no more of these, our fathers. Let them enjoy their latter days in peace. Let us help to make their reunions as pleasant to them as we possibly can. We owe it to them. No Spartan at Thermopylae has a more dauntless heart, no burgher at Rome "in the brave days of old" more genuine courage, no soldier of the "Old Guard" a greater devotion to duty than had the soldier under Lee.

A rich heritage they have left us; we glory in every page of the history they have written with their blood. We, the younger generation, put our seal of approval on their deeds and acknowledge their deeds as worthy of emulation.

It is a great pleasure to Abbeville to know that Confederate soldiers enjoyed themselves while her guests, for we feel that in the person of the true Confederate soldier we have a subject worthy the highest honors—may, more, do you not feel that in this battle-scarred soldier and yet peaceful citizen we have "one whom the King delighteth to honor"?

The Bed-Rock of Success

lies in a keen, clear brain, backed by indomitable will and resistless energy. Such power comes from the splendid health that Dr. King's New Life Pills impart. They vitalize every organ and build up brain and body. J. A. Harmon, Lizenote, W. Va., writes: "They are the best pills I ever used." 25c. at Speed's drug store.

Always Looking to Your Interests.

Call and see me at once, as I have two neat cottages near public square to dispose of at a sacrifice. These sales of dwellings have recently been made in the city to new comers, and the supply is running short. Can sell you a number of vacant lots, but unless you apply early cannot fill your bill for improved property. Not a vacant dwelling in the city, and the supply is not equal to demands, so you had best look after the two cottages mentioned. M. E. Hollingsworth.

Blessing—Woodhurst.

Married Sunday afternoon, Oct. 3rd 1909 at 3 o'clock, Miss Annie Mary Woodhurst to Mr. Walter Blessing at the home of the brides parents.

Quite a number of friends of the bride and groom were there to witness the ceremony.

Miss Josie McCarty played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

First came Miss Julia Pennal and Miss Louise McKenzie followed by the groom with his best man, Mr. Emory McKee and then the bride with her sister Miss Sallie Pearl Woodhurst. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Hillhouse.

The groom is from Tennessee and is now working for the Virginia Bridge Company.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white silk.

Directly after the ceremony she changed for a blue traveling suit.

They left over the Seaboard at four o'clock for their home at Moncure, N. C.

The bride has been for a long time an efficient printer on the Press and Banner force, but she has given up her stick and will take charge of a home instead.

Our best wishes go with the young couple. May they live happily forever and a day.

Who was Pleasantly Surprised

Miss H. E. Bell, Wausau, Wis., writes: "Before I commenced to take Foley's Kidney Pills I had severe pains in my back, could not sleep, and was greatly troubled with headache. The first few doses of Foley's Kidney Pills gave me relief, and two bottles cured me. The quick results surprised me, and I can honestly recommend them." C. A. Milford & Co.

It is of interest to note the high standing of a Southern institution. Statistics have been prepared that show that the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company of Raleigh, N. C. is one of the strongest insurance companies in America and is stronger in proportion to its assets, surplus and insurance reports than any other company was at its age.

Rings Little Liver Pills are very easy to take, are gentle in action and produce a very pleasant effect. Whenever you need a saline, use Little Liver Pills. There is nothing better for cuts, burns, boils or bruises. Sold by C. A. Milford & Co.

Glenn's Locals.

Seed barley, rye and turnip seed at Glenn's. Grass blades, hay forks and cotton scales at Glenn's.

Cotton picking sacks and sheets, one-half price baskets at Glenn's. Asphalt roofing and paint, the best and cheapest roofing on the market, at Glenn's. Flower and fern pots, all sizes, at Glenn's.

To give a cold out of the system, you should take a good, reliable, dependable laxative like Bee's Laxative Cough Syrup. This well known remedy gently moves the bowels and at the same time it stops the cough by allaying inflammation of the throat and lungs. Sold by C. A. Milford & Co.

Farnum Acquitted.

(Contributed)

J. S. Farnum of Charleston was tried in Columbia last week, on the charge of bribery of a dispensary officer in selling liquor to him. Judge Memminger presided with ability and fairness. In his charge to the jury he held that it was not unlawful for agent to divide his commissions with a buyer, and it was not unlawful for the state officer to accept part of the agents commissions, if the officer put into the state treasury the share of the commissions which the selling agent gave to him. Five days were required for the trial, and when the jury retired into their room, the first ballot stood eleven for acquittal. Later on, the dissenting juror joined his associates in a verdict of acquittal.

The case had been ably prosecuted by the Attorney General and his legal associates. Farnum was ably defended by a number of lawyers.

We have not heard half-dozen men speak of the verdict. As far as heard nobody hereabout has gone into convulsions over the sun rose next morning on schedule time, and during the allotted hours the moon shone next night very much as it did on the previous night. The Abbeville cotton market was not perceptibly affected.

The wheels of the cotton mill and the oil mill and the gineries performed their accustomed duties and the women of the city abated none of their interests in new hats that had just arrived.

Speaking for myself, I think the verdict was what it should have been, and it was what I expected, and wished that it would be. The threats to put the grafters in stripes which have been repeated so many times in the last two years, has done nothing to prejudice the case against the prisoners. As a rule, attorneys and newspapers wait until a man is convicted before assigning to him the garb of a convict. The rule, I believe, is to consider a man innocent until he is proved to be guilty. And a safe rule is to catch before hanging.

Up to this time it has not been made clear to me, that the state has lost anything by the alleged bribery. The alleged higher price that the dispensary board paid for its liquor was a source of actual profit to the state. If they paid a higher price the profit was added to the higher selling price, and so by the alleged misconduct of the state officials, in partaking of its share in the swag becomes a partner in the graft.

And being a partner in the graft, it had no right, as the strongest member of the firm to assume righteous indignation and then seek to turn the power and force of the commonwealth against its weaker partners. If the state was cheated by any of its pals, the fact has not been made clear to me. And not having been cheated it had no moral right to prosecute anybody. If that right rested with anybody it was with those citizens who paid too much for their liquor.

If it was wrong for Farnum to offer the State part of his commissions, and if it was right for the state to discharge that act as bribery, what shall a disinterested on-looker think of the act of the state if it sealed a suspected officer, and then offered him immunity from punishment if he would turn state's evidence? Is there any law authorizing the state to sell to the citizens immunity from punishment for crime? If there is, then ought not there to be a law authorizing the sale of indulgence in crime?

But aside from this it has not been made plain enough for me to see the necessity of the airing of those acts which can only reflect on the honor and integrity of the state. The state's making charges which it can not substantiate is obliged to be demoralizing to the citizenship of the state.

A very able solicitor of this Circuit years ago neither employed aid nor allowed prosecutors to furnish assistance in the prosecution of a state case.

First. The state had chosen him to conduct its prosecutions.

Second. Any array of prosecuting attorneys would prejudice the case in the eyes of both the jurors and the public.

I think the state should pay for the liquor which it has sold to the people. It has no right to sell the liquor which it bought of others and then keep the money.

I think the state might just as well dismise all its cases against the "grafters." No conceivable good is to come from further prosecutions, even if a jury could be found who would convict.

Attorney-General Lyon is one of the ablest as well as one of the most popular lawyers in the state. If he would take in politics on the side, he has only to choose his office, which he can get by the taking.

May Stewart.

What is certain to prove one of the most important social and dramatic events of the season will be the engagement of the popular young artist, May Stewart, supported by Joseph DeGrasse, and a company of Shakespearean artists for one performance at the Opera House Friday night Oct. 8th in Shakespeare's Immortal love tragedy.

Shakespearean attractions have always been well received when presented by capable people, and not unprofitable to the fact, the management has not depended upon one star alone, but has spared no expense in selecting a company of an established reputation.

Miss Stewart is a young woman who has been starring for several seasons in Shakespearean drama, and so pronounced have been her successes that she is rapidly gaining recognition among the most prominent stars of the day. Mr. Joseph DeGrasse who has been engaged for this special tour is a young romantic actor who has been starring for the past six years in "Hamlet," "The Merchant of Venice," "Richard III," "Romeo and Juliet." Prominent in the cast will be seen Mr. Charles J. Conrad for two years in the leading support of Creston Clarke, company, Ernest Van Dyke, lately with Drury Lane and Charles Wyndham's Criterion Theatres, London, as leading character man, Joseph Lehmann for several seasons with Miss Stewart, and Harry Benson, Clark, Mrs. Jane Syster for several seasons with Miss Stewart, and Marie Hood, lately with James O'Neil. Other members are said to be up to all requirements, and the theatre goers are promised a rare treat.

Judge Prince Improving.

Mrs. George E. Prince returned today from Asheville, N. C., where she has been with Judge Prince. He stopped over at Williamston and will remain there for about a week before returning home. His health is now almost entirely restored, and after a while at Williamston he will return here and resume his duties. For several months past Judge Prince has been at Asheville, and his condition has shown a steady improvement since that time. His friends will be pleased by this pleasant news.

For Lame Back

Weak Kidneys, Backache, Rheumatism or Lumbago it is absolutely essential, in order to obtain satisfactory results, that you take a reliable preparation that acts directly on the Kidneys. Many persons trust to luck for a cure. No remedy will be found more satisfactory than

Pineules

Delays are dangerous. There is no more common complaint than Kidney complaint. Nature always gives due warning and failure to heed same may result in Diabetes, Lumbago, Bright's Disease, or some other serious affection of the Kidneys. Pineules are readily and naturally absorbed and assimilated by the stomach, driving out the poison due to disordered conditions of the Kidneys or Bladder. They purify the blood and invigorate the entire system. The first dose will convince you that Pineules will do all we claim for them. Get a bottle TO-DAY.

Pineules are put up in two sizes; $1.00 and 50 cents. The dollar size contains 2 1/2 times as much as the 50 cent size.
