FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1919.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I-K. C. Rickard, a a chair of engineering in the East t go on the road as a fireman and hi

"Stop the River; damn the expense," says Marshall.

CHAPTER III-Rickard journeys or my name isn't Rickard. That's to Calexico, sees the irrigated desert and learns much about Hardin and Hardin, Hardin's half sister. Disap- knew that that organization, like well-pointed in her husband and an in- drilled militia, was ready for his call. corrigible coquette, Mrs. Hardin sets The call lagged, not that he did not her cap for her former lover and in- need men, but there was no place vites him to dinner.

He finds the engineers loyal to Har din and hostile to him. Estrada, a tion of men. The inefficiency of the Mexican, son of the "Father of the projectors of this desert scheme had Imperial Valley," tells him of the never seemed so criminal as when he general situation.

meeting of the directors and asserts his authority. Hardin rages. Estrada tells Rickard of his foreboding that his work will fail. "I can't see it finished." finished up Hardin, who is furlous against Rickard.

on them.

CHAPTER IX-Hardin discovers as incompetent. Gerty thinks her lord iealous.

CHAPTER X-The Hardin dinner

those days was trying. She did not yet know her diplomatic lesson.

Apparently unaware of the talk, engineer of the Overland Pacific, i called to the office of President Mar shall in Tucson, Ariz. "Casey" is an enigma to the office force; he wear "dude" clothes, but he had resigned or unless it were Estrada, who was rushing his steel rails through to that front and was needed there.

promotion had been spectacular. While waiting for Marshall Richar reads a report on the ravages of the showing results. He should be at the Things were moving under his con-Colorado, despite the efforts of Tho- Heading now, he kept telling himself, mas Hardin of th e Desert Reclama- but he was convinced that the instant tion company. This Hardin had been he turned his back, the work on the a student under Rickard and had levee would stop; and all the reasons married Gerty Holmes, with whom excellent! Some emergency would be Rickard had fancied he was in love. CHAPTER II—Marshall tells Rick-of the hends. Chafe as he minister ard the Overland Pacific has got to of the hands. Chafe as he might at and the Overland Facine has got to the situation, it was to be guerrilla step in to save the Imperial Valley the situation, it was to be guerrilla and sends him to the break. Rickard warfare. Not a fight in the open, he declines because he does not want to knew how to meet that, but that baf-supplant Hardin, but is won over. fling resistance, the polite silence of the office when he entered-"Well, they'll be doing my way pretty soon, flat." He was fretting to be at work, to his work. CHAPTER IV—At the hotel he start the wheels of the O. P., its vast meets Mr. and Mrs. Hardin and Innes machinery toward his problem. He CHAPTER V-Rickard visits the ready for them. The camp, that was company's offices and takes control another rub. There was no camp! It was not equipped for a sudden inflahad surveyed the couparent at the a CHAPTER VI-Rickard attends a take. "Get renay mrst; your toois, your stoves, your beds." That was the training of the good executive, of men like Marshall and MacLean. Nothing to be left to chance; to foresee emer-CHAPTER VII-Innes is discover- gencies, not to be taken by them uned in her garden. She tries to cheer aware. The reason of Hardin's downfall was his slipshod habits. How could he be a good officer who had never drilled as a soldier? There was the CHAPTER VIII-A family lunch- gap at the intake, Hardin's grotesque eon of the Hardins which throws light "folly, widened from one hundred feet to ten times the original cut; widening every day, with neither equipment nor camp adequate to push through a work that Rickard is planning a levee to it half the original magnitude. Cutprotect Calexico and puts him down ing away, moreover, was the island, lisaster island; it had received apt uristening by the engineers, its bapto Rickard discloses further the fam- were a bar of sugar. There was no THE PRESS AND BANNER, ABBEVILLE, S. U.

which completely surrounded the small, low dwellings? Why the cautious admittance, the atmosphere of suspicion? Rickard had seen the wife, a frightened shadow of a woman; had seen her flinch when the brute called for her. He had questioned Cor'nel about the half-breed. He was remembering the wrinkles of contempt on the old Indian's face as he delivered himself of an oracular grunt.

"White man? No. Indian? No! Coyote !"

Though he suspected Maldonado would lie on principle, though it might be that two-thirds of his glib tissue were false, yet a thread of truth coincident with the others, Brandon and Hamlin and Cor'nel, might be pulled out of his romantic fabric.

"When the waters of the Gila run red look out for trouble !" He doubted that they ever ran red. He would ask Cor'nel. He had also spoken of a cycle, known to Indians, of a hundredth year, when the Dragon grows restless; this he had declared was a hundredth year.

Following his talk with Maldonado and the accidental happy chance meeting with Coronel at the Crossing Rickard had written his first report to Tod Marshall. Before he had come to the Heading he had expected to advise against the completion of the wooden headgate at the Crossing. Hamlin had given him a new viewpoint. There was a fighting chance. And he wanted to be fair. Next to being successful he wanted to be fair.

Maldonado Had Confirmed Their Por tents.

"It's time to be hearing from Marshall," Rickard was thinking, as he walked back to the hotel. "I wonder what he will say." He felt it had been fair to put it up to Marshall; personally, he would like to begin with a clean slate-begin right. Clumsy work had been done, it was true, yet there were urgent reasons now for haste; and the gate was nearly half done! He had gone carefully over is anal water the Colorado. The last the situation. The heavy snowfall, unloods had played with it as though it precedented for years, a hundred, according to the Indians-on the Wind ily characteristics . Hardin is surly "ock at hand; no rock on the way, no rock ordered. Could anyone piece to- with ice, the Gila restless, the summer with ice, the Gila restless, the summer oods yet to be met; perhaps Rickard knew where he would get thought, he had been overfair in emrock. Already he had requisitioned phasizing the arguments for the headthe entire output of the Tacna and gate. For the hundred feet were now Patagonia quarries. He had ordered a thousand feet-yet he had spoken steam shovels to be installed at the of that to Marshall: "Calculate for quarry back of old Hamlin's. That yourself the difference in expense since the flood widened the break. It the gravel bed-that was a find! As is a vastly different problem now. he paced the levee west of the towns, Disaster island, which they figured on he was planning his campaign. Por- for anchor, is a mere pit of corroding ter was scouring Zacatecas for men; sugar in the channel. An infant Colhe himself had offered, as bait, free orado could wash it away. However, transportation; the O. P. he knew | a lot of work has already been done, would back him. He was going to and a lot of money spent. There is a throw out a spur-track from the Head- fighting chance. Perhaps the bad year is all Indian talk." - A guess, at best, whatever they did! It was pure gamble what the tricky every three miles. Rock must be Colorado would do Anyway, he had rushed; the trains must be pushed given the whole situation to Marshall. In his box at the hotel was a teleoccurred to him that, like Hardin, he gram which had been sent over from the office-from Tod Marshall. "Take the fighting chance. But remember to speak more respectfully of Indians." "Marshall all over," laughed his subordinate. "Now it's a case of hustle! who knew his river as does a good In- But dollars to doughnuts, as Junior says, we don't do it!"

ed the flames creeping up the residence hills of that gay Western city. Cinders were already falling in the transbay town. Rickard dropped the receiver.

Where's Hardin?" Tom Hardin emerged from a knot of men who were talking in a corner by the door.

"Where's that machinery?" "What machinery?"

Rickard saw the answer to his question in the other's face. "The dredge machinery. Did you attend to that? Did you send for it?" "Oh, yes, that's all right. It's all ight." "Is it here?" Hardin attempted jocularity. "I didn't know as you wanted it here. I ordered it sent to Yuma." "Is it at Yuma?" Hardin admitted that it was not yet at Yuma; it would be there soon; he had written; oh, it was all right. "When did you write?"

Hardin reddened under the catechism of questions. He resented being held up before his men. The others felt the electricity in the air. Hardin and his successor were glaring at each other like belligerents. "I asked when did you write?" "Yesterday."

"Yesterday!" Rickard ripped out an oath. "Yesterday. Why at all, I'd like to know? Did you understand that you were ordered to get that here? Now, it's gone."

"Gone?" The others crowded up. "San Francsico's burning." He walked into his inner office, mad clear through. He was not thinking of the ruin of the gay young city; not a thought yet did he have of the human tragedies enacting there; of homes, lives, fortunes swept into that huge bonfire. As it affected the work at the river, the first block to his campaign, the catastrophe came home to him. He had a picture of tortured, twisted iron, of ruined machinery, the machinery for his dredge. He saw it lying like a spent Laocoon, writhing in its last struggle. He blamed himself for leaving even such a small detail as the hastening of the parts to Hardin's care, for Hardin wasn't fit to be trusted for anything. No one could tell him now the man was unlucky; he was a fool. A month wasted, and days were precious. A month? Months. Hardin's luck. Oh, hell!

Then he began to speculate as he cooled over the trouble up yonder. A whole city burning? They would surely get it under control. He began to think of the isolation; the telegraph wires all down. That might happen anywhere! He walked to the door and looked thoughtfully at the company's big water tower. That wasn't such a bad idea! He picked up his hat, and went out.

(To be Continued Tuesday) COLD SPRING NEWS. Cold Springs, March 26 .- Miss Ola

Winn spent Saturday night at Mr W. B. -Uldricks. Mr. and Mrs. Newell and home people. Misses Ruth, Euphegenia Uldrick returned home with her. They will be gone about two weeks. Miss Maggie Hagen spent Saturday night with Miss Jessie Stroud. Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hagen spent Sunday at Mr. T. F. Uldrick's.

Cooperation and organization are the keys to successful country devel- T. G. PERRIN, opment.

3-28-2t. Fri.

Mayor.

J. MOORE MARS,

FARM LANDS FOR SALE....

Botts.

City Clerk.

87 ACRES-12 miles from Abbeville, in McCormick County, adjoining lands of W. D. Morrah.

Price, $30.00 per acre.

40 ACRES—About six miles from Abbeville, no improvements, all in wood and timber.

Price, $25 per acre.

79 3-4 ACRES—3 miles from Abbeville one settlement-two horse farm open on place. Plenty wood, and stream running through place.

Price, $2,000.00.

- 227 1-2 ACRES-11 miles from Abbeville. This is a splendid piece of property. A lot of saw timber on this place Price, $17.50 per acre.
- 100 1-2 ACRES-12 miles from Abbeville. Good residence and out buildings. Well atered and plenty wood and timber. Price, $30.00 per acre.
- 189 1-4 ACRES-10 miles from Abbeville. A splendid farm but no improvements, about 50 or 60 acres bottom lands. Price, $18.00 per acre.
- 541 ACRES—1-2 mile from Hester, one mile from Calhoun Falls. 15 horse farm being operated on the place. Lies well, is well watered and has an abundance of wood and timber.

Price, $40.00 per acre.

CITY ELECTION.

The regular City Election will be held at the City Council Chamber, Abbeville, S. C., April 8th, 1919, for four Aldermen. Managers of Election, T. C. Seal, J. L. Clark and C. A.

ty plans a "progressive ride" Rickard's honor.

(Continued From Tuesday) CHAPTER X.

In spite of his haunting sense of ultimate failure the growing belief in the omnipotence of the Great Yellow Dragon as the Cocopahs visualized it, Estrada's work was as intense as though he were hastening a sure victory. The dauntless spirit of the elder Estrada pushed the track over the hot sands where he must dance at times to keep his feet from burning. Many of the rails they laid at night.

"Rickard's gone hog-wild," Hardin told his family the next morning. "Building a levee between the towns! The man's off his head."

"There isn't any danger?" Gerty's anxiety made the deep blue eyes look black.

Innes looked up for Tom's answer. His face was ugly with passion.

"Danger! It's a bluff, a big show of activity here because he's buffaloed; he doesn't know how to tackle the job out there."

It had begun to look that way to more than one. It was talked over at Coulter's store; in the outer office of the D. R. company where the engineers foregathered; among the chair tilters who idled in front of the Desert hotel. "The man does not know how to tackle his job!" A levee, and the gate held up! What protection to the river should return on one of its intake itself not guarded? He was bookman, a theorist.

"As well put sentinels a few miles open !" This was Wooster's gibe. All swift doom. saw the Colorado as a marauder at stacked up to scare it off! It's a new stretch of levee between the scream !"

meet with diplomacy the confidences of this descendant of trapper and which inevitably came her way. As squaw, and had thought it worth while Hardin's wife she was expected to enjoy the universal censure the new man the river to talk with him. The man's too slight for championship, passed as lips thin and facile, deep lines of cru-

in rock pit would be his first crutch, and ing, touching at the quarry and gravel pit, on to the main road at Yuma.

Double track most of the way; sidings through. He itched to begin. It never might fail.

"Though it's no pink tea," he told himself, "it's no picnic." At Tucson he knew that the situation was a grave one, but his talk with Brandon, dian, made the year a significant, eventful one. Matt Hamlin, too, whose shrewd eyes had grown river-wise, he, too, had had tales to tell of the tricky river. Maldonado, the half-breed, had confirmed their portents while they sat together under his oleander, famous throughout that section of the country. And powerfully had Cor'nel, the Indian who had piloted Estrada's party across the desert, whom Rickard had the towns would be that toy levee if met at the Crossing, deeply had he impressed him. The river grew into a spectacular sprees? A levee, and the malevolent, mocking personality; he could see it a dragon of yellow waters, whispered of as incompetent; one of dragging its slow, sluggish length Marshall's clerks. He was given a across the baked desert sands; deceivshort time to blow himself out. A ing men by its inertness; luring the explorer by a mild mood to rise suddenly with its wild fellow, the Gila, from prison and leave the jail doors sending boat and boatmen to their

Rickard was thinking of the halflarge. "And a little heap of sand breed, Maldonado, as he inspected the towns. He had heard from others be-Mrs. Hardin found it difficult to sides Estrada of the river knowledge to ride the twenty miles from down was acquiring. Gerty's light touches, suavity, his narrow slits of eyes, the a sweet charity. Her own position elty falling from them, had repelled his visitor. The mystery of the place

CHAPTER XII.

Hardin's Luck.

Two days later there was a shock of earthquake, so slight that the lapping of the water in Rickard's bath was his intimation of the earth's uneasiness. In the dining room later he found everyone discussing it. "Who could remember an earthquake in that desert?" "The first shake!"

During the morning, unfathered, as rumors are born, the whisper of disaster somewhere spread. Their own slight shock was the edge of the convulsion which had been serious elsewhere, no one knew quite where, or why they knew it at all. The men who were shoveling earth on the levee began to talk of San Francisco. Someone said that morning that the city was badly hurt. No one could confirm the rumor, but it grew with the day. Rickard met it at the office late in the afternoon. He went direct to the telegraph operator's desk.

"Get Los Angeles, the O. P. office. And be quick about it."

In ten minutes he was talking to Babcock. Babcock said that the damage by the earthquake to that city was not known, but it was afire. San Jose had confirmed it. Oakland had report-children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Otis Smith.

Mrs. J. M. Rowe returned home on Saturday after a week's visit with

ROBERT S. LINK

Can Arrange Terms

REAL ESTATE I offer for immediate sale the following country and city property. These are good investments --- Ask About Them

100 ACRE TRACT-Six and one-half miles from Abbeville in Sharon neighborhood; close to school and church. Three-room house and barn. Fer Acre $32.50 32 ACRE TRACT OF LAND-4 miles south of Abbeville. Tenant house, barn, 8 or 10 acres of fine branch bottoms, 35 ncres in cultivation balance in woods both pine and ash. Rented for this year. Near school house.

Price per acre _____$20.00 LOT-on South side of town, 150x150 feet. Price, $150.00 156 ACRE TRACT-Located 4 miles Southeast of Abbeville S. C. Six room dwelling, 3room tenant house, barn. About 2-horse farm rented for this year. Good bottom land, plenty ashe wood and timber. Price _____$4,400. TWO GOOD RESIDENCESon North Main Street, for sale. Ask for prices.

ACRE LOT-In Fort Pickens. Good location. Price __$600. 231 1-2 ACRES-7 miles South of Abbeville, two tenant houses, barn, well; 15 acres bottoms, 150,000 feet saw-timber. Two horse farm already rented for 1919. Price per acre _____$25.00 6-ROOM RESIDENCE-On S. Main St., containing 4 acres, more or less. Good barn, 1 tenant house, rat proof crib, with branch running through property. Cheap at $2,100.00 TWO STORY DWELLING-6room, hall, electric lights and sewerage, 5 minutes walk from square. Bargain .at ..... $1,250.00

120 ACRES-Four miles South East of Abbeville, dwelling, tenant house, well, 500 cords wood, some saw timber. Cheap at ___$17.50 per acre. 166 ACRES-6 miles from Abbeville. Good dwelling, barn tenant house, located in Lebanon section, close to school and church.

Price per acre ____$30.00

FOR QUICK SALE-120 Acre Tract of Land with 6 Room dwelling, barn, good pasture, enough to pasture 40 head of cattle. Rents for 5 bales cotton. Price $60.00 Per Acre 5-ROOM DWELLING- On South Main Street, at Cotton Mill. Price, $1,125.00. 5-ROOM COTTAGE- Right at High School, on Parker St. Lot 80x198. $1,600.00. Price, List Your Property With Me for Sale, Rent or Exchange.

