SNOW PLOWS CLEARING TRACKS IN THE WEST

Transportation of Fuel to War Industries Given First Consideration-Extraordinary Steps To Be Taken.

Washington, Jan. 14 .-- The national railway, aided by business organizations, all over the land, began today an assault on piled up freight.

With opening of "freight moving week" unusual efforts were made to clear congestion at terminals. The abnormal pressure of recent weeks was enhanced by the tied up traffic of the midwest, but through the east considerable relief is anticipated.

Snow plows are working on the western line to open a way for the most important traffic, but it will be several days before normal conditions are restored.

Meantime steps to altar the coal transportation problem of the east are anticipated from the fuel administration. As forecast the least essential industries will probably be barred from getting coal shipments, in order to supply other more pressing needs. This is expected to result in periods of closed theatres and other places of amusement as well as manufacturing plants not vital to the war.

In clearing up congestion resulting from the storm, McAdoo is getting valiant aid from his assistant directors, to whom he wired, "I should like you to use every , possible means to overcome the situation and restore railroad service at the earliest possible moment."

U. S. Vessel Loaded With Nitrates Believed to Been Rammed.

An Atlantic Port, Jan. 14 .--Agents of the American Steamship Texas, a vessel of 14,000 tons, today received advices from naval authorities that she was sinking at sea. The location of the ship was not given.

he naval authorities did not state the cause of the Texan's distress, but reports reaching shipping circles here from other sources were that Miss Goldman and Berkman were the vessel had been rammed amidship in collision with another ship. It was said that a steamer which had picked up the Texan's S. O. S. calls was hurrying to her assistance and that the crew of 43 had taken

The Texan left here recently with the cases involving conspiracy a cargo of nitrates bound for a French port, agents of the vessel stated.

In the absence of definite word regarding the accident, shipping off temporarily and the possibility of men expressed the opinion that the Texan may have encountered an iceberg. Efforts were made by government radio stations to communicate with ships with which the Texan might have been in collision. The fact that the Texan apparently was sinking soon after being rammed, without word as to assistance by another vessel in saving the crew, made the accident puzzling, naval
