BANNER "BLUE LAW" CENTURY.

Seventeenth Saw Draotic Rules Made for the Government of Manners and Morals.

The Seventeenth century, according to historians, was the banner for blue laws. Legislators vied with one another to win either the plaudits of the people or to provoke the wrath of the mobs by thinking up new measures for the statute books. One blue law in particular which coincides somewhat with some of the legislation rumored to be contemplated in this country is interesting. This was in the form of an ordinance in a Swiss city, and it virtually put such stage folk as jugglers, maskers, jumpers and "such like" out of business. They were prohibited from plying their profession, for the reason that "they do things which God did not intend the human race to perform."

Gambling was frowned upon throughout Europe during this period, but the blue laws did not seem to make much of an impression. It is to be also noted that a prohibition movement was alive in that period. Reformers were engaged at various times in efforts to stop drinking at taverns. In a little city in France the dry wave did not gain much headway, as the leaders turned to the alternative of reducing, or trying to reduce, drinking to a minimum on Saturday afternoons so that worshippers might attend evening services with full possession of their faculties.

SECOND BIRTH FOR JAPANESE

Burial of Nails, Teeth and Hair, and Change of Name Made Official Another Person.

The following item from the Japan Advertiser reveals one of the interesting peculiarities of national ideas and customs which continue to lend variety and interest to world civilization. "Burying themselves to escape death, and then being born again by the simple process of changing their names, Baron and Baroness Ban held full funeral services for themselves at the Gyokurinsai temple in Nagoya recently, erecting a fully engraved tombstone over their nails, teeth and hair. The baron now calls himself Mr. Kogogureno Otu. "When Baron Ban was 'first' born he was far from healthy, and 40 years was predicted as the extreme limit of his life. However, he recently celebrated his sixty-sixth birthday, which brought to his mind that his father had died at that age, and that he could probably best avoid his fate at an early death by bowing to that date and officially 'burying' as much of himself as possible without interfering with any of the vital processes."

Mice Made Robbery Possible.
"Church mice," notoriously poverty-stricken, occasionally are able to throw riches in the way of others. A thief entered St. Ignatius church, Baltimore, Md., the other night and stole valuable jewels from a safe in the rear of the altar. Inquiry at the rectory developed that to a little band of playful "church mice," now dead and forgotten by their brethren, may be traced the existence of circumstances which made it possible for the thief to strip the sacred vessels without detection. Many years ago a burglar alarm system was installed in St. Ignatius in anticipation of just such a visitation as the recent one. One night some mice established a contact with a concealed element of the alarm system and brought the priests and the police to the scene. The burglar alarm was disconnected to prevent a repetition of the false alarm. The view was taken by the priests that there was in existence scarcely a thief degraded enough to tamper with the consecrated vessels.

Legion Has 10,000 Posts.
The American Legion entered 1921 with virtually 10,000 posts, according to the estimates based on the latest figures. During the week ending December 10, 15 new posts were added which brought the total to 9,930. Arkansas led with three posts, says the Stars and Stripes. The Women's auxiliary in the same period obtained 27 new units, enlarging its list to 1,586. Four new units, gained by the New York department, placed that department in the lead for the week. Foreign posts added recently are at Chulucamata, Chile, and Guatemala City, Guatemala.

Proposed Pipeline in the North.
The proposed pipeline to convey oil products from the Mackenzie river basin in northern Canada to Bering sea, from whence they would be carried by tankers to the markets of the world, would run from the Mackenzie river to the Yukon river systems by way of Rat river and Ball river, thence by the Porcupine and Yukon rivers to salt water. It is reported that sanction for the project will be sought from parliament. The strike at Fort Norman is said to be a rich flow.

Pledged to Use Irish Tongue.
In Ireland many persons are to be seen wearing a plain brass ring on their breast. It is known as "The Fainne," which is the Gaelic equivalent for "ring," and is the badge worn by those students of Gaelic who have attained a colloquial knowledge of the tongue which its advocates declare was for centuries in daily use in Ireland. The wearer of the badge pledges himself or herself to speak only Irish to those who are acquainted with that

SPRING.

Life is awaking everywhere,
The breath of spring is in the air;
Flowers show their tinted faces,
Possessing the springtime graces.

The bird's sing their merriest song,
Standing on the trees newest prong,
And on a morning calm and bright,
They fill our souls with pure delight

Little seeds planted under ground,
Are beginning to break their mound
Every day as the sun goes by,
They open wider their half-closed eye.

The garden scratched with rake and hoe,
Will help the little plants to grow
And when the summer sun shines bright,
They stand full grown—a perfect sight.

The fresh odor of new plowed ground
Comes to us from all around;
Then as the days come and go
Plants will appear on every row.

So life is beginning anew,
And we have much more work to do
But with a heart as bright as spring
We can accomplish anything.

ALABAMA COTTON FRAUD CASE IS DENIED MANDAMUS

Washington, March 22—The Supreme Court today denied the petition of D. H. Riddle, and others, convicted in the "Alabama cotton fraud case," for a writ of mandamus to United States District Judge Grubb to correct the record of their trial so as to show that the verdict was reached by a jury of only 11 men.

Riddle and six other defendants were charged with having obtained money under false pretenses through selling inferior cotton as being of higher grade. Their objection to the alleged incorrectness of the record was entered in order that an appeal might be instituted. Sentences ranging from 13 to 39 months were imposed upon those convicted with a fine of $10,000 in the case of Riddle and $1,000 each in those of his co-defendants.

I would have bearing-down pains in my side and back — especially severe across my back, and down in my side there was a great deal of soreness. I was nervous and easily upset.
