ANOTHER MILL.

Today the people of Abbeville will be afforded an opportunity to secure for their town another cotton mill. It is needless for us to expand upon skull of an over-enthusiastic "Mick the need of such an institution and ey" or "Bloody-far-doon." the material benefits which will follow the successful establishment of another mill, for they are well known.

The meeting to be held at the city hall tomorrow at 11:30 should be well attended; and all interested in the growth and progress of the town should make their subscriptions just as liberal as possible.

THE INVESTIGATION.

The work of the sub-committee, so far as we have been able to see from the published reports, appears to have unearthed nothing like monumental fraud. According to The Daily Mail, the result in Anderson, where it was charged the greatest amount of fraud had been committed, developed some seventy-odd names, apparently duplicated on the poll lists, but affidavits have been produced to show that many of these could be accounted for by two men of the same name.

The disappearance of the poll listin Orangeburg seems shrouded in mystery. The election in that county had been declared clean and in seems strange that any one should want to make way with them if such were the case.

All in all, the work of the committee appears not to have unearthed sufficient fraud to change the result. and there seems nothing left for the whole committee to do but declare Governor Blease the nominee.

Many people in the South have believed the same thing for a long time. but the fear of a divided white people appealing to the negro vote is still a powerful deterrent to the breaking up of the old order.

But, even were the South ready and willing to break up Mr. Roosevelt has nothing to offer it. Those Southerners who have a leaning away from the Democratic fold are away from the Democratic fold are announced is only for the post office more attracted to men of the Taft in the city named at the head of this type and are more in sympathy with announcement, and will be held only the section of the Republican party which Mr. Taft represents than with the radical element represented by Roosevelt.

The South today is more solid than it was four years ago. It sees victory in sight, victory long-deferred but sweeter for this very reason, and it is not going to turn loose the substance sively to the fourth grade. for the shadow. And anyway the South prefers to "bear the ills we have rather than fly to those we know not of."

The province of Ulster and particularly the county of Antrim, in which lies Belfast, is the most prosperous part of Ireland, being the seat of the greatest linen industry in the world. Cotton and other textile industries flourish, but the prominent industry is flax-growing and linen making, in which this section outstrips the world.
