KU KLUX KLAN IS STRONG IN GEORGIA

Aims of Reorganized Order Set Forth by An Atlanta Professor

Savannah, July 20.—Actuated by the noble spirit and lofty principles that inspired the formation of the famous Ku Klux Klan in the dark days of reconstruction immediately following the Civil War, the secret order has been revived and klans are being formed over the country, according to Col. William J. Simmons imperial wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Its membership now reaches into nineteen states and has representatives in New York, Illinois, Texas, Missouri and other distant states. Several of the neighboring counties around Chatham have organized klans in the past few weeks and it is understood that others are to be formed.

The annual conclave of the inhabitants of the invisible empire which was held in Atlanta last May stirred renewed interest in the Klan and its work. It was attended by members of the Klan from every section of the country and since that meeting Col. Simmons has received numerous inquiries regarding the methods to be pursued in attaining membership in the Klan and in organizing branches in other cities.

One of these inquiries came from a leading citizen in California who said he had become convinced that the Klan, because of the high principles upon which it was founded and the purpose it aims to serve, should be extended to California and the Pacific coast states.

The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, which is a patriotic, ritualistic fraternal order, is no hastily "jumped up" affair, but has been in the making for the last eighteen years, the idea of perpetuating the principles upon which the old Ku Klux Klan was founded having originated in the mind of Col. Simmons, who is professor of Southern history at Lanier University in Atlanta.

Col. Simmons dedicated his life to this cause and for fourteen years he thought, studied and worked to prepare himself for launching this great institution. In October, 1915, he mentioned his ambition to some friends among whom were three men who were bona fide members of the original Klan when it disbanded.

On the night of October 26, Col. Simmons met with those friends and after he unfolded his plans all those present—thirty-four in number—signed a petition for a charter. On Thanksgiving night in 1915 the organizers of the Klan assembled on the top of Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, and there at midnight, under a blazy-fiery cross, they took the oath of allegiance to the invisible empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The charter was issued by the state of Georgia, December 4, 1915 and a special charter was granted by the superior court of Fulton county, July 1, 1916.

Since the Klan had among its charter members three of the original members of the old Ku Klux Klan it was granted all the rights and privileges enjoyed by the original organization which swept the carpet-bagger and the scallawag from the South in the dark days of the reconstruction period following the civil war, restored to the white people of the South their rightful position in the nation, brought order out of chaos by suppresing the lawless element of both races and then, having accomplished the immediate purpose for which it was organized, was quietly disbanded by order of Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, who was its chief.

"While conditions today are not the same as they were when the original Klan was organized," says Col. Simmons, "the need for an organization like the Ku Klux Klan is just as pressing now as it ever was.

"Its purpose is to inculcate the sacred principles and noble ideals of chivalry, the development of character, the protection of the home and the chastity of womanhood, the exemplification of a pure patriotism toward our glorious country, the preservation of American ideals and the maintenance of white supremacy.

"No man is wanted in this order who hasn't enough manhood to assume a real oath with serious purpose to keep the same inviolate. No man is wanted in this order who will not or who cannot swear an unqualified allegiance to the government of the United States of America, its flag and its constitution.

"Only native born American citizens who believe in the tenets of the Christian religion and owe no allegiance of any degree or nature to any foreign people or persons are eligible for membership."

TO CLOSE THIS WEEK

Rock Hill, July 17.—The summer school at Winthrop college will close this week, examinations being held on July 22 and 23.

A concert will be given by the students, under the direction of Miss Carrie McMakin of Charleston, and Miss Florence M. Rhor, representing the United States treasury department, will address the teachers on thrift.

In many respects this has been the best summer school ever held at Winthrop. The teachers have been earnest and industrious, and eager to avail themselves of all the opportunities offered by the college.

Many important and helpful conferences have been held here, including the editors of the state, the county superintendents and principals, the social workers of the South and a conference on the problematic child. The total enrollment for all courses offered by the college this summer has been 1,323, not including the editors and the social workers.

How about sending that girl of yours some nice monogram stationery. You will get longer and sweeter letters if you give your order for a box to be sent her—Press and Banner Co.
