SOUNDS THE CAVALRY HORN
Capt. Shaw Makes Some Remarks Concerning the Bond Issue. Thinks Taxpayers Should Stand Together

Editor Press and Banner:—
 In your issue of April 5th, speaking of the election for bond issue, you said that the cavalry horn of Capt. W. C. Shaw was not heard on Saturday April 3rd. If the people of Abbeville County will cut this out and keep it for reference they will find out by the time they pay their taxes for the year 1921 who was right and who was wrong. Just as sure as the sun sets behind the Western hills some of the people, if not all, will wish that they had listened to Capt. Shaw's cavalry horn.

It will be remembered that I was against the law for compelling children to go to school. I blew my cavalry horn then and told them they could never make the law a success unless the legislature made a large appropriation every year for the purpose. What kind of a shape is the school system in today? I will answer that question myself. Two-thirds of our country school houses are unfit for any child to study in. They can't get books to study, and they haven't got money enough to pay a competent teacher, and it is an undeniable fact that a majority of the teachers who are teaching the public schools in the country cannot hold down more than the third grade, and have no certificate from the County Board of Education, and a majority of the schools in this district are being run contrary to the law of South Carolina.

The common people are responsible for the bonds being voted on the people. It is strange to me that all other classes of people will stick together and protect their interests except the common people. To these people, who are laboring people of the land, the question of wages and low taxes is the most important thing for him next to preparing to meet God. And these people should stand together to keep from being burdened with taxation. Every man in Abbeville County should get a registration certificate and be prepared to vote in every election which comes off, and as a good citizen every man should go to the polls and vote. The people who pay taxes should present a solid front whenever any fight comes up to levy more taxes. I had some experience along this line when I charged a heavy line of yankees with bayonets and not a shell in the division. It is the same thing with voters. A word to the wise is sufficient.

W. C. SHAW.
