CHEERFUL VISITOR

Mr. J. R. Blake, of Greenwood, just as happy as ever, and feeling like a sixteen year old boy was in the city Wednesday. His host of Abbeville friends were delighted to see him again. He promised to come back to Abbeville just as soon as the Bond money arrives, so it will not be long before Abbeville will have him back for the day.

RATTLE THE BONES.

A negro coming up on the street last night where several others were seated threw out on the pavement a couple of the Ivory bones. He noticed however just in time a city policeman and he hurried and told the officer that he meant to challenge to the other boys but merely liked to hear the music made by the rattle of the bones on the pavement.

WINDOWS BROKEN BY WIND

There was a very heavy rain, accompanied with some wind and considerable electricity here Wednesday night about eight o'clock. The electric lights were out for a few minutes. There was no considerable damage done by the wind. An upstairs window in the store of Philson & Henry was blown out, as was also the transon light in the front of W. D. Barksdale's store. The street was covered with glass, however, beyond the broken glasses and the damage done by the rain blowing in the openings there was no other damage wrought.

SOUND FINANCIAL BASIS

"Things haven't gone to the bow-yows by a 'long shot'. The country is safe and things are moving along smoothly. That Abbeville county is not yet on the verge of starvation is very evident from a study of the published statements of the Banks of the county. Just because money is a little tighter than it was this time last year, and because we are passing through the day of Re-adjustment after the war is no cause for alarm," said a prominent citizen yesterday.

He is an optimist of the right sort and the kind that makes the wheels of business turn, and Abbeville is full of his class and kind.

Rub-My-Tiam kills infection.

CHARMING VISITOR HERE

Miss Clanis Bonds, a delightfully charming young lady passed through Abbeville yesterday on her way to her home in Lowndesville from Florence where she has been teaching the past session. MUCH BUSINESS FOR BAPTIST CONVENTION

Chattanooga, May 12—Reducing the representation of the local church and district associations in the Southern Baptist convention in the hope of making that body more deliberative and conducting the great amount of business more efficiently promises to be one of the largest questions before the 66th annual session of the convention which begins here today with one of the four vice presidents presiding in the absence of Dr J. B. Gambrell of Dallas, who is prevented by illness from attending. After a brief devotional service by Dr M. Ashby Jones of Georgia the election of new officers will be held.

A FREAKISH CAT WEARS THE BLUES

Abbeville has a freak in the color of a blue cat. This Tommy belongs to one of the local stores and can be seen about the square almost any day. Individually he is a handsome specimen of the feline tribe, and just why nature gave him such a peculiar color for a cat is hard to understand, unless it be as a prominent citizen said yesterday: "The cat is the only "blue" thing about Abbeville." He continued by saying: "We all have our cat superstitious and it may be that this particular Tommy wears the "blues" for the entire town." "At any rate," he concluded "if Abbeville was ever affected with the "blues" she is shaking 'em off now, since the good roads bond money has arrived, and the good road movement looms up so prominently."

Yes, smile, brother, smile the coin of the realm will soon circulate and its jingle will add music to the bustle of a livg town.

EAST AND WEST HIGHWAY TO BE VIGOROUSLY PUSHED

At the meeting in Clinton this week of delegations from all upper South Carolina, a temporary organization was launched to keep the wheels turning until it can be made into a permanent organization. Dr. J. F. Jacobs, of Clinton, was elected temporary president and the permanent organization will be perfected at the earliest possible date.

The proposed East and West highway is to run parallel with the Seaboard from Rockingham, N. C., to Athens, Ga., and is to be connecting link between the Blankhead, Dixie and National highways. The highway will pass through Cheraw, Clinton, Laurens, Greenwood and Abbeville. The only expensive part of the construction will be the bridging of the Catawba and Savannah rivers and doubtless government aid will be furnished for this.
