ATTENDS FUNERAL.

Prof. Patterson Wardlaw, of the University of South Carolina, is in the city to attend the funeral of his step-mother, Mrs. Nannie W. Ward-

TWO DEAD GAME SPORTS.

James William Chalmers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Chalmers, and Thene Cox, the young son of Mrs. R. E. Cox. are sports of the first water and thev demonstrated it to the entire satisfaction of their respective parents last Friday, the closing day of the county fair. After dinner the young boys were missed from home and an anxious search was begun for them which lasted until after five o'clock, when they came strolling in saying that they had been to the without any money they said they "just walked in."

James William seemed to be the leader, inasmuch as he had taken time to put on a clean pair of bloomers, which had been buttoned up in the back by Duane, before they started on the trip.

Both boys are too young to be in school so parents can imagine the lively hunt that went on, on Wardlaw street and nearby stations, until the young men showed up after the frolic was over.

A HAPPY MARRIAGE.

The marriage of Miss Mary Olivia Taggart and Mr. Carl Dow Jackson, was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Chalmers last Thursday, Nov. 4th, 1915, at two o'clock. The marriage was a quiet one, only the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties being present.

The Chalmers home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Chrysanthemums and ferns were used and the artistic taste with which they were arranged made this one of the prettiest weddings in Abbeville this fall. In the parlors white chrysanthemums were used and it was here that the interesting ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. H. W. Pratt. Before the ceremony, Miss Fannie Stark sang a lovely solo after which to the strains of the ever beautiful "Wedding March", played by Mrs. Joe Hughes, the bridal party entered the room and stood between two white pedestals surmounted by brass urns filled with chrysantehmums.

little white dress, and carrying a basket of white flowers, came first, she ment has brought six men from a ported by his best man, Mr. Tarpley, where they are packing goods to be of Atlanta. The bride came in with shipped. Saturday night these men mers, who gave her away. She wore and they returned the fire. a suit of blue with all the ascessorries harmonizing, and made a sweet al pandemonium reigned for a and charming bride. She carried a while. The newspapers report that large and beautiful shower bouquet there is plenty of whiskey and fireof roses and lillies of the valley.

In the sitting room the decorations were of yellow, and in the dining room the color scheme was in pink. The table was decorated with a reflector mirror, handsome cluny lace centerpieces and dainty dishes of pink mints. Here after the ceremony, a luncheon of salads was served by Misses Florence and Maria Neuffer, Mary Louise Dargan, Celia and Caroline Chalmers, Mildred Cochran and Margaret Cox. Dainty souvenirs of wedding bells with pink ribbon were pinned on each guest by Misses Kate Haskell and Ellen Ten-

The punch bowl was in the hall and was gracefully presided over by Miss Caroline Graves and Miss Mary E. Hill. Here also, the decorations were in chrysanthemums.

Assisting Mrs. Chalmers in receiving and entertaining her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jones F. Miller, Mrs. G. A. Neuffer, Mr. and Mrs R L Dargan, Mrs. L. C. Haskell, Miss Eunice Calhoun and Miss Jessie Hill.

The friends from a distance who came to attend this happy affair were Dr. Bonner and Miss Louise Cunningham of Pacolet, Miss Corrie Graves and Mr. G. C. Graves, of Latimer, Orville Calhoun of Bordeaux, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gibert, of Willington, Miss Ellen Tennant, of Lowndesville, and Mrs. W. G. Taggart, of New 2745 Orleans.

Mr. Jackson is one of the employees of the Pacolet Manufacturing Company, and is a young man who stands high in the esteem of all who know him. Mrs. Jackson, with her sweet and womanly ways endears herself to all with whom she comes in contact, and she has many friends caped capture when Kraljevo was who wish that life will hold much captured by German troops, accordhappiness for her and who sincerely congratulate Mr. Jackson.
