

GARDNER LANDED IN ARIZONA JAIL

MAIL BANDIT CAPTURED BY CLERK—HERMAN INDERLIED WILL BE GIVEN TWO REWARDS AGGREGATING SEVEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 16.—Roy Gardner, mail bandit, who escaped under the fire of a score of guards from the federal penitentiary at McNeil Island, Wash., where he was serving a sentence for Pacific coast robberies, was captured single handed here last night by Herman Inderlied when he attempted to rob the mail car on an Atchison, Topeka and Sante Fe railway train at the Sante Fe station. Inderlied was unarmed and was the mail clerk in charge of the car.

Edward C. McGrath, superintendent of railway mail service in the West, declared tonight that Inderlied would receive the reward of $5,000 offered for the capture of any person who attempted to rob the mails and also the $2,000 which was a special reward offered for the capture of Gardner.

At the hearing Inderlied told of going to the car to prepare for his run. He said he changed his clothes laying his revolver on a table while he did so. Afterward he got out to get the mail from the drop box at the station, leaving his revolver on the table.

When he returned, he said, he was confronted by a masked man who pointed a revolver toward his head and ordered him to hold up his hands and to back into the corner.

"I started backing but didn't hold up my hands," he said.

When he got into the corner, he said, the bandit ordered him to lie down on his stomach and he started to do so. Then he said he started to straighten up but only got high enough to see the gun held in the other's hand.

"I made a grab for it and got his wrist," Inderlied testified. "Then we started scuffling and wrestling."

At last, he said, both fell down and he got on top of the bandit and got possession of the gun. About that time, he testified, help arrived in response to his calls.

In reply to questions, Inderlied, who is over six feet and weighs 215

Stuff Around Town

Weather Reminder

This damp bad weather that has prevailed in the city for the past few days reminds many of the ex-soldiers of the Clime of "Sunny France" for the greater part of the winter of 1918. From the middle of November to February rain was almost a daily visitor and the ground absorbed the water like a sponge. Of course the ground is always covered with vegetation there and the rains are rarely heavy enough to wash the soil into gullies. There were not many days uncomfortably cold.

VALENTINO DANCED HIS WAY TO SUCCESS

Hero of Ingram's "The Four Horsemen" Won Chance from His Dancing.

Rudolph Valentino, the celebrated young dancer who has the leading male role in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," a Rex Ingram production for Metro, to be shown at the Opera House House next week, found his way to fame and fortune through his nimble feet.

When you see Mr. Valentino in this screen adaptation of the world-famous novel of Vicente Blasco Ibanez by June Mathis and notice his finished acting, the sure swagger of the cafe scenes laid in the Argentine the polish of his manner in interpreting the student and lover in Paris, it will be your unquestionable opinion that here is a man initiated in theatrical ways as a child.

But it was neither as a dancer nor an actor that Mr. Valentino hoped to take fortune by storm. It was in the more humble sphere as a prospective agriculturist that he came to the United States, at the age of eighteen, a graduate from the Royal Military College of Agriculture at Genoa, Italy. As he planned his future he would become one of the great land owners in this country of opportunity.

But things happened swiftly for him in New York. Soon he was busy teaching Broadway's regulars his graceful steps. He appeared at Rector's as a dancing partner of Bonnie Glass following this engagement with one in the Winter Garden and a long term contract in vaudeville.

From dancing to motion pictures was an easy step. His first picture with Mae Murray in "The Big Little Person." When Rex Ingram, in his painstaking search for the type to portray the pleasure-loving South American hero of "The Four Horsemen" saw Valentino, he chose him for the part.

BLEASE MAY AGAIN RUN FOR GOVERNOR

Former Chief Executive Has Definitely Decided To Put Hat in the Ring.

Laurens, Nov. 12.—That former Governor Cole L. Blease has decided definitely to enter the race for the governorship in the primary election next year, is the information reaching Laurens. It will be recalled that the former chief executive stated some weeks ago that he would be a candidate for governor in 1922, provided a younger man who represented his ideas politically could not be found to make the race. The statement he is now quoted as making in regard to the campaign next year, is without strings or qualification, and is to the effect that Mr. Blease will certainly be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor in the primary election next year. In answer to the direct question, as propounded personally by a Laurens county citizen who was in Columbia this week, the former governor promptly stated that he had definitely decided the matter and was planning his campaign now, though he is not quoted as indicating his platform in any general terms.
