LOWNESVILLE

Mrs. Sallie Parker, of Augusta, Ga. came up a few days ago, and has since been at this, the home of her young days, visiting Mrs. T. Baker, and other old friends in and around here.

Rev. J. W. Bishop, who had been pastor of the Baptist church at this place for some time, resigned the pastorate and moved up to the home of his daughter in Anderson. We sorrow that this good Christian man and fine preacher felt it necessary to leave this work. He was liked by all who knew him. His wife, who is the only other member of the family, stood high in the esteem of our people.

Mr. L. D. Clinkscales of Spartanburg, has just spent several days among our people on business.

Some months ago, Mrs. Wm. Kennedy was adjudged by a board of physicians to be so unsound in mind and body as that her condition would be much better if she were taken to Columbia and placed in the Asylum. It proved to be a false hope and she gradually grew worse, till last Sunday she passed away. Her remains were brought to this place on Monday and carried to the Presbyterian cemetery and by loving hands placed in the silent home of the dead. Her pastor, Rev. Jas. A. Clotfelter, performed the burial service in the presence of a crowd of mourning and sympathizing relatives and friends. She was a zealous woman, attending strictly to her duties.

Dr. L. O. McCalla, at his home at Starr, was shot down and instantly killed. Comment is needless. The matter will no doubt be investigated in the courts. The remains of the deceased were brought down on Sunday and carried on to the McCalla family cemetery, and placed in their silent resting place, in the presence of by far the largest crowd of mourning and sympathizing relatives and friends that had ever gathered to pay a last tribute to an honored and beloved one in this section. His pastor, Rev. J. L. Singleton, came down with the remains, and beside the open grave in a few remarks while performing the burial service, characterized the departed, as, highminded, big-hearted and generous, that he was endeavoring to lead a better life, that his reward would be sure in the beyond. Laugh at a fool and he imagines you are laughing with him.

Tell your troubles to your friends and they will say: "Oh, that's nothing!"

The twelve cent cotton at the present will not get a chance to deceive the farmers in this community next fall. They are busy now sowing their grain. If all the farmers will raise all of their food stuff at home and then raise a few bales of cotton, our country will soon be in good condition.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATERS

ELECTROCUTED.

Charlie Logan, who was convicted at the recent term of court, of murdering Mrs. Scott, at her home near Lowndesville, in the early part of the summer, and who was sentenced by Judge Frank B. Gary to die by electrocution, paid the penalty for his crime, in the death house, at Columbia, on Friday of last week, 15th.

Logan entered the home of the old lady during the night and killed her by striking her with a hammer, or wrench. The young grand daughter of the old lady, who was with her at the time, gave the alarm. Logan was arrested next day when it was learned that he made the ladder the evening before, which was used in entering the house.

He confessed to parties at the time, but later made conflicting statements about the matter, in an endeavor to shield himself by implicating others. On his trial he sought to lay the crime at the door of other negroes who were on the place, but the jury did not accept his version of the offense.

Logan confessed as he was being strapped in the electric chair, saying, "I am guilty." With these words on his lips, the electric spark hurried him into eternity.

WILL OF MARTHA WASHINGTON RETURNED TO FAIRFAX.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 15.—Governor Stuart has ordered the will of Martha Washington to be given into the custody of Fairfax county from which it was stolen during the civil war and recently returned to the state by J. Pierrpont Morgan. It will be formally delivered to the chairman of the Fairfax board of supervisors Monday.

Gov. Stuart acted under a ruling of the attorney general who held it must be returned to Fairfax county in compliance with an act of legislature authorizing the state to sue Morgan for the will. Morgan voluntarily returned the will, which he found in his father's collection of his tory manuscripts and requested that it be placed at Mount Vernon, and offered to build a fire proof receptacle.
