Lewis Marshal, (col.) a leading member of society in the "Acker-sacker" negro circles spent two or three days last week with the county authorities, being entertained at the jail. He happened to be with another man's wife, causing a little difficulty before he could happen out of the way.

Mr. Jim Cochran has so much improved that he was able to go to the polls Tuesday and vote. This is good citizenship and Mr. Cochran no doubt voted a good ticket. Though so much better, he is still very weak.

Mrs. Harrison as Chauffeur
Mr. Calvin G. Thomson looks like he has just returned from the western battle front. His head is swathed in bandages and he walks and talks with the air of a sadder and wiser man. The whole blame is laid on Mrs. F. E. Harrison, chauffeur de luxe.

Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. J. D. Kerr and Mr. Thomson were returning from Greenwood Wednesday, when the machine skidded on the hill near the Calvert place. Mr. Thomson was thrown forward from the rear seat his head striking an arm of the top frame. Mrs. Harrison, who was driving, slightly injured her knee. It remained again for Mrs. Kerr to hold the horse shoe. The first time was when she married J. D., Sr.

Miss Margart Cothran Back.
The many friends of Miss Margart Cothran are glad to welcome her back to the city, after her stay in the hospital. From the way she is tearing up the roads in this vicinity, it is evident that she has regained all her old vivacity and vigor.
