FRANK WARDLAW'S VOICE

Have you heard the Rev. Dr. Wardlaw sing? What a wonderful voice he has, a clear splendid tenor of wonderful compass and splendid timbre, we believe that is the word. In its upper register it has very much the quality of Caruso's unapproachable voice.—Spartanburg Journal.

"PRETTY BABY"

Miss Blue Eyes.

Miss Blue Eyes, which appeared here Saturday night at the Opera House, was a musical comedy that ranks with the best and certainly deserved a larger audience than saw it.

The caste was strong, the songs were catchy and well rendered, the scenery and costumes were beautiful and the dancing was excellent. The plot was an old one, but bore remodeling and as presented here as Miss Blue Eyes was well worth seeing.

NOT A FOND RECOLLECTION

Mr. Tom Seals says he doesn't like such weather as we had Monday morning. He says it brings to mind too forcibly the fourteen months he spent as a prisoner of war at Fort Delaware and where breakfast consisted of a "cold Irish potato as big as a walnut and a slice of wasp-nest bread." This diet brought Mr. Seals so near to the starvation point that the Yankees started him home thinking that he would die before reaching Richmond and could be tossed over board and disposed of, but according to Mr. Seals which is good authority he "lived all the way to Richmond and is living yet."

Entertainment At Antreville.

There will be an entertainment at the Antreville High School Friday night at 7:30 o'clock for the benefit of the school. Admission 15 and 25 cents. 12-16-2t.

SETBACK PARTIES

Mr. Wm. M. Barnwell, of Chestnut Street, entertained all the best setback players in the city at dinner Thursday evening last. After enjoying the dinner the game was played according to Greenville street rules and regulations. Jim McMillan did not exactly draw the prophet, but he was finally attached to him, and as usual and as everybody expected, Jim found that he had millstone around his neck, which carried him down to defeat. Dick Sondley, the unbeaten and unbeatable champion of Magazine Street handled the game against Jim and the prophet, and came near scoring a shutout. If it hadn't been for the carelessness of his partner in the early innings of the game, he would have done so. Uncle Pat McCaslan was up from "the sticks" and announced at the game that he was soon to leave for Florida, where he will spend the winter among the orange blossoms and pretty girls, and that if anybody else wanted him at a party he hoped they would pull it off before the Christmas holidays were over.

Daley to the Bat.

Col. W. D. Barksdale has asked for a clear track over which he may operate his vestibule on next Friday evening. He proposes to give a dinner at his home on North Main, immediately adjoining Greenville Street, which will remind Jenner Link and a few others of the days when he bought out some of the small fry in the lien business every other day. He says that he expects to prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that a first class Baptist cannot only build a church and pay for it, carry the Seventy-five Million campaign over for a touch-down, but that he too can spread a spread which is good enough to make a Presbyterian elder smile, or a Methodist deacon backslide.

Rumors Afloat.

It has come to us, too, but through no official channels, that Col. C. E. Williamson, of Wardlaw Street, had some of the small fry in the setback affairs of the city, at a turkey dinner last Friday evening, it being stated that he was practicing on them, in order to cultivate self-confidence, and that he now feels able, with the experience he has had, to entertain the full faculty of the Greenville Street school, which he may do at anytime he feels disposed. Col. Kerr informs us that he is ready and prepared and that Uncle Jim is also ready.

HOW OLD WAS METHUSELAH?

The Ladies Home Journal says: Men who love to dig into what ordinary mortals accept as facts and wonder at them now and say that the ancients of Biblical days reckoned time, not by the sun or the movement of the earth, but by the moon. Thus a year with them was a lunar year, or every time the moon came around they called it a year. Roughly speaking, there are a little more than 12 1-2 lunar months of approximately 29 days each in a year. This makes it easier to understand how Adam lived 930 years; according to our present reckoning he really lived to be 74. Noah's 950 years become 76 years; and the daddy of them all, Methuselah, with his 969 lunar years, turns out really to have been 77 years according to our way of figuring. Later, of course, the equinox was considered, and six moons, or approximately six months, became a "year." Hence Abraham's 175 years becomes about 87 years of our time. All of which sounds more plausible about these supposed long-lived patriarchs.
