Terrible Scare

New York, Oct. 15.—Firemen forcing their way through smoke and flames in a five-story building here today were startled by the sight of what seemed to be parts of tiny human bodies strewn about the floor.

They gathered up the pieces of legs and arms and rushed to the street. There they quickly dropped them in disgust.

They were remnants of wax dolls.

SOCIETY

WILKINSON—LUCAS

The following account of the Lucas-Wilkinson wedding from The Florence Daily Times, will be of interest here:

"A quiet but very pretty wedding was that of Miss Susan Stevens Lucas and Mr. John Walter Wilkinson which occurred at 6:30 Wednesday afternoon, October 5th, at St. John's Episcopal Church, only the immediate families and intimate friends being present. The church was simply but beautifully decorated in green and white, many ferns being used.

"The ushers were Dr. S. R. Lucas and W. H. Darby, Jr. Mrs. James Penny at the organ played 'Purity' and 'Loved and Adored,' by Engleman.

"The bridal party entered the church to the dreamy, exquisite music of the wedding march from Lohengrin. Mrs. Thomas R. Miller, sister of the bride, was dame of honor, wearing a lovely gown of Harding blue Canton crepe with mole skin trimmings, and carrying Russell roses. Little Miss Natalie Lucas was flower girl and Miss Leonide Lucas was ring bearer, both nieces of the bride. They were dainty and sweet in frilly white organdie dresses. The bride came in on the arm of her brother Mr. Ravenel Lucas, who gave her away. She wore a handsome traveling suit of navy blue Poret twill with gray hat, shoes and gloves and corsage of orchids and valley lilies. At the altar she met the groom with his best man, his brother, Mr. A. A. Wilkinson. Rev. W. S. Poyner performed the ceremony, using the beautiful Episcopal service, while the organist played softly 'The Awakening.' As they turned to leave the altar the music swelled into the rich tones of Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

"Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party and the immediate family were served a delicious three course supper at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Edward Henry Lucas, on South Coit Street.

"The bride and groom left for Washington and New York for a short honeymoon trip.

"Mrs. Wilkinson is the youngest daughter of Mrs. E. H. Lucas, and her genial disposition has won for her many friends among the young people of Florence. It is very gratifying to them to know that she will continue to live in Florence after marriage. Mr. Wilkinson is a young man of worth and popularity. He is a law student, being now employed in the office of Willcox and Willcox."

CANCER HOSPITAL IS PLANNED FOR ATLANTA

Atlanta, Oct. 15.—The public hospital for cancer treatment to be erected here as an annex to Grady hospital, which was made possible by the recent bequest of $500,000 by the late Albert Steiner of Atlanta, will be the most completely equipped institution of its kind south of Baltimore under plans approved at a joint meeting of the hospitals and charities and finance committee of city council.

The city will furnish nurses, food, heat, light, water and janitor service, under the plans which remain to be approved at the next meeting of the council and the poor will be given preference in admission. Arrangements will be made, however, for day patients also.

Small Dog Too Big.

Dover, Eng.—Morris Schult didn't think his dog was big enough to pay customs duty on it when he arrived here, so he put the dog into his pocket and started ashore. But the customs men stopped him and fined him $50.

EASLEY MAN INQUIRES ABOUT ABBEVILLE FAIR

Says He Wants to Attend, As He Has Many Friends in The County.

The Press and Banner has received inquiry from W. P. Pickens of Easley about the dates for the Abbeville County Fair. Mr. Pickens does not ask whether there will be a fair; he simply wants to know what time "this fall" (not next year) the fair will be held. The Press and Banner passes the question on: When will the fair be held?

The letter follows: "Please let me know what time the Abbeville County Fair will be held this fall? I have lived in that county 12 years during my young manhood, and am thinking of visiting some of my friends down there and would like to take in the fair at same time. Hoping to hear from you soon, I am

"Yours truly, W. P. Pickens."

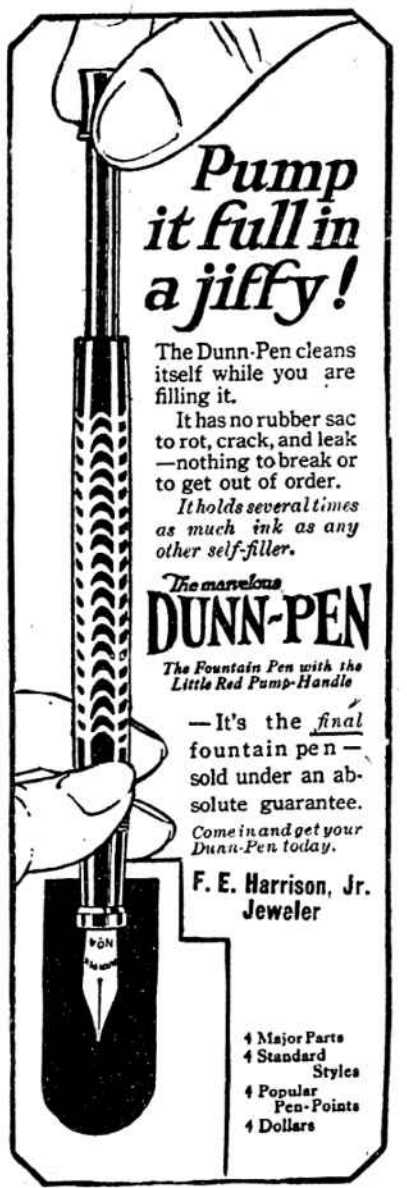

BAR GIRLS TO GET CHEERS

Men Students to Sit Alone at Northwestern University Games

Chicago, Oct. 15.—In an effort to revive cheering at Northwestern University football games, the Women's League of the University has ordered the segregation of men and women students at future football games.

The men have become so interested in explaining the intricate points of the game to their fair companions, it is explained, that they forget to cheer the home team. Rails have been ordered erected to divide the stands.

STEAL BANK COLLECTORS

AUTO AND SAFE WITH CASH
Cambridge, Mass. Oct. 15.—An automobile in which a collector for the Harvard Trust Company was receiving deposits from trades people was stolen today at a street corner, with a small safe containing several hundred dollars. The collector, Randolph Carter, was absent at the time visiting a store near by. Bank officials and the police said they thought those responsible were automobile thieves who did not know of the presence of money in the car.
