(News and Courier.)

Northern France, May 20 .- In a one-time prosperous and busy city that now contains almost as many German soldiers as it does French inhabitants, is one of the "Hauptpunkte" or chief points in the remarkable lines of communisation which stretch from Germany to the front trenches. The "Hauptpunkte" may be called for want of a better name a division headquarters in the lines of communication. This headquarters has, roughly, two functions, the preparing and forwarding of food and ammunition

In the city recently visited by an Associated Press correspondent the German authorities have requisitioned the slaughter house of a onetime French butcher, and in it are methodically preparing the enormous quantities of meat needed for the army a few miles away.

The cattle are, for the most part, driven in from Germany. For miles the front for use in desperate cases. as one approaches the city one can see herds grazing on the rich French Russian fighting strength shall not fields. By the time they have reached factory with a weekly capacity of the division headquarters they are fat and sleek.

Meat Supplies.

The slaughter house, of course, has been found entirely too small for the there, especially in that department where meat is salted or pickled. In default of receptacles therefore the army has requisitioned bath tubs and similar inappropriate but useful vessels, and in them lie thousands of pounds of meat. A thousand pounds of wurst a day is prepared for the Raleigh, June 30 .- The North front, as well as many hundreds of pounds of beef, mutton and pork. Within a hundred yards of the slaughter house is the bakery, formerly a manufacturing establishment, whose brick ovens have been found to lend themselves very well to the baking of 16,000 loaves of bread a day. Each loaf, composed of 725. How little is being shipped to one-third of white flour and twothirds rye flour, weighs 1,50 grams. #### EUROPEAN TOURISTS TO BE RESTRICTED

Washington, July 1 .- Restrictions placed upon travelers in Europe are called to the American public's attention in a circular issued today by the state department.

The government, says the circular, 'can not undertake in general to advise Americans as to routes which they should follow in traveling ibroad," but some of the more important restrictions on travelers are sited, particularly those imposed upon persons going from England to the continent.

Aliens entering France, it is pointed out, must have a special passport issued by a French consul, while papers are required containing information as to evidence upon which the passport was issued, the French city to be visited and the object of the visit. The papers and passport must bear the holder's photograph.

HOME-MADE SOAP.

Will you please give me a recipe we buy from the stores?

I have never seen any home-made barbed wire, can still be checked for as that made by experts in factories. However, the following recipe makes very good hard soap:

Dissolve a pound can of lye in three pints of cold water. Be careful because as the water gets hot it is

Have ready five pounds of fat that has been melted and strained through cheesecloth to remove any specks. As soon as the lye is cool pour it slowly on the grease, stirring with a stick, but stop stirring as soon as it gets

An agate meat pan is a good thing to mold the soap in, but if wood is used line it with paper and put an oiled paper next the soap. If harder soap is desired a little salt is adde 1. If one desires a little one's own lye fill a barrel almost full with good wood ashes and set on a slightly inclined platform.
