

HARDING'S VIEWS ON COTTON PLEASE

Head Of Federal Reserve Board Will Not Restrict Credits

Atlanta, Sept. 21.—Returning from the national capital where they conferred with the federal reserve board relative to the cotton situation more than fifty representatives of the American Cotton association, headed by President J. S. Wannamaker, today expressed complete satisfaction with their interview. They declared that such a reassuring statement as had been made by Governor Harding of the federal reserve board would meet a quick response throughout the country in a more optimistic view of the future of all enterprises and

UNCLE SAM HOLDS UP HAYTIEN'S PAY

Will Get it When They Become More Respectful in Manner.—Officials Raise a Howl.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Withholding of the salaries of the president, the secretaries, the state councillors and palace interpreter of Hayti will be continued until the government of the occupied island adopts a less antagonistic attitude towards the American authorities, the state department has informed J. Baru Haytien minister of foreign affairs.

Mr. Baru protested against the action of Col. John McIlhenny, the American financial adviser, in withholding the salaries of these officials who, the financial adviser contends, apparently are unwilling to carry out certain provisions of the treaty entered into at the time of the occupation of that country by American marines.

especially those engaged in the production of agricultural necessities.

Ex-Governor Manning of South Carolina presented the case for the Cotton association, pointing out that the association while speaking primarily for cotton really included in its wishes all staple agricultural products. He emphasized that the Cotton association was not asking for anything, but had come rather for the purpose of getting a better understanding of the board's policy with respect to credits for the orderly marketing of agricultural products.

Governor Harding, responding for the board, emphasized the thorough agreement of the board with the American Cotton association in the desire for the gradual, orderly marketing of staple agricultural products, especially cotton.

Governor Harding with more than ordinary emphasis drew attention to the fact that there seemed to be an ordinary effort to mislead the public as to the policy of the federal reserve board touching the matter of the contraction of credits to essential industries, including especially all agricultural products.

While stating that the board had undertaken to reduce credits for non-essential and for speculative purposes, Mr. Harding pointed out that it was not now the policy of the board, nor had it been, nor would it be restrict credits for the assistance of essential industries and especially agriculture. He produced figures to show that from September 1st, 1920, there had been a larger extension of credits for essential purposes than at any period in the history of the country, except the period of 1917-18, and that since the end of August this year on account of crop moving demand federal reserve note issues have increased at a rate of from thirty to forty millions of dollars a week, and that bills discounted in vaults of the federal reserve banks had increased at a rate of about fifty millions of dollars a week.

Governor Harding stated that whatever liquidation had gone on through the federal reserve system recently was for the purpose of putting the member banks in a position to take care of this very situation which he foresaw more than a year ago. The impression was distinctly given that the board's policy was sympathetic to an orderly movement of the crops, and that such movement was a necessary dependent to a large extent upon the credit situation.

Among other suggestions Governor Harding spoke of the need for the formation of export corporations under the terms of the Edge act and drew attention to the fact that under these terms of this act the capital stock of such corporations might be subscribed in cotton. He referred to recent conversations with several Washington representatives of Central European countries, who expressed the desire of a need for low grade cotton, but who pointed out that these countries could not go into the market unless credits could be extended to their manufacturers for periods of from six to nine months. These manufacturers would give as collateral liens upon the cotton in process of manufacture backed by a joint endorsement of a consortium of banks and further guaranteed by the government themselves.

Spark's Three-Ring Circus Coming to Abbeville Oct. 6

The Wofford Posing Horses and Dogs in Lifelike Portrayals of The Works of Noted Sculptors. They are Among the Trained Animal Features of the Sparks Circus Which is Coming to Town on Wednesday, October the 6th.

A real three ringed circus is coming to town, with wise lions and tigers, two herds of elephants, tango and shimmy dancing horses intermingled with human stars and the troops of clamor let loose between thrills.

The Sparks Circus which is coming to Abbeville on Wednesday, October 6th, is huge and grand and new enough to warrant the highest of praise.

Everyone will laugh at the capering clowns, gasp at the feature acts and shudder at the sensations crowded together in two hours and a half. The biggest and most daring of the animal acts are the two elephant herds, one of which includes earth's mightiest monster, Big Zulu "the skyscraper elephant".

DRUGGIST MUST SIGN NAME FORTY-TIMES TO FILL WHISKEY ORDER

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 21.—Plans for eliminating the "red tape which, it was declared, is entailed in handling alcohol and narcotics, were considered at the opening business session of the 22nd annual convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists here today. Speakers emphasized the necessity for simplifications of governmental regulations covering this phase of the drug trade. In filling a prescription for whiskey, it was pointed out, a druggist is required to sign his name forty-two times, and alcohol can only be obtained sixty days after application is made. The regulations governing the sale of narcotics are so complicated and change so rapidly, it was asserted, that druggists never know when they are complying with the law. Delegates expect the convention to take active steps to obtain corrective measures.

DECLARES AMERICA WANTS BEST NAVY

Madrid, Sept. 21.—Spain must become involved in the coming world's struggle for the commercial supremacy of the seas, says the newspaper, El Debate, in an editorial today.

"In the approaching struggle," the newspaper declares, "Spain, owing to her extensive coast line and the strategical importance of some of her ports cannot remain neutral. We must pay attention to the subject in time to occupy positions and adopt defensive to be used in the maritime conflict between the great powers of the world.

"America aspires to have the leading navy and the Jones law is a challenge to Great Britain. The maritime rivalry between Great Britain and the United States is the greatest factor in international politics with which we shall have to deal.

"This rivalry is complicated by a no less grave state of affairs existing between the United States and Japan, which well serves British interests. The British and Japanese are united to frustrate American plans and designs for dominion over the maritime struggle and developing between the United States and Japan, the two disputing for Pacific traffic, where rival companies have entered into freight competition."

SOCIALISTS TURNED DOWN IN N. Y. HOUSE

Three Of Five Members Expelled By Vote Of Two To One—Two Others Resign At Once.

Albany, Sept. 21.—The Assembly of the New York State Legislature tonight by a vote of 90 to 45 in each case expelled three of the five Socialist members—Louis Waldman and August Claessens, of New York, and Charles Solomon, of Kings County—and voted 87 to 48 to permit Samuel A. DeWitt and Samuel Orr, Socialist members from the Bronx, to retain their seats. The two last named, however, after a vote to reinstate Waldman had been lost 81 to 52, took the floor in turn and verbally tendered their resignations.

The proceedings tonight were not unlike those that occupied virtually all of March 31 and into the early morning of April 1, at the last session, when all five were barred from their seats except that tonight the dramatic situations and excitement that attended the first oustings were lacking.

The resolution calling for the expulsion of the five Socialists was introduced yesterday by Col. Ransom H. Gillett, Republican, Columbia County, and today the judiciary committee, to which it was referred, reported the resolution back to the house for consideration without recommendation. During the day a move on the part of several Assemblymen resulted in presentation of three amendments which provided for the unseating of Waldman, Claessens and Solomon. Later Assemblyman Wells, Republican, of Kings, offered two additional amendments to provide for the unseating of Orr and DeWitt.
