NEW MATRON.

The authorities at Erskine have succeeded in securing Miss Jessie Houston, of Altapass, N. C. to take charge of the dining hall of the boys home. Prof. Reid ran up to Altapass last week and had a personal conference with Miss Houston.

Miss Houston has had fine experience in managing boarding houses at Altapass and also at Spartanburg. She has a fine idea of dietetics. A number of our men have known Miss Houston before, having been much pleased with her service at Altapass, where she runs a hotel each summer. Miss Houston is a first cousin of Secretary Houston of the Treasury department at Washington. The faculty at Erskine are congratulating themselves on securing Miss Houston for the position.

HERO NAMES HIS HORSE BENEFICIARY IN POLICY

Buffalo, N. Y., July 28.—Kniplow, a 13-year old stallion, was the beneficiary named in the $10,000 war insurance policy carried by Harry K. Thurman, of Memphis, Tenn., and his aunt, Mrs. Mary Mitchell, of Buffalo. is complying with the terms of the policy. Thurman died in action overseas.

The facts in the case came out when Mrs. Mitchell sought to have Kniplow placed among the mounts of Troop I, State guard, in the armory here. She said Thurman was much attached to the horse and having no near relatives who would suffer thru his death, he decided to provide for the animal's care in case he did not return. The surplus above the cost of the horse's keep goes to Mrs. Mitchell.

Kniplow is suffering from a sprained tendon but is recovering and is expected soon to become a part of Troop I's outfit where he is a great favorite.

SEEDLESS GRAPE HAS BEEN DEVELOPED BY A GREENWOOD FARMER

Mr. A. A. Dominick, of Phoenix, brought some seedless grapes to the Index-Journal office this morning which he has succeeded in growing by a special system of planting. He cuts the tip of the vine off and plants it just as any other cuttings are planted. The vine from this cutting produces grapes that are a trifle smaller but are devoid of seed. Occasionally, he says, one grape on the bunch will have a seed in it, and that grape is always the size of the normal seeded grapes. The grapes are very sweet and are as prolific as any others.—Index-Journal.

ARMY OFFICERS MUST KEEP OUT

Of National Political Campaign Says Baker

Washington, July 29.—Army officers and others connected with the military establishment are prohibited, under an order issued today by Secretary Baker, from taking any "active part in political management or in political campaigns" or from "using their official position to influence the result of an election." Secretary Baker said the order was not directed at Major Gen. Leonard Wood, who sought the nomination as the Republican candidate for the Presidency, who has promised his active support to Senator Harding. Mr. Baker explained that Gen. Wood's activities in politics has been with his full knowledge and consent and that the general's position had been exceptional inasmuch as he was a candidate at the Chicago convention. He added that it was not the policy of the department to stand in the way of the people's choice of any official whom they might want for President.

The War Secretary would not be more specific when asked if the order would affect Gen. Wood's attitude in politics in the future, saying that the order spoke for itself.

GREAT BRITAIN AND AMERICA WILL NEVER BE ON OPPOSITE SIDES

London, July 29.—Elihu Root, former American secretary of state who recently took part in the work of the commission of jurists at the Hague for the establishment of a permanent international court of justice today formally presented to the British people of Saint Gaudens statue of Lincoln in Canning Square as a gift from America, and later the statue was unveiled. Premier Lloyd George abandoned pressing official business to deliver the speech of acceptance.

The presentation was made in the presence of a distinguished audience in the central hall of Westminster with Viscount Bryce, former British ambassador to the United States, presiding. The event was widely heralded in the British press as further cementing Anglo-American friendship.

In the course of his address Mr. Root declared: "It would be difficult to conceive of a sharper contrast in all the incidental and immaterial things of life than existed between Lincoln and the statesmen whose statue stand in parliament square." Later in his address, however, Mr. Root said: "It is the identical fundamental conception in both countries which make it impossible that in any great world emergency Great Britain and America can be on opposing sides. These conceptions of justice and liberty are the breath of life for both. While they prevail, both nations will endure; if they perish, both nations will die. of the Emancipation proclamation.

These were Lincoln's inheritance." Mr. Root recounted in great detail Lincoln's life struggles and his ideals, which he maintained Englishmen understood at the time he commanded public attention. He emphasized this by reading a copy of a sympathetic letter six thousand Manchester cotton operatives, unemployed because of the shortage of cotton during the war between the northern and southern states, —Washington Star.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS

"Josh, said Farmer Corntossel to his son. "I wish, if you don't mind, you'd eat off to yourself instead of with the summer boarders." "Isn't my society good enough for them?" "Your society is fine. But your appetite sets a terrible example."
