

CHIEF JUSTICE GARY MAKES ADDRESS.

The provisions in the said sections, limiting the powers of the courts, to make rules of procedure, should be repealed, and authority to make rules, should be vested exclusively in them.

The most striking instances illustrating the inherent antagonism of the people, against technical interpretations of the law, and formalism in procedure, are to be found in Norway and Denmark, where they have adopted, what is known as the conciliation procedure, which is thus defined: Conciliation procedure involves submission of a controversy, by the parties in person, and without attorneys, to a special tribunal or commission; the hearing is private, and the procedure is entirely informal; the parties tell their stories, and the conciliator judge or commissioner, advises them of their respective rights, and urges them to agree upon an equitable settlement; if an agreement is made, it is entered as a judgment; no claimant will be permitted to begin an action in a court of law, until he has reviewed a certificate showing, that there has been an attempt at conciliation, except in disputes of an exceptional nature.

Such procedure is adapted to controversies, involving large, as well as small amounts. Conciliation procedure had its origin, over a century ago, in Norway and Denmark, when those governments had the same ruler. It met with immediate success, and remains to-day, the corner stone of the structure of judicial procedure, in both nations. Out of more than one hundred thousand cases, commenced in the conciliation courts of Norway, ninety per cent. of them were disposed of, in those courts, without resort to the law courts; and there was a similar result in Denmark.

This system of jurisprudence has been adopted in the municipal courts of Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis and New York; and there is no doubt that it will be adopted in other States.

The following language of Lord Justice Bowen of England, indicates that the antagonism to technicalities and procedural formalism, is also finding expression in that country: "I hope to see the day when in every case, whatever its character, every possible relief can be given upon oral evidence or upon affidavits, as is most convenient; when it will not be possible for an honest litigant, to be defeated by lack of means, by a mere technicality, any slip, any mistaken step in his litigation; when law will cease to be a mere game, which may be won or lost, by a particular move."

There is a very significant fact, connected with the present war. On the one hand, we see Germany violating the laws of nations, humanity, and Christianity. We see her resorting to a cold-blooded and premeditated system of barbarism, savagery, and cruelty, more hideous and revolting than has ever been practiced by any nation, civilized or otherwise since the world began. Why is this? The answer is, because, the Prussians have ceased to be governed by the principles of Christianity, and have adopted as their Golden Rule: "Might Makes Right." On the contrary, the Allied nations have refused to follow their example, and to retaliate with like butchery and cruelty.

We see our people more than ever accepting the precepts of Christianity, practicing humanity, and recognizing the brotherhood of man. The spirit of God is among our soldiers, who have never been surpassed by any others in bravery, patriotism, morality, and sobriety.

The world is finding out that the best soldiers are those whose lives are characterized by morality, patriotism, sobriety and the spirit of brotherhood.

The prompt manner in which our people are responding to the necessities of the Red Cross and the Young Men's Christian Association, manifest both a patriotic and a Christian spirit. We know it is sometimes said that Christianity and Democracy are failures. This statement, however, is unfounded. As a matter of fact, Christianity and Democracy, which is another name for the brotherhood of man, are the only two institutions, that have not failed.

It is apparent to all thinking men that the time is at hand for the rule of the people, through the spirit of brotherhood, that is spreading over the world. They now see imperialism, commercialism and militarism in all their frightfulness. A power is at work to establish all nations, on the fundamental principles of justice and humanity, in accordance with the teachings of the Bible, which are also proclaimed by the principles of the Civil Law upon whose maxims equity is founded, the greatest of which is: Live honestly, injure no man, render to every one his due. This was also the law of Moses and is the law of Christ.

We know of no words more fitting with which to close our remarks, than the inspired and prophetic words of Tennyson in Locksley Hall, where he says:

"I doubt not through the ages one increasing purpose runs,
And the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns,
For I dipt into the future far as human eye could see,
Saw the vision of the world and all the wonders that would be,
Saw the heavens filled with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;
Heard the heavens filled with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew,
From the nations airy navies, grappling in the central blue;
Far along the world-wide whisper of the southwind rushing warm,
With the standards of the peoples, plunging through the thunder storm;
Till the war drum throbbed no longer,
And the battle flags were furled in the Parliament of man, the Federation of the world.
There the common sense of most shall hold a fretful realm in awe,
And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law."

MRS. SLATTER IN DUE WEST.

A most enthusiastic audience of women greeted Mrs. Slatter, state organizer for the Women for the Fourth Liberty Loan. Mrs. O. Y. Brownlee, Vice Chairman for Abbeville county and chairman for Due West township, presided. The meeting was opened with audience standing at attention while they sang one verse of the Star Spangled Banner, after which Dr. J. I. McCain offered a short prayer for our boys in khaki. Little Miss Anne Slatter was introduced and she gave two splendid patriotic readings which were bond-sellers in themselves. Mrs. Slatter then gave an inspiring talk on organization and publicity. Mrs. Brownlee announced her volunteer workers as follows: Publicity Chairman, Mrs. C. C. Clinkscales, Captain; Mesdames F. B. Brownlee, F. Y. Pressly, and Misses Lola Bell and Frances Wideman. Lieutenants: Misses Lily Brooks, Georgia Haddon, Barbara Grier, Kate Kennedy, Eleanor Pressly, and Mesdames Nelle Moore, Jas. P. Pressly, M. G. Donald, R. L. Robinson, John B. Pressly, Johnnie E. Bonner, and Christine Bradley.

Prof. P. L. Grier, Chairman of the Men's committee was present and pledged the co-operation of the men in the drive.

The singing of America, and "God Save Our Men, Our Splendid Men," closed the meeting which was an inspiration to all and showed the determined will of the women of Due West to do their best in this Fourth Liberty Loan drive.

Mrs. C. C. Clinkscales,
Publicity Chairman.

AMERICAN ABSTRACTS.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The House late today passed the war revenue bill designed to raise by taxation approximately $8,182,000,000 of the twenty-four or more billions needed by the nation for the current year. The huge measure—the largest of its kind in the history of any nation—now goes to the Senate. Passage of the bill was unanimous. A formal roll call, demanded by Major Leader Kitchin, recorded 350 yeas and no nays, which, announced Speaker Clark, was greeted by a mighty roar of cheers and applause. All possible speed in the bill's course through the Senate is assured, according to leaders, the Senate finance committee having concluded some hearings.

At the recent White House conference of Senators from cotton-growing states, President Wilson made it clear it was his intention only to fix a price for this year's cotton crop, but also to order government control of its distribution. The President gave no intimation of what he would consider a fair price; he was said, and any action will await the report of the special committee which the President announced last week would inquire into the general subject, including production costs.

The South Carolina Press Association invaded Gaffney last week, unanimous opinion of all being E. DeCamp had made good his promise of a royal reception and a New time. Governor-elect Robert Cooper was one of the prominent speakers of the occasion. Officers of the year were re-elected, J. L. Edgfield, retaining the presidency.
