FARMERS' UNION CALL IS ISSUED

An important meeting of the State Farmers' Union has been called to convene in Columbia, January 16-17. Each union is urged to send delegates and in communities where there are no unions, one delegate is desired.

The union will review the measures which will be brought to the legislature by the union for the benefit of the farmers. Among the proposed measures is the warehouse act that has been pronounced unconstitutional. The previous act was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court.

The secretary of the state union, J. Whitner Reid, has sent out the following call with the request that the newspapers of the state give it the necessary publicity.

The South Carolina State Farmers' Union is hereby called to convene in Columbia, Thursday, January 18th 9:13, at 3 p. m., and will probably be in session through the 17th.

All county unions in the state are urged to send delegates and all members in good standing are cordially invited to attend. In counties where there is no county union organized each local union is requested to send one delegate. County unions will elect delegates according to the usual basis of representation.

The legislature will be in session. It is the purpose of this meeting to place properly before the committee of the legislature the measures which have been enacted into law. The legislative committee will report a state warehouse bill that has been carefully prepared and is pronounced well-nigh perfect by eminent constitutional lawyers to whom it was submitted there will be other matters of legislation to be considered in which the union is vitally interested.

The work of the union throughout the state will be reviewed and plans for the extension of the organization will be discussed.

Good reports are coming in from various parts of the state, and we have reason to expect this to be one of the most representative meetings of the organized farmers of the state ever held.

EFFORTS TO SECURE HOSPITAL FOR PELLAGRINS

Dr. Philip E. Garrison, passed assistant surgeon, United States Navy and a member of the Thompson-McFadden pellagra commission of New York, an eloquent speaker and broad minded in his ideas, yesterday afternoon presented to a large gathering of physicians and mill presidents and treasurers and many others in Spartanburg county, a plausible solution of the situation, and one which will be the foundation of greater strides in the study of the country-wide dreaded disease, and one which may secure a government hospital for Spartanburg.

Following Dr. Garrison's address, a committee of five, consisting of two mill presidents, a member of the legislature and one physician, was appointed to raise funds with which to combat the disease. At the meeting held yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. Dr. A. D. Cudd, president of the County Medical Society, acted as president and after a few opening remarks by Dr. S. T. D. Lancaster, which he told of the beginning of the work in Spartanburg county, Dr. Garrison was called on for a statement concerning the work done by the pellagra commission in this city last summer.

Dr. Garrison's statistics, which he drew on from the situation as he found it in this county were startling. He said there were as many cases in this county as any county in the upper section of South Carolina. He displayed two large maps of the county on the wall and pointed out how the pellagra cases were distributed as the commission found them.

Disease on Increase
He further said that the commission had actually seen 300 patients suffering with the disease and there were many more whom time did not permit them to visit. The disease exists in the rural districts, in the mill districts and, in fact, in every locality of the county. The worst of the situation, according to Dr. Garrison, is that there is no indication of a subsiding, but the disease is spreading.

Dr. Garrison gave a history of the Thompson - McFadden commission. Fifteen thousand dollars was given by Dr. McFadden and $7,500 of that amount was given to the work in Spartanburg county. The commission intends to return to Spartanburg next summer for further researches, but in order to make the conquest more complete, a hospital should be built, in which to install some of the best laboratory equipment possible to be had, and a place for bringing patients in order that thorough study might be made of the baffling disease.

Dr. Garrison pleaded for the hospital, but said that the commission would return whether a hospital was at their service or not.

W. S. Montgomery of Spartanburg mills, A. M. Law of Enoree mills, John A. Law of Saxon and W. A. Lindsay of the D. E. Converse Company assured the physicians of their sympathy in the movement and would do everything in their power to bring about the further work of the commission. They were willing to give one cent per spindle or 10 cents per loom to the work.

J. B. Cleveland of Whitney mills was not present, but a letter was read from him in which he said that he was heart and soul in the movement for the pellagra hospital.

The committee appointed for raising funds were: J. A. Law, J. W. Boyd, W. E. Lindsay, W. S. Montgomery and Dr. J. L. Jeffries. This committee will look after all details and decide on the plans for the campaign.

The committee met immediately after the meeting adjourned and decided to call on all the merchants, cotton mill presidents, the heads of all manufacturing enterprises and the people generally for subscriptions. The committee will also look into the matter of selecting a site for the hospital.—Spartanburg Journal.

COULD SHOUT FOR JOY
"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice, and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters have no superior. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50 cents at P. B. Speed and McMurray Drug Co.

The South Carolina Co-Educational Institute

LOCATED AT EDGEFIELD

WILL begin its twenty-second session on Sept. 26th. Col. Bailey has been President of the Institution all these years and has associated with him a large experienced faculty of fourteen instructors.

Last session students attended this school from all over South Carolina and five other States. The dormitories are always filled to the utmost capacity and each year the school grows in favor with the people.

THE buildings are of brick and are furnished with everything that is necessary for carrying on a high grade Institution.

Graduates of the S. C. C. I. can be found all over South Carolina, filling positions of honor and trust.

If you contemplate patronizing this Institution it is important that you communicate with the President as early as possible, as it is always necessary to engage rooms before the session begins.

COLONEL F. N. K. BAILEY,
PRESIDENT
EDGEFIELD - SOUTH CAROLINA
