

NABS "HOME BREW" KITCHEN OUTFIT

Ingenious Apparatus Used on Cook Stove Captured by Officers.

Arrested on Wednesday afternoon by Revenue Officer Van B. Martin and Deputy U. S. Marshal Bruce, Calvin Alewine, a young white man of Abbeville county was released on bond this morning, having appeared before Commissioner Pearman on a charge of violating the national prohibition act.

The arrest of Alewine, who is a young married man, residing in Abbeville county, grew out of information which the officers received indicating that Alewine was operating a "home-brew" apparatus in his wife's kitchen. According to the officers when they arrived on the scene the man was making a run with this crude apparatus in the kitchen of his home.

It was stated by one of the officers that they found several fruit jars filled with mash, in addition to a small quantity of beer, which indicated that a run of the still was near at hand when they arrived.

The capture of this still was very different in many respects from the usual capture of a whiskey making outfit, for the officers were compelled to take some of the kitchen utensils belonging to the household. With a series of iron pipes, through which the vapor was being run, a wash basin and several tin pans, all of which were placed on the cook stove, the big show was all fixed when the officers arrived and took charge of the entire outfit.—Anderson Daily Mail.

The special appropriation for State militia was cut to $15,000 as recommended. Heretofore it received $30,000. The Senate took a long argument before deciding to allow $1,400 with which to repair the Beaufort arsenal. Senator Clifton gave notice of a motion to reconsider.

The Senate adjourned when it reached the items covering the State educational institutions.

THE "FRONTS" WENT UP, TOO

One of the big local hosiery concerns recently solved a problem which had been puzzling its sales executives for some time. The concern in question had been doing a nice business in the so-called lace "ankle front" silk hose for women, but it began to drop off. An investigation was started, and an agreement was finally arrived at that the trouble was due to the shortness of the skirts women are wearing. The skirts displayed the entire lace "front" and several inches of hose in addition, which gave something the effect of a patch. Having decided that longer "fronts" would solve the problem, the next question was how long to make them. To be absolutely safe it was decided to run them clean to the garter hem. This was done and business soon improved.
