POULTRY

KEEPING LICE FROM POULTRY

Maine Experiment Station Bulletin Recommends Simple and Quite Inexpensive Treatment.

One of the difficult and trying problems of the poultry keeper is to keep his poultry houses and stock free from lice, mites, etc. There are many proprietary preparations on the market to combat these, most of which work satisfactorily. However, they are more or less expensive. The Maine experiment station has just issued a bulletin on the subject and recommends a treatment which appears to be fully as simple as anything else, and much less expensive. The powder made by the station at a cost of only a few cents a pound is as follows: Take three parts of gasoline and one part of crude carbolic acid. Mix these together. Add gradually, while stirring, enough plaster of paris to take up all the moisture. The liquid and dry plaster should be thoroughly mixed and stirred so the liquid will be uniformly mixed through the plaster. When enough has been added, the resulting mixture should be a dry, pinkish-brown powder, having a strong carbolic odor and a rather less pronounced gasoline odor. Be sure that the crude carbolic acid is secured. If a spray is desired instead of the powder, simply take three parts of kerosene and one part of crude carbolic acid. If birds are infested with lice the best way to get rid of them is to use the powder, which is to be worked into the feathers. Remember, a single application will not be sufficient, because where there are lice present there are also unhatched eggs or nits. Make a second application four days to a week after the first, and if it is a bad case a third application may be necessary.

PLYMOUTH ROCK IS POPULAR

More of Breed Found on Farms Than Any Other on Account of Blocky Shape—Wyandottes Next.

The Barred Plymouth Rock is without a doubt the most popular breed of chickens in this country—more of them are found on the farms than any other breed. On special poultry farms the Leghorn is a very popular breed, and in the poultry farming districts the Rhode Island Reds are almost exclusively used, says a writer in the Rural New Yorker. As a general utility fowl the Wyandottes are second in popularity to the Rocks, the white variety being the most popular. Their blocky shape makes them an excellent breed for broilers. Like the Plymouth Rocks and Rhode Island Reds, they lay a brown egg. The Leghorns lay a white egg and in this respect they have a slight advantage, as most markets prefer the white egg, though there is no difference in the qualities of eggs with a brown or a white shell.

SEPARATING YOUNG AND OLD

Pullets Need Plenty of Flesh Forming Food, Such as Barley, With Less Fattening Feeds.

Young chickens, like young people, have more or less timidity and therefore it is not well to run young and old together, at least it is much better to have them separate if you can well do so. Then again the pullets are still growing and they need plenty of flesh forming feed, such as barley, bone, meat with less of fattening foods. The hen should not be deprived of these either, but she can get along on less, as what you give her will not be taken away from the purpose for which you intended it, as in the case with the pullet, which not only needs these things for making the egg, but to go toward the development of her body. It naturally follows, too, that the developed bird will require less feed than the pullet, and because the pullet is somewhat timid she is likely not to get enough, or even her share. The young will feed more free among themselves and if you can possibly do so, keep them to themselves.

Green Feeding Worth While.

If the best results are to be obtained with poultry they must be furnished plenty of green feed, is a statement so often heard that its repetition seems silly; yet there are flocks on fairly prosperous farms where one would think the practice of regular green feeding had never been heard of.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. This cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution. It is assisting nature in doing its work. Those proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. S. & H. Green Trading Stamp

Profit-Sharing Extraordinary

On and after June 1, 1912, we will share our profits with you through the Medium of the World Famous S. & H. Green Trading Stamp.

Why have we adopted the S. & H. Green Trading Stamp as a medium of sharing our profits with you? That is a fair question. First of all, we will give "S. & H." Green Trading Stamps because the richness and variety of the premiums they obtain far surpass those of any other plan. And further, we will give Trading Stamps because we think it a good business proposition to do so.

We have always felt that the Cash Customer should have some advantage in buying over the customer that preferred to run a book account—not that we appreciate a Cash Customer's patronage more than we do that of the customers whose names we are glad to have on our books—but because the cash is worth something to us. It helps us take advantage of every trade discount, thus enabling us to sell goods cheaper, and because we can sell cheap our business is increased thereby. So then as cash is worth something to us as a factor in building up our business, we are willing to hold out special inducements to Cash Customers, and as our business policy is "One price to all and that the lowest," we offer these Trading Stamps, which is the equivalent to giving a certain cash discount, as they have a cash value greater than the equivalent in money, because they obtain the most magnificent premiums on earth.

Banks pay you a premium on what you save. "S. & H." Green Trading Stamps pay you a premium on what you spend. Go and see some of these premiums now on display in the Philson & Henry Department Store. Also obtain a catalogue illustrating thousands of other beautiful articles that are yours FREE for the collecting of "S. & H." Green Stamps. All that you have to do is ask for your stamps when you make a Cash Purchase and stick them into your stamp book. Concentrate your buying from the merchants that give "S. & H." Green Trading Stamps and you will fill your book quickly. Another way to fill your book quickly is to save all your Hamilton Bonds, Coupons, Tobacco Tags, Labels, Soap Wrappers, etc., and exchange them for

ANNOUNCEMENT OF ANDERSON COLLEGE.

Anderson College, an institution for the higher education of young women, under the control of the Baptist State Convention, has published its announcement for the opening session, which begins September 18, 1912.

Rev. Louis Bristow, pastor of the Abbeville Baptist Church, is secretary of the board of trustees of the College.

From this announcement, which is a very attractive booklet, we quote:

"Perhaps nothing is so vitally needed in education as such training as is actually preparatory for the duties of life. Education along traditional lines does not adequately supply the needs of students.

"A woman's office in life differs from a man's and training solely in traditional masculine courses fails to prepare her for her distinctive function. Anderson College is committed to the policy of giving such training as shall be related to the demand society makes upon women. In accomplishing this, however, there will be no sacrifice of general culture.

"Epitomized, our aim is to graduate cultured, efficient home-makers.

"The usual academic branches will be offered, together with Music, Art, Voice, Expression, and Home Economics; but in the academic department we hope, by a general scheme of credits, to appeal to the students to take courses affecting woman's work.

"One feature worthy of mention is the emphasis we purpose to place on English. However great may be the attainments of a woman, 'ability to employ the mother tongue with facility and precision is easily first.

"It is believed that changing conditions necessitate more attention to such practical studies as Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Psychology, History, Biology, and Home Economics, and we set for ourselves the task of popularizing those branches.

"It is a purpose of the College to insist on good work as a condition of remaining on the roll of the institution. Woman's education has passed the experimental stage and thorough work should be required."

Blind Tiger Caught.

Alfred Bradley, colored, was convicted in mayor's court of violation of the liquor law and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or serve 30 days. He chose the days. Mayor Gambrell is determined to suppress the illicit sale of whiskey in Abbeville and the police force is active and vigilant in endeavoring to carry out his instructions with regard to this species of law violation.
