

JAPS SOON WILL CONTROL HAWAII

Honolulu, T. H., Jan. 29.—A federal survey commission, headed by Dr. Frank F. Bunker, of Washington, which recently surveyed education in Hawaii, in a preliminary report declared that the "momentum" of the Japanese race in Hawaii puts all other racial groups out of the running in respect to numbers and that the momentum if continued will carry the Japanese race into an increasingly dominant numerical position, giving their Hawaiian born progeny in 1930 about 28 per cent of the electorate of the territory.

The report, which is freely interspersed with tables of figures obtained from federal and territorial official sources and from the office of the Japanese consulate-general in Honolulu, says in part:

"With an actual population now in the islands of 114,137 (1919) as reported by the Japanese consulate-general, against 25,000 Portuguese, the next largest group, it is clear that the Japanese race has acquired a momentum which puts all the other groups out of the running with respect to numbers.

"That this momentum inevitably will carry the Japanese race into an increasingly dominant numerical position, if continued, is clearly shown by tables compiled from information obtained from the office of the Japanese consul-general and from the records of the territorial board of health."

Dealing with the parallel presented by the methods of adjustment to island influences represented by the Portuguese and the Japanese races, the report says: "While both groups originally were brought into the islands to satisfy the need for cheap labor on the plantations, there in with both a pronounced tendency to seek better economic position by breaking away from the plantations and engaging in other activities giving promise of a free and more ample life.

"The Japanese are ambitious to become tenants, to own land, to set up business, to enter a profession, to rise above the category of unskilled labor and as they individually achieve their ambition, they are like the Portuguese, participating more and more in the affairs of the islands, socially, educationally, politically. Furthermore, they are all at work. There are few triflers and idlers among them. There are now, approximately 38,000 male and 27,000 female adult Japanese in the islands. A table, based upon information obtained from the Japanese consulate-general shows that 50,149 of them are employed in gainful occupations.

"It should be said in fairness that there are few Japanese children in the juvenile courts and in institutions for delinquents; and there are proportionately very few Japanese among the convict labor gangs and in the jails. Few, if any are supported by public charity, nor are any begging in the streets.

Their per capita savings bank deposits rank third among those of the island races, being exceeded by the Americans and Portuguese only.

"All of which activity laudably in itself, can be explained adequately on the basis of racial qualities, inherent in the Japanese, of patience, persistence, thrift, initiative, endurance, ambition, group solidarity, coupled with acumen and astuteness which give them the ability to get on where other races have failed. Indeed, so well have the Japanese adjusted themselves to island conditions, and so rapidly are they increasing in the numbers of Hawaiian-born children, that this group soon will have a majority of voters of the islands."

The commissioner's report then deduces from a table of births of Japanese children about 1898 to 1919 that 12,216 Hawaiian-born Japanese will have become old enough to vote by 1930; that 22,921 more will have been added to the list of eligible voters by 1940, making a total during a 22-year period of 35,137. Deducting 13 per cent to cover possible losses by removal and death, the report estimates that by 1940 there will be an aggregate of Japanese voters in the territory of 30,857, including 287 now registered.

Pointing to the fact that Japanese children in the public schools of Hawaii in 1910 were 27.72 per cent of the total enrollment and that in 1919 this school group stood at 40.55 per cent of the whole, the report says this "indicates that the

HALF YOUR LIVING WITHOUT MONEY COST

Cotton Production Costs Can Be Cut in Half By Food And Grain Making And Saving

Atlanta, Georgia.—(Special).—"High prices for cotton, such as we had a year ago cannot reasonably be expected for a long time to come. European countries that normally use half our crop are so thoroughly disorganized and paralyzed in a business way that they will not be able to take the usual quantities and pay high prices for many years to come," said H. G. Hastings, President of the great Southeastern Fair.

"This situation which we cannot control, calls for lower costs of making cotton as well as reduction in cotton acreage. The quickest, safest and most effective way to reduce cotton making cost is to produce on one's own acres every pound of food, grain and forage needed for family, tenants and laborers and live stock.

"The situation requires chickens, hogs, milk cows and acres of corn, oats, wheat, forage and miscellaneous crops from which to feed them. Last, but not least, in importance, is the home vegetable garden which is the quickest and cheapest source of food in the world.

"Most folks here in the South don't take the home garden seriously and thereby make a great mistake. There are too many of the 'lick and a promise' sort of gardens and mighty few of the real sure enough kind.

"We have been told repeatedly by those who plan and prepare for a real garden, plant it, tend it and keep it replanted through the season, that it furnishes half the family living at no money cost except the small amount spent for the seeds needed.

"The garden is, or rather should be, the earliest planted. It brings forth the earliest. It starts cutting store bills for food the first week anything is ready to use. A little later, half or more needed for the table comes out of the garden.

"If rightly tended and replanted it supplies food all summer and fall, the surplus above daily needs goes into cans or is dried for winter use. Yes, the right kind of garden is a life-saver, and we all need a life-saver of this kind in 1921."

place in the electorate that the Japanese will occupy in 1930 and Japan in 1940 may, indeed, be underestimated." The concrete deduction then follows:

"Whether or not the Japanese desire to achieve political control, without doubt, within a few years, they will be in a position to do so if they choose."

Interesting comparisons of the degree of intermarriage hinge in by the different races in the islands next are taken up, which brings the commission to the conclusion that, "In general, Japanese marry only Japanese. It is clear that all races, except the Koreans and Japanese, are fusing rapidly through intermarriage, but that the Japanese group is maintaining its racial distinctiveness."

Honolulu, T. H., Jan. 4.—Judge Ben. B. Lindsay, famous juvenile judge of Denver, Colo., has accepted an invitation to survey the juvenile delinquent situation in Honolulu, according to an announcement just made by Judge James J. Banks of the Honolulu juvenile court.

Judge Banks added that an effort will be made to have Judge Lindsay come during the legislative session, which opens February 16, and during which matters regarding the juvenile court and the proposed court of domestic relations are expected to come up.

NO COMMISSIONS TO INDUCE TRADE

Washington, Feb. 2.—Issuance of orders requiring 35 ship chandlery and repair companies at South Atlantic and Gulf ports to refrain from giving "cash commissions and other gratuities to induce trade" was announced today by the Federal Trade Commission. The orders were issued as "consent orders" the announcement said, the companies effected, expressing a willingness to discontinue the practice of giving presents and cash gratuities to the officers of ships contracting for supplies or repairs.

The commission reported that it was making an investigation of the alleged practice among companies at other Atlantic ports. The House judiciary committee now has under consideration a bill by Representative Sims of Tennessee making it a misdemeanor to accept or offer money or other things of value in connection with the purchase of supplies for ships. Hearings on the bill will begin before the committee on February 12.

GERMANY BATTLING TO REGAIN SILESIA

London, Jan. 29.—Germany and Poland are battling bitterly to win the plebiscite in Upper Silesia March 15.

By this plebiscite the people will determine whether they will come under German or Polish rule.

Both countries want this territory because of its great coal resources.

Germany, which has had to surrender the Saar Basin coal regions to France, for 15 years, says it will mean total ruin if it loses the Silesian coal fields.

Poland claims she must have them to fuel her industries.

Both sides charge unfair campaign methods, intimidation and violence. Though most of the people speak Polish, the territory has been under German rule for 700 years.

Political leaders in Germany talk of violence if the allies award the territory to Poland, Vice versa with Polish leaders.

The Polish legation announces that the Polish general staff is reorganizing a regular army according to military standards. But it denies: That the army is being mobilized in full strength:

That the Poles are concentrating troops on the Esthonian, Latvian and Rumanian frontiers;

That there are prospects of renewal of warfare between Poland and Bolshevik Russia.

The legation blames the Germans for the baseless mobilization report, which is to depress Polish currency and credit, to otherwise weaken the country, and to influence the plebiscite.

It reports that five classes of the army have been demobilized and that it now numbers only 300,000 men.

The legation says the Polish high command expects a peace treaty to be signed with the Bolsheviks in February.

In China all the land belongs to the state, and a trifling sum per acre, scarcely altered through long centuries, is paid as rent.

THE SUCCESS FAMILY

From the London Opinion: The father of Success is Work. The mother of Success is Ambition. The oldest son is Common Sense. One of the other boys are: Perseverance, Honesty, Thoroughness, Foresight, Enthusiasm, Co-operation. The oldest daughter is Character. Some of the sisters are: Cheerfulness, Loyalty, Courtesy, Care, Economy, Sincerity, Harmony. The baby is Opportunity.

Get acquainted with the "old man" and you will be able to get along pretty well with all the rest of the family.
