HEMPHILL-ROGERS.

The marriage of Miss Grace Hemphill and Mr. D. Arthur Rogers that we solemnized Thursday evening at the Associate Presbyterian church was a lovely wedding. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and white roses and pink and white carnations made an attractive background for the wedding party. Before the ceremony Miss Fannie Stark sang in her usual sweet way "Thou Art Like a Rose." At the first strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Lorene Beacham the bride party entered.

First came the ushers Mr. Robert Coleman and Mr. Gottlebe Nyberg entered. Mr. Wilson Johnson and Mr. Herman Benton. Then came Miss Carrie and Miss Hannah Cochran, wearing lovely dresses of green messaline beautifully fashioned with heavy gold trimming and carrying bouquets of pink and white roses. Miss Minnie Green both beautifully gowned in white messaline elaborately trimmed in silver they carried large bouquets of peonies.

The little flower girls little Misses Mary Hemphill Green and Florence Henry Nuffor came next, both little fairies were wearing white lingerie dresses with lavender ribbons. Next came Mrs. Gertrude H. Sign dame of honor wearing a becoming toilet of lavender messaline. She carried an armful of white peonies.

Then entered the little ring bearer little Miss Lavinia Coleman dainty and sweet in a pretty lingerie dress of white mull. They came the groom with Mr. Clyde Morgan. The bride came with her brother Mr. James Hemphill. She wore an exquisite toilet of crepe-de-chine exquisitely fashioned and suited her girlish figure. Her veil was caught over the hair with a wreath of roses and graceful folds to the end of the train of her beautiful gown. After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home. Only the bride party and immediate family were at the reception. A delicious menu of salad, tea, cake and coffee was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers left Thursday night for an extended trip to Florida.
Mrs. Rogers is one of Abbeville's most attractive girls, her friends are certainly glad to know that she will still make this her home. Mr. Rogers came to make his home in our city several years ago, we are always glad to welcome to our city young men like Mr. Rogers who is held in high esteem by his employers and all who know him.
A more numerous or attractive display of useful and handsome presents have never been received by Miss Hemphill.

Mr. B. Harris to Speak to Farmers.
Mr. B. Harris of Pendleton will be here by invitation and will address the farmers at the court house on Saturday the seventh of May at 11 o'clock.

There will be a public address and afterward Mr. Harris will meet the county union behind closed doors.
Mr. Harris is a good farmer and he does not give others advice which he is unwilling to take himself. He is also a pleasing speaker and will entertain you if you can make it convenient to hear him.

LOWNDESVILLE.

Happenings of a Week In and About the Seven-Hilled City—Personals.

Lowndesville, S. C., May 2, 1910.
Last Saturday a week ago Mr. T. M. Holcomb went over to Spartanburg and spent several days with relatives and friends.

Mrs. G. M. Lander and her little son, Master William, of Calhoun Falls, came Monday and sent the day at our home.
It must be gratifying to all who passed through it to say, that today was a week ago was a very rare one for April 25th, in that it was cold giving us a little rain frozen hail or sleet and occasionally during the day a very light fall of snow. These weather conditions do not exist often near the close of the second spring month.

Mr. T. C. Liddell, regular on rural route No. 1 from this place went to Anderson on Wednesday, and his sub Mr. B. J. Wilson served that route.
Capt. Charles T. Baker, who had served as captain, commanding troops at several army posts for ten or twelve years, sometime ago resigned, entered the banking business in New York City, with a leave of absence came to his old home in this place on Thursday.

Mrs. J. C. Lomax received a dispatch on Wednesday from her son, Mr. Jas. Lomax whose home is Marion asking his mother to visit him. Mr. Lomax is the first named here for the home of the latter.

A modern cotton chopper, the first seen in this town Friday morning and it attracted a good deal of attention while it was being run. It was not examined very closely, yet some of those at least, who think that they know a thing or two, are of the opinion that only certain parts of the farms in this section can find the new departure made in the use of the stump puller and steep hill sides will all have to be gotten rid of before the named innovation can become an improvement on the old time honored plan of chopping cotton.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Berry Allen came down Saturday evening from their Anderson home and then to their former home two miles out.
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Spear, of Anderson, came down Saturday evening and went to place above named.

Those living at "Fenestrela" the above well appointed place Mr. Ernest Allen and his sister Miss Meta Allen, gave to their guests a good old fashioned rural turkey dinner yesterday with all of the necessary etc.

Yesterday having been set apart for such a purpose, a part of the Lowndesville Democracy met here at 3:30 p. m. Club No. 1 was reorganized with Hon. H. B. Harter as president; Mr. B. H. Moseley, secretary, and S. S. Boles and E. W. Harper, respectively 1st and 2nd vice-presidents; Mr. J. C. Lomax, Dr. T. O. Kirkpatrick, Messrs. S. S. Boles, E. W. Harper, W. H. Harter, D. J. B. Moseley, and Dr. A. J. Spear, delegates to the coming county convention.

Messrs. G. L. Baker and L. E. Leckie, who compose, from reports, one of the strongest legal firms in the Lowndesville, S. C., came on Friday, and was the guests of Mrs. M. E. Baker, the mother of the one and the friend of the other, until yesterday. The last of first two named, is superintendent of one of the largest, if not the largest Sunday school in the United States, and said to be doing a fine Troupe.

BROOM CORN.

Broom corn is a species of sorghum grown especially for its tops which are used in manufacturing brooms. The crop is one about which inquiry is frequently made by farmers and the following is written partly in answer to such questions.
It is not a great money crop, not more so than cotton if you go to an acquiring farm. One going into the business of raising broom corn should be prepared to do the work of a farmer, and more skill in preparing it for market than does the cotton crop. It is a crop in which the profits depend very largely upon the quality of the product offered for sale. The price ranging from $25 up to about $100 per ton according to the quality. Five hundred pounds of cured brush per acre is considered a fair yield.
The best quality of broom corn must be straight, of good length, fine texture and cured in such a manner as to be a good green color when put on the market. There are two kinds grown, one known as the standard broom corn and the other as the green broom corn. This latter is grown extensively in the central west.
In order to secure the quality of stalk mentioned above it is very important to have well bred seed and it is almost impossible to buy the product offered for sale. One going into the business of growing the crop should begin at once to select seed with the view of improving the plants from year to year.
Any sort of broom corn or sorghum will do for broom corn, and the fertilizer applied need not differ from that used on the corn crop when the same quality of land is cultivated. Since the object in view is a uniform product in quality and time of maturing great care should be taken in preparing the soil. It should be well plowed and then harrowed and re-harrowed until a fine seed bed is secured.
Late planting is best on account of the fact that the young plants make a very slow growth when the weather is at all cool, and the crop will come into head at a season when there is not liable to be much rain. The seed should be fertilized with a more seed than you want plants (four to five pounds per acre) and under such conditions of soil and season as will insure good and quick germination. Cultivation similar to what the corn crop requires is all that is necessary for broom corn. It should always be kept down and the soil mulched with loose earth by frequent cultivation with a small toothed implement. On land that will produce thirty or forty bushels of corn per acre one stalk of broom corn should be left every four or five inches and thinner as the soil becomes less productive. It is important to have a full stand, as there is a great tendency to thinning out when the plants are young and the broom from suckers is rare and of very little value, and is not ready to harvest with the remainder of the crop.
The tops should be cut eight inches below the head when the broom is ready and before the stalks are filled out, if the best quality of brush is obtained. The brush is immediately hauled out and the seed stripped off the same day. The seed is stripped on a large scale, by using machinery that may be purchased from manufacturers. Improved methods like the curry comb with long teeth or a steel spiked comb attached to a frame or side of a box answers very well where there is only a small quantity of brush to be stripped.
The curing, in order to preserve the green color, must be done under a roof and away from the sunlight. The tops should be spread in layers three inches thick on a surface that may be covered with straw or other racks where there is free circulation of air. When no juice can be squeezed out of the stalks by twisting them, the curing is complete and the brush should be removed from the racks. This will require from four to six weeks. It is then bulked for a period of ten days or two weeks to go through a sweat when it is ready to be baled. The tops should be very carefully sorted into different grades. W. B. Acker never sells well. The baling is done with a horse power press. The tops are lapped together in the middle of the bale and the butts stand out at each end. Bales usually weigh about three hundred pounds.
The crop requires very careful and prompt work at every step and considerable outlay in the way of equipment is necessary. If one has had no experience in the raising of broom corn, it would be well to start on a small scale and learn many things from experience about the business that it is impossible to get any other way.

How to Cure Rheumatism

It is an Internal Disease and Requires an Internal Remedy.

The cause of Rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be expelled and the system so regulated that no more of it is formed in excessive quantities. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. Rubbing with Oils and Liniments will not cure, affords only temporary relief and causes you to delay the proper treatment, allow the malady to get a firmer hold on you. Remedies may ease the pain, but they will no more cure Rheumatism than paint will change the fibre of rotten wood.

Science has at last discovered a perfect and complete cure, which is called "Rheumacide." Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected the most marvelous cures; we believe it will cure you. Rheumacide gets at the joints from the inside; sweeps the poisons out of the system; tones up the stomach, regulates the liver and kidneys and makes you well all over. Rheumacide strikes the root of the disease and removes its cause. This splendid remedy is sold by druggists and dealers generally at 50c and $1.00 a bottle. In tablet form at 25c and 50c a package. Get a bottle today. Booklet free if you write to Bobbit Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md. Trial bottle absolutely free by mail. For sale by C. A. Milford & Co.
