

PEACE OF WORLD BY CONCERT OF NATIONS

and cheering as he passed out. The president was given a notable ovation on rising to begin his speech and some of the points that won renewed applause were his tribute to the armies of the associated governments and his declaration that people throughout the world wanted peace and wanted it immediately—not, however, by conquest but by agreement of mind.

The distinguished government and other officials received by the lord mayor before the president's arrival included Premier Lloyd George, Field Marshal Haig, Foreign Secretary Balfour, Admiral Sims, Former Premier Asquith, Andrew Bonar Law, the chancellor of the exchequer; and the ambassadors of the principal allied governments.

After President Wilson's arrival all were grouped on the dais, the lord mayor in the center and the president on his right next to the Duke of Connaught. The royal artillery band in the gallery played American airs, ushering President Wilson in with the "Star Spangled Banner."

In the course of his speech the president declared the soldiers had fought to do away with the old order and establish a new one. The old order, he said, had for its center the "unstable thing" called the balance of power, determined by competitive interests, jealous watchfulness and an antagonism of interests.

The men who have fought the war, he said, had been "men from free nations who were determined that this sort of thing should end now and forever."

The minds of the leaders of the British government, the president said, were moving along the same lines as his own and their thought had been that the key to the peace was the guarantee of it and not the items of it. The items of it, he added, unless a concert of power stood back of them.

The school is progressing nicely with the following teachers: Mrs. Langdon Erwin, Mrs. Waymon Bowen, Misses Winton Keaton, and Margaret Bradley, and Miss Susie Stevenson, music teacher.

Misses Althea Keaton and Genevieve Anderson of Lander College, are home for the Christmas season, and Miss Ethel Anderson from Winthrop.

The following S. A. T. C. boys are at home: Henry Bell, Nolan Bowen, Henry and Albert Erwin, Carl and Elmore Suber, Leander Carwile and Boyce Wakefield, Clarence Crowther.

Mrs. Ernest McCarter is visiting her sister, Mrs. Marion, in Atlanta.

Miss Mary Anderson is visiting her brother, Prof. George Anderson, at Clemson College, this week.

Mr. Prue Bell of Kentucky, is spending sometime with homefolks.

Mr. and Mrs. Burdette of Greenville, are spending the holidays with their daughter, Mrs. E. N. McCarter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cheatham and bright little son, Archie, of Douglassville, Ga., are spending Christmas with home folks and relatives.

Misses Susie Stevenson and Margaret Bradley returned to Abbeville for the holidays last Saturday.

We are very sorry that Miss Myra Williams, who is attending school at N. C. I. Asheville, N. C., will not get to spend Christmas at home on account of the influenza situation. However, we wish her a merry Christmas there and hope she will get to pay us a visit sometime in the near future.

The Christmas season appears to be a rainy season, yet to the happy and cheerful there is something to be thankful for always, and especially are we thankful for Christ, the Prince of Peace. Miss Lorene Cook of Lowndesville is visiting her aunt, Mrs. S. J. Wakefield.

Misses Myrtle and Valeria Crowther, who have been away teaching, are home for the holidays.

FACTS AND FIGURES FOR FARMERS

Clemson College, S. C., Dec. 17.—

1. The Food Administration seems to prefer hogs weighing around 210 for shipping abroad. Hogs of about that size will probably command a premium.
2. Storage cellars for vegetables need a cool temperature. If there is a furnace in the cellar, partition off the space for storage.
3. One cord of mixed wool, well seasoned, has the heating value of one ton of average grade coal.
4. A hen that does not lay 100 eggs a year is a losing investment. If every farm had 100 hens laying 100 eggs each, there would be sixty billion eggs annually in the United States.
5. The South, on home grown feeds, can produce beef and pork cheaper than the North.
6. Rats destroy $200,000,000 worth of food annually. Destroy the rat.
7. Considering the saving of labor and the reduction of loss from disease by marketing hogs at 7 to 9 months instead of keeping them a year or more, the advantage is nearly always with the more rapid growth.
8. No other animal equals the sheep for converting weeds and waste into food and clothing. There ought to be a bunch of sheep on every farm.
