CREAMERY SHIPPING STATION ESTABLISHED

Greenwood Creamery Co., Cooperate With Farmers Around Due West To Establish Dairy Market

(W. C. McGowan.)

Saturday afternoon the farmers around Due West met in the Directors room of The Farmers and Merchants Bank at Due West with representatives of the Greenwood Creamery Company to consider the establishing of a creamery shipping station through which the farmers of the community might market their cream.

In a short talk by Mr. Allen of the creamery he stated that the average patron of the creamery who milks 4 cows and sells his cream is averaging about $30 or $35 a month income from his cream check. After a thorough discussion of the proposition it was decided to accept the Greenwood Creamery Company offer and to establish the plant and an organization was started whose purpose it is to encourage dairying and the keeping of dairy cattle as a means of fighting the boll weevil and providing a good cash income throughout the year.

The following committee was elected to direct the affairs of the association:

J. V. Pruitt, T. S. Ellis, W. A. King, E. W. Hagen, A. B. Leonard, J. R. McIlwaine.

The committee elected L. C. Galloway, president, T. S. Ellis, vice-president and O. Y. Brownlee secretary and treasurer.

The committee then requested the County Agent to draw up a plan of organization and outline some different work for the association. It was brought out at the meeting that by setting the milk in shallow crocks in a cool place that the cream would rise and milk soon clabber at which time the cream could be easily skimmed off. This cream is what the creamery desires, and it proposes to pay the highest market price per pound for butterfat.

The cream can be saved from Sunday's milk and added to the Monday's and Tuesday's milk for delivering Wednesday. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday's milk can be delivered Saturday.

The shipping station will open Wednesday afternoon, April 12, at Brownlee's store temporarily and be prepared to receive cream. A meeting is called for Saturday afternoon to which the ladies are especially invited at which time it is proposed to have some good talks about dairying.

County Agent's Note

The creamery shipping station is one of the best and most economical ways to get started in dairy business. And dairying is one of the most profitable sidelines possible for a farmer in this section as a man with four or five cows can make from $30 to $40 per month provided he grows his own feed.

I believe dairying will be a very important factor in agriculture in this county from now on and I believe it will be possible to establish other cream shipping stations in the county, especially in Abbeville.

I will be glad to assist any of the farmers who have cream to sell in securing a branch of a nearby creamery to locate here in Abbeville or any other promising community of the county.

NEGRO DESPERADO IS SHOT TO DEATH AT SUMTER

Sumter, Apr. 6.—Will Durant, negro desperado who escaped from the Florence county chain gang where he was serving a sentence for wrecking a Seaboard Air Line train last year, was shot to death by a posse of city policemen today while resisting arrest. Two weeks ago Durant shot two policemen who attempted to arrest him on the street at night. When surrounded in a negro house early today he came to the door armed with an automatic pistol. The policemen opened fire, riddling him with rifle bullets.

COTTON LETTER

Cotton presents a confusing appearance when effort is made to analyze its immediate direction, though the staple in our opinion is headed eventually for much higher prices. World conditions are improving steadily for progress towards the rehabilitation of the Eastern hemisphere and the re-establishment of normal conditions in Latin America will continue to be made. But in the present situation it is difficult to say what will take place next. Traders are as uncertain, in the main, as the old lady who couldn't decide from which end of the car to alight—and was carried past her station. That wasn't caution—it was confusion; it would be better to stop a moment, study the situation, and then act.

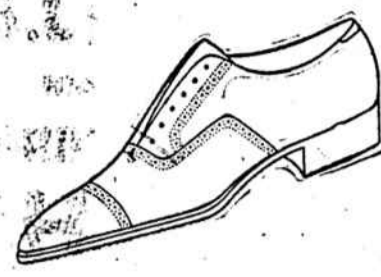

The strike of textile workers in New England is not to be overlooked as a factor in checking consumption. The strike has lasted seven weeks and many looms are idle. Mediation has failed. This, with the unwillingness of cotton goods buyers to enter the market except for current needs, is slowing the rate at which the visible supply is being reduced.

The Manchester situation is spotted. That is the best that can be said of it. The reports that come out of Liverpool are contradictory—not markedly so but sufficiently to indicate that mill owners in English spinning centers are not sure enough of their ground to take any pronounced position. The attention that the Genoa conference draws is less than it gave promise of when it projected. It is likely to prove only a historic mile stone.

The outlook for the new crop engages attention more and more. It is beginning to shape up. Fertilizer sales appear to have increased and in the eastern belt the weather has been more favorable. West of the Mississippi planting has been, it would seem, on a larger scale than had been expected but weather conditions in many parts of Texas have given rise to reports of a probable poor start for some of the crop. There already are reports of the appearance of boll weevil—suggesting that the pest has lost confidence in government estimates and is making its own survey of the ground to determine what food supplies it can count upon.

The difference between old and new crop months has been narrowing verifying the position taken in these reviews, July and October having absorbed 75 points or more of the difference that existed between them two months ago. The curtailment of trade outlets suggests that some of the cotton taken up in March—and to be taken up yet in May—will be retendered in July.

Despite the many uncertainties of the immediate market we adhere to the bullish attitude as respects the long pull in cotton and believe that new crop positions may be purchased cautiously on all good reactions. There is ground for uncertainty as regards tomorrow or next week, but there is no valid reason for pessimism with regard to autumn and winter trade conditions—and the cotton market should discount that improvement reasonably well in advance.

DEATH OF JOHN R. TEMPLE

John Roland Temple, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Temple, died at his home in Level Land Saturday, April 1, after suffering with pneumonia for two weeks. He was an unusually bright child loved by all who knew him. It was indeed sad to see his little friends as they gathered around his casket to see his pale face for the last time.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon by the Rev. J. M. Culbertson of Honea Path and interment followed at Little River church beneath a mound of flowers, carefully arranged by his school mates. He was a lover of flowers, and was often seen among them, planting and arranging them in his childish way. Some grew to bloom and were placed upon his grave. John Roland is survived by his parents, four brothers and a number of relatives and friends.—Contributed.
