WHAT IS THE NEWS?
Last Monday when we asked the young ladies in White's Dry Goods store to tell us the news, they told us that they knew a certain young lady who had never been in love, but that she was beginning to pencil her eyebrows to make the boys think that she could fall in love. The young ladies said that they knew it was no harm because Mr. Daniels had said in his sermon that girls should do everything that they could to make themselves look pretty.

A SUPPER PARTY.
Mr. C. D. Brown entertained twelve of his gentlemen friends at a fish and oyster party last Friday night at his home on North Main street. The following gentlemen were present: Messrs. R. L. Dargan, H. L. Allen, L. C. Haskell, W. D. Barksdale, Lewis Perrin, J. S. Morse, W. A. Calvert, W. P. Greene, Dr. F. E. Harrison, A. M. Smith and J. D. Kerr, and they greatly enjoyed the delightful supper served. The place cards were white printed in gold and advised the guests to kindly refrain from talking of railroad, politics, war and law. This narrowed the conversation down to "set-back" and as each thought himself the only good player in the lot and capable of writing a book on the subject, the conversation was as lively as at a ladies party.

JUDGE WILSON TO PRESIDE.

BY INDUSTRY WE THRIVE.

The ladies of Upper Main street have organized a Needle Club and the first meeting was held at the home of Mrs. George White, last week. The members of the club are Mrs. W. F. Nickles, Mrs. Fred Cason, Mrs. P. A. Cheatham, Mrs. J. G. Evans, Mrs. W. A. Calvert, Mrs. M. E. Hollingsworth, Mrs. A. M. Stone, Mrs. Frank Henry, Mrs. W. E. McCord, Mrs. W. F. Perrin, Mrs. Alvin Williams, Mrs. E. E. Williams, Mrs. J. L. Hill, Mrs. R. E. Hill, and Misses Rosa and Corrie Hamlin and Miss Mamie Hill. These ladies will meet once a month and will spend the time in conversation and dainty sewing.

A CHARMING DINNER PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allen entertained a few friends at a dinner party last Monday night, at their home on Chestnut street. The date being Feb. 14th, the decorations were after the style set by good St. Valentine. In the dining room there were garlands from the electrolier to the ends of the table of bright red hearts in all sizes. The place cards were hearts on which were written something pleasantly appropriate to the holder. These cards were cut in different ways and the guests found their seats by matching their cards and making the sentiment fit. The little squibs were bright and attractive and caused much merriment as they were read. The table was beautiful in its appointments and an elaborate five course dinner was served to the following guests, Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Harrison, Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Neuffer, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mabry, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Greene, Miss Mamie Morse and Miss Maggie Latimer.

After dinner cards were enjoyed until a late hour.

Mrs. Allen's dinners are always lovely and an invitation to her house is always prized.

THE TRIANGLE.

The triangle at the intersection of Main and Greenville Streets, will be something worth looking at this year. Mrs. W. D. Barksdale has consented to take charge of the beautifying of the plot and she has associated with her, Mrs. J. C. Ellis and Miss Mamie Lou Smith. This guarantees that the work will be well and artistically done. Berckman, the favorite nurseryman of the South, has been asked to select the plants to be put out.

A WEEK-END PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McMillan entertained a pleasant week-end party, beginning last Friday. They had as their guests, Miss Willie Sue Nicholas of Charlottesville, Va., Miss Allie Mae Power, Miss Florence Bradford, Mr. Leslie McMillan of Clemson, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bristow. The occasion was a most pleasant one, everyone being charmed with Miss Nicholas in whose honor it was given.

THE LEAP YEAR CLUB.

Miss Eugenia Coleman entertained the "Leap Year Club" at her home on Greenville street last Tuesday night. This club has recently been organized among the young people with a membership of ten and the young aadies invite the young men to each party. The entertainment Tuesday night was telling Valentine Fortunes, playing Broken Hearts and in other games. The refreshments were "Young love sandwiches," "Dream Salad" and "Soul Kiss" ices.

THE MEETING OF THE DOCTORS

The Abbeville County Medical Association met in Abbeville last Friday night and the Abbeville Doctors had as their guests doctors from all the surrounding counties. The entertainment was in the form of a supper, which was served in the Knights of Pythias Hall at half past eight o'clock. The menu was delightful and after the supper was enjoyed the Association was called to order by Dr. Gambrell. Dr. Neuffer read a paper treating of the epidemic in Abbeville last summer which, for want of a better name, the doctors called the "Asiatic Cholera." This paper was interesting and the discussion which followed was taken part in by most of the doctors. The complaint had been general all over the state.

Dr. Epting, of Greenwood, spoke on the "Business" of the profession. Dr. Turner, of Greenwood, on "Appendicitis," Dr. Harris on "Cancer," and Dr. Ross on "G. U. Work."

After each of these talks the discussion was animated and instructive and such meetings should be helpful to the profession.

During these discussions punch and cigars were served to the doctors.

ASHMORE-CROMER.

Mrs. Rosa K. Ashmore announces the engagement of her daughter Isabelle to Mr. Hugh Wilson Cromer, of Atlanta Georgia, the wedding to take place in April.

The above announcement will be read with genuine interest by the many friends of the bride-to-be in Greenville.

Miss Ashmore is the only daughter of Mrs. Rosa K. Ashmore. She is a graduate of the Greenville Woman's College, and is endowed with charming personality and grace of manner. Her friends regret exceedingly that her marriage will take her from the city.

Mr. Cromer is a descendant of one of the most prominent families in Abbeville. He is a graduate of Clemson College, where he won distinction in literary and oratorical work. He now holds a responsible position with Sciple & Son, of Atlanta, Ga.

The wedding will be a very quiet home affair, witnessed only by intimate friends and relatives.—Greenville Daily News.

FI FI OF TOY SHOP BY HOME TALENT

The most elaborate home talent ever attempted in Abbeville will be Feb. 18, at the Opera House, when a splendid cast of 150 people will present Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop.

The best talent of the city has been selected for the principal parts. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Civic League.

The costumes will be elaborate, the scenic effects are charming and the dances pretty and attractive. Rehearsals have been held nightly.

The play represents a dream of the toymaker's daughter, "Bonnie." In the dream the creatures of bisque, tin, wood and rag which make their home in the shop, are endowed with life. They meet with strange adventures in the world of motion, in the Milky Way and in Fairyland, until the light of day awakens "Bonnie" from her dreams.

The cast of characters is announced as follows:

Bonnie ----- Miss Edna Bradley
Fi-Fi ----- Mrs. Joe V. Elgin
Lossey ----- Miss Ruth Howie
Ink Spot N N ----- Miss Edith Leach
Aurelia ----- Miss Brown
The Man in the Moon ----- Mr. Allan King
Lieut. Tin Heart ----- Mr. George Shaw
Prince Lollypop ----- Mr. W. E. Hill
Capt. Barnacle ----- Mr. Joe V. Elgin
Sandman ----- Dr. J. E. Pressly
The Doll's Head ----- Miss Martha Platt
Bo-Peep ----- Mrs. Otto Bristow
The Jap Doll ----- Miss Edith Sullivan
The Talking Doll

Miss Louise Sullivan
Tackhammer ----- W. Joel Smith
Clowns ----- Messrs. Hubert Cox and Edgar Owen.
