

McCASLAN-DEVLIN.

Greenwood, June 13.—A very beautiful and unique wedding, with a setting particularly appropriate to the season occurred at the home of Mrs. Rosalie McCaslan on Wednesday evening, when her daughter, Eugenia Bates McCaslan, was married to Mr. John Roddy Devlin.

The occasion was of special interest to Greenwood society as Miss McCaslan is a native of the city and has a wide circle of friends while the fact that the groom has recently returned from France added a touch of timely romance.

In keeping with the season, the ceremony was performed on the large east porch of the McCaslan home, which had been decorated and festooned with smilax, and field daisies until it bore the appearance of an outdoors bower, and presented a cool and attractive contrast to the discomfort attending a large indoor gathering at this time of the year.

As the wedding was as nearly as possible, an outdoor affair, the guests were received at the front steps by Mrs. W. P. Durst and Mrs. Walter Devlin. While the guests were arriving Miss Annie Aiken with Mr. W. T. Bailey as accompanist, sang "At Dawning," and "Until."

At eight o'clock, the ribbon bearers, carrying daisy chains in lieu of ribbons issued from the front door and formed an aisle leading to the altar, improvised at the south end of the porch. The ribbon bearers were Misses Pola Zeigler, Julia Owens, Annie Green, Elizabeth Peay, May Bailey and Florence Hughey. Following these came the bridesmaids, Misses Mary Devlin and Elizabeth Calhoun, and the groomsmen, Messrs. Ben Rainsford and Graham Smith. The bridesmaids carried La France roses. The dame of honor, Mrs. Willie T. Bailey, sister of the bride, and the maid of honor, Miss Ann Adelle McCaslan, also a sister of the bride, followed. The bride's attendants were gowned in a rainbow color scheme, making a very beautiful effect.

Little Miss Clara Bailey, fairylike in white organdie, with pink ribbons bearing the ring, nestling in the heart of a magnificent rose, took her place by the altar, and her little sister, Rosalie, followed strewing rose petals in the path of the bride.

To the familiar strains of the bridal march, played by Mrs. Lee Hodges, the groom with his best man, Rev. M. R. Plaxco, took his place at the altar and the bride, entering with her brother, Mr. Gustavus McCaslan, joined the groom at the altar.

The bride's gown of heavy white satin, was trimmed with chantilly lace and pearls. The conventional veil and orange blossoms, with the beautiful bouquet of white mamon cochet roses showered with valley lilies carried by the bride added the finishing touches to a typical picture of the ideal June bride.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Green, who was assisted by Rev. W. A. McAuley of Greenville.

Immediately after the ceremony the guests were received by the bride and groom, and were ushered into the house where they were welcomed by Mrs. Foster McCaslan and Mrs. Clark McCaslan. Mrs. E. D. Andrews and Mrs. George W. Rush presided in the gift room where the many and valuable presents attested to the popularity of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Henry Thayer invited the guests into the dining room, where Mrs. Joel Bailey, Miss Susan Arnold, Mrs. W. R. Cothran, Mrs. Eugene Goodwyn received. Refreshments consisting of yellow and white block cream and angel cake were served by Misses Margaret Moore, Lillian Mattison and Lucia Featherstone. Favours of Shasta daisies were pinned on the guests by Misses Mary Perrin and Annie Lee Cothran. As the guests left the dining room, they registered in the bride's book, presided over by Miss Annie Aiken.

One of the interesting features of the evening was the cutting of the bride's cake in which the bridal party participated. Miss Elizabeth Peay was the fortunate winner of the ring while the thimble fell to Miss Julia Owens.

During the entire reception delicious punch was served from a cool and leafy nook on the porch by Mrs. Charles Webb, Misses Netta Engles, Tommie Duckett and Mazie Trammell.

The happy couple left amid a shower of rice, good wishes and congratulations for a honey-moon in the mountains. The trip will be by automobile, and the bride wearing an appropriate traveling suit of midnight blue tricotine.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Devlin will be happy to know that they will make their home in Greenwood. They will be at home at 305 Grace St., after their return.

Mr. Devlin holds a responsible position with the Bank of Greenwood, and is one of Greenwood's most promising young men.

Mrs. Devlin is one of the most charming and generally beloved girls in Greenwood and her many friends join in wishing her a long and happy married life.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. F. L. Woodruff, Sanford, Fla.; Mr. Woodruff, Sanford, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Plaxco, Abbeville, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. You are the only one who can attend to your home

And your home, your family, is your first duty. You should not, therefore, do things outside your home which someone else can do better and cheaper than you can yourself.

We are thinking especially of excessive grocery "shopping" and carrying home a heavy basket.

There's no need for you to rob your home of your attention by doing these things because at our store we do them for you.

We do your grocery shopping by carrying only the best products and selling them to you at fair honest prices. And we send them home for you because we believe we can perform this service cheaper and better, and certainly more satisfactorily than you can do it for yourself.

We are service grocers. We believe that being grocers means something more than just having things for sale.

Part of our service consists in telling you about the good things we have discovered in our "Shopping for you."

For example there's RYZON Baking Powder. We recommend Ryzon because it is the scientific product of a great chemical organization; because after testing it in our own homes we find it to be truly economical and thoroughly efficient. It is 40c. per pound—and if you haven't the Ryzon Baking Book ask about it at once.

GUARD AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS IN BUYING CATTLE

LOSIS IN BUYING CATTLE

Clemson College, June 6.—South Carolina farmers buying cattle from other states will do well to heed the warning of the United States Department of Agriculture against tubercula cattle.

Pending the outcome of an investigation by the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, into the source of tuberculous cattle lately shipped to Southern States, persons about to buy stock, especially dairy animals, are cautioned to make full inquiry into the health of the stock and the sanitary conditions on the farms from which the animals come.

Veterinary inspectors of the Tennessee department of agriculture and the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, who tested three carloads of cattle received from Illinois a few months ago by Tennessee purchasers, found that tuberculosis existed among from 0 to 90 per cent of the animals acquired. The section from which the cattle were received is now under investigation, and the case promises to parallel that of an Illinois cattle dealer who was recently convicted in the Federal court for using the United States mails to defraud prospective purchasers of dairy cattle.

The bureau, backed by the scientific and legal staffs of the Department of Agriculture, is determined that the new dairy communities of the South and other parts of the country shall not be made a dumping ground for diseased cattle sold by unscrupulous dealers. Investigations have shown that southern herds in general are relatively free from tuberculosis.
