"Go and Get It"

With Agnes Ayres, Pat O'Malley, Wesley Barry, Bull Montana and others.

The city editor said to the young reporter three nights ago, Dr. Ord, the famous surgeon was found dead in his laboratory with his back broken and not a mark on his body.

The next night the district attorney suffered a similar fate. Last night the same thing happened to one of the most prominent judges in the country. The city is panic-stricken. Thousands of people are fleeing.

We Must Have That Story, "GO AND GET IT."

The young reporter traced the great mystery Fighting—Struggling—Battling with Air, Water, Man and Beast—he pursued the Story and COME SEE THE ENDING.

NO PASTOR YET.

The Rev. David Shepperson of Arkansas, who had been extended a call to become the pastor of the Presbyterian church here and who was here two weeks ago to look over the field, has definitely declined to accept the place here. The officers of the church, it is understood, have a number of other excellent ministers in mind, and they expect to be able to make some announcement soon.

VISITING DOCTORS

Dr. Glymph and Dr. Sarratt, two sporting doctors from Union were in the city a part of Sunday and today. The doctors are strong believers in the superior charms and good looks of the Abbeville girls. They left at midday for Glenn Springs.

BIG DAY'S WORK

One farmer who lives near Abbeville has a good scheme to defeat the ravages of the boll weevil. He has three children with a surplus of energy to be properly directed, so he offered 10 cents a hundred for punctured cotton squares. The three went out one day last week and collected 3,900 squares in one afternoon—$3.90 worth.

FOURTEEN ENTRANTS FOR BUTTER JUDGING

Mrs. J. B. Wakefield, of Antreville, brought to the butter judging contest Saturday afternoon the best butter of the day, her specimen grading 92.5. Mrs. P. B. McElrath of Antreville came second with a grade of 91.5. This is the last judging contest, before September. Miss Burney, state dairy specialist, was the judge.

PRIVACY OF HER BOUDOIR NOT GUARDED BY COURT

New York, July 9.—Miss Celeste W. Herrick, who went into the courts to preserve the privacy of her boudoir, has lost out. She sought an injunction to prevent a Columbia University professor from extending his residence, on the ground that the windows of the proposed extension would give a view into her sleeping apartment, but Supreme Court Justice Whitaker denied the plea.

Why the Farmer Should Have a Bank Account

Because the farmer, in addition to his capital—the soil, his tools, teams and his own physical strength—often needs money or credit to supplement and keep his capital at work, and the Planters Bank creates and sells the credit he requires.

Your account will be appreciated.
