From the Correspondent of the Bali. American. Washington, May 8.

As soon as the journal of yesterday's proceedings was read in the House of Representatives,

Mr. Lyon of Alabama, rose and announced the death of the Hon. Joab Lawler, a member of the House of Representatives from the State of Alabama Mr. Lawler has been ill but two or three days, and I believe was well and in attendance of his duties when the House adjourned on Thursday last. He died about 9 o'clock this morming of bilious pleurisy; the same disease which carried off your late Representative, Mr. McKim, which is still prevalent in the city, and which has carried off several citizens before this. The city is not very unhealthy, but almost every body is suffering with a severe cold.

After Mr. Lyon had concluded his eulogy upon the death of the deceased, the usual resolutions were offered to wear crape upon the left arm for thirty days, to attend the funeral from the Hall of the House of Representatives to-morrow at 12 o'clock, and to appoint a committee of arrangements to prepare the funeral obsequies.

The House adjourned on motion of Mr. Lyon, as soon as the resolutions were adopted. In Senate, as soon as the journal read, Mr. Franklin, the Clerk of the House, announced the death of Mr. Lawler, and the adoption of the House resolutions .-Whereupon,

Mr. King, of Alabama, delivered a brief and suitable eulogy upon the character of the deceased. Mr. L. he said, left a wife and children to mourn his loss. The resolutions were adopted, and the Senate adjourned over to to-morrow to attend the funeral. No public business will be transacted before Thursday next.

-LATE FROM FLORIDA.

By the Revenue Cutter Madison, Capt. Howard, from Havana 24th, Key West 28th ult. and Key Biscayne 3d inst. arrived at this port on Sunday last, we learn that Col. Harney of Fort King, having captured a squaw from whom he obtained the necessary intelligence has gone with a detachment of 160 dragoons and artillery to attack Sam Jones, who it will be remembered was driven to the pass along the Southern point of Florida about Key Largo. This expe-dition left Key Biscayne on Thursday the

The latest intelligence at Key Biscayane was that Aleck Hajo the Seminole Chief, who negociated with Gen. Jesup, and surrendered to him, had been shot with all his immediate followers, by order of Sam Jones, the Chief of the Mickasukies. This assassination is said very much to have exasperated the Seminoles, and we are told that many of them now beg our troops to allow them to remain and assist in exterminating their late allies, Sam Jones and the Mick-

FROM FLORIDA .- The Savannah Georgian of Monday last, contains extracts from a letter dated "Fort Mellon, East Florida, April 28," giving information of an expedition under Captain E. D. Ballock, in command of sixty dragoons.

Captain B. left Fort Mellon on the 21st April, and marched for Fort Taylor, on Lake Winder at the head of boat navigation on the St. John's-it having been evacuated in March. The large Cypress Swamp in its neighborhood being known to afford concealment to a large number of Indian families, it was Captain B's. object to take them by surprise.

After a tedious march, at sunrise on the third day, Capt. B. who was in advance of his men, discovered a warrior, whom he charged and struck to the ground. From him he learnt the position of four families, (amounting to 13 persons,) all of whom they succeeded in securing, with their rifles and pouches. After sunset they discovered the smoke of fires within the swamp, where many other families were encamped .-These he was not enabled to reach.

The circumstances related in the follow ing paragraph presents a new evidence of the necessity of legislation on the part of Congress, to protect the persons and pro-perty of travellers in steam boats.

From the Wheeling Gazette.

Disgraceful Outrage —We cannot find language sufficiently strong in which to express our opinion of a most rascally occurrence, which has just been related to us .-The steamers Ontario and Pioneer in coming up the river, came together about 130 miles this side of Cincinnati. The former, in attempting to pass the latter, we learn, ran into her, without doing any material injury. A short time afterwards in attempting again to pass, the pilot of the Pioneer, in order to return the compliment, ran into the Ontario, striking her near the steru, mashing in her guards, and killing one person, (a girl about 12 years of age,) and dangerously wounding two others, a lady and child. The pilot we understand isnamed George Bell.

Death of the chief Engineer of the Great Western.—The Coroner this morning held an inquest at the City Hospital, on the body of George Pearne, Chief Engineer of the steamer Great Western. The day after her arrival, while the steam was being let off, the deceased was badly scalded. He was conveyed to the Hospital, and was apparently recovering until Thursday evening, when he was attacked with vomiting, which continued with but littleintermission for several hours, in spite of every effort of his medical physicians to stop it, and even-tuated in his death. The deceased was a native of England, aged 45. A ventiet was returned in accordance with the above mentioned circumstances.

THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1838.

We are compelled this week to issue a small sheet, as from some cause or other, we have not received our supply of paper from Charleston.

See the Governor's Proclamation, summoning the Legislature to convene on the 28th instant.

We tender our thanks to the Hon. Mr. Rhett, for a copy of his speech upon the Cumberland Road Bill, delivered in the House of Representatives on the 19th of April last.

DESTRUCTION OF THE MOSELLE .- It is really almost enough to make one regret that steam was ever applied as a motive power, to read of such horrid disasters as the one of which we give some account from the Cincinnati Evening Post. Later accounts give the destruction of life at not less than 230 to 240.

On occasions of such great calamity as the fire of Charleston, it is indeed gratifying has burst from every portion of the country. There is but one feeling, and that is truly American. In these times of alienation, when in the strife of party, section is array- principally to the retail trade ed against section, and in the bitterness of the conflict, men, who for years have fought side by side, for the great principles of the union, are thrown into uncompromising opposition, it is pleasant indeed to see brother meet brother once more, and in all the kindness of fraternal sympathy, commingle their common sorrows and regrets at what is felt by all to be a common calamity .-The North, the South, the East and West. in a spirit, honorable and liberal. This is as matters should be. Never does man appear more noble and elevated than when engag ed in the dispensations of charity to the poor and unfortunate. The heart that is steeled against its calls, is poor indeed; and whatever may be its fancied enjoyments, after all it may be said, that it knows nothing of life in its highest and purest exercises.

[Communicated.] Mr. Editor—Permit me, through your colhe Edgefield Baptist Association, that the publisting committee of that body have procured, for their use, several copies of the excellent work, entitled Mammon, or Covetousness the sin of the Christian Church. This is a prize essay, which has gone through twenty editions in London, and three in this country. I do most heartdon, and three in this country. The same committee have also procured several copies of the Philosophy of Benerolence, a work that is possessed of very great merit, and adapted to more popular use than the above. Its general perusal will promote the best interests of the community, and its benevolent principles carried out into active life, would greatly salt the standard of piety, and increase the joys of Christians. NOTES FROM THE JOURNAL OF A

TRAVELLER.
In one of my rambles not long since in New In one of my rambles not long since in New Orleans, I visited the Catholic cemetery. This is spread over several acres of ground, enclosed by a high brick wail, in which are receptacles for the dead. The burial ground is laid out in numerous plots, imersected by walks, and on the surface of the earth all the graves are built, either in brick or stone. In one tomb I counted twenty four graves, only one of which was closed indicating that the proceeds which was closed, indicating that the mortal remains of some person, were there deposited. As I of some person, were there deposited. As I suddenly came upon it, I was filled with awe, almost amounting to terror. Some of the tombs are handsome and even magnificent. I remember one which was enclosed by black iron railings, the catrance into which was by a gate. Weeping willows bung gracefully over the marble tomb, on which was traced the touching inscription of affection, and beautiful flowers bloomed and shed their grateful fragrance over the dead. I reposed on a neighboring tomb-stone, and copied some inscriptions most beautiful in sentiment and language. Here he, not side by side, but in the immediate vicinity of the cach other, natives of surny France and the leach other, natives of surny France and the learned like. Whatever jealousies and what-ever unkindly feelings may, in former days, have filled their bosons, are now bushed forever in this their last place of rest. As I thought o my distant bonne, a feeling of deep sadness came over me. Could it be possible that I might ne-ver return to it! I hastened from the spot, and in a 6 w moments was in the midst of bustle, and in sight of the noble Mississippi.

From the Charleston Courier. THE GREAT RAIL ROAD.—The following extract of a letter, from a highly respectable source, gives additional evidence of the fine spirit, which has been awakened in Tennes see, on the subject of this great entemprise:

"KNOXVILLE, April 24: 1838. "I am gratified to inform you that our citizens have not failed to meet the call for the second instalment of stock, with landable fidelity, as you will see from the Commissioner's report, which will reach you with this. Not one share has been forfeited at this place. This result has exceeded my most sanguine expectations, and, although the number of shares held is not great. has created a feeling of proud satisfaction among citizens, which they should be parbeen published showing the progressive in doned in indulging. TALLAHASSEE, April 23. Fatal Rencountre .- On the 18th inst. as Mr. Howell More was proceeding to his work, a short distance from his residence, he was attacked by three persons, to wit: Thomas E. Turner, his son Thomas Turner, and his son-in-law Abram Bleach.— When Mr. More came opposite their place of concealment, the elder Turner arose and snapped his gun at him, which fortunately missed fire. A struggle ensued between the three, in which the elder Turner was seriously wounded in the side, and his sonin-law mortally wounded in the lower abdomen. The son then fled. Mr. More recrived several blows on his head with sticks, but was not seriously injured. Bleach died on the 23d. The father and son have been arrested Mr. More is represented as a penceable and worthy man. The affray arose from an old grudge.

Having been flattered by the fond delusion of friends, into the belief that she was recovering from a dangerous illness, she was suddenly apprised that her hour was at hand; then, without a second thought about herself, she began to admonish her friends, as they anxiously gathered around her dying bed. ## PROCLAMATION.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

By His Excellency PIERCE M. BUTLER, Esquire, Governor and Commander-inef, in and over the State.

THE recent Fire in Charleston, has laid waste 145 acres of the most populous part of the City-has destroyed buildings and their contents, valued between three and four millions of dollars-has deprived great numbers of industrious men of the means of re-instating their property prostrated in the common devastation. It has greatly injured all the Insurance Offices, and rendered bankrupt others in the State, (the amount of property insured elsewhere being comparatively small.) It has deprived the bank debtors not only of the means of paying their present debts but of procuring future loans and facilities, now more than ever, greatly needed, and in many cases absolutely indispensable to save the unfortunate debtor from utter destruction. It has put to bazard the ultimate success of our great national improvement the western rail road, and the domestic importing company; and with these, it threatens to jeopardise the future prosperity and the high character and standing of the State which has so nobly patronised these wise and extensive schemes of public improvemest. Under these circumstances, the late misfortune assumes decidedly not a partial and local, but a general national aspect. In various ways it will be felt, and severely felt, throughout the whole State; for the beneficial influence of Charleston is & ought to be felt in every part of South Carolina, and the partial prostration of our metropolis is the partial prostration of our whole country, affecting in some way or other all its commercial and agricultural pursuits.-I have personally and by letter anxiously consulted a great number of our intelligent citizens in every part of the State, on the propriety of convening an extra session of the Legislature, to consider of the steps necessary to be taken in the present emergency, if any interference on the part of the State should be deemed necessary; a question, which in my opinion, the Legislature alone ought finally to determine. Of the citizens consulted on the present occasion, many wise and worthy men deem an extrasession of the Legislature unadvisable: but the great weight of opinion transmitted to me, is in favor of the measure. It is to our Legislature, that our people look on all occasions of difficulty for advice and relief .--We are accustomed to rely implicitly on the wisdom and sympathy of that respected body of men. Leaving all questions of constitutional jurisdiction, and all considerations of public expediency, to be decided as they ought to be by the representatives of the people, together with all questions as to the propriety and extent of relief, I think it my bounden duty on the present occasion, to call a meeting of the Legislature of Soura Carolina, at Columbia, to deliberate on and to determine such questions as the emergency may require.

Now, know ye, that I, PIERCE M. BUTLER, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the State aforesaid, deeming it a duty imposed on the Executive by the Constitution in such case to convene the Legislature of the State, do hereby convene the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina, and summon the memhers of the Senate and House of Representatives to meet in their respective Halls, at Columbia, on Monday, the 28th May instant, to consider of such matters as may then and there be submitted to them, and afford such relief as in their wisdom may be e aducive to the interest and welfare of the

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the State to be affixed, this eleventh day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight, and in the sixty second year of the Independence of the U. States of America,

CATAWBA SPRINGS,

LINCOLN COUNTY, N. CAROLINA.

THE Proprietor of this Establishment gives notice, that he is repairing and fitting it up at considerable expense, and in a superior style, and will have it ready for the reception of company by the 20th of May. It is situated on the great Eastern and West-ern Line of Stages, from Salisbury via. Lincolaton to Asheville, &c. (a stage passing there every day in the week but one). The country around is broken and proverbially healthy, and besides the mineral properties of the water, there are many inlucements to turn the attention of invalids and others towards this place. Its proximity to the lower country—the cheapness of living—the excellence of the neighboring society-the abundance of game, and the rich field afforded to science, especially to mineralogy and botany, are facts not to be overlooked by the travelling world. But it is in the mineral qualities of the Springs that the great attraction to this spot consists. The proprietor has no exaggerated lists of cures to present to the public, for he has just taken possession, nor would be deem it a compliment either to the good taste or sagacity of the public, to present such if he had them. But he has the assurance of some of the most scientific physicians and chemists, to the rare and valuable properties of these Springs. In 1824, Professor Olm-sted, (now of Yale College) made a strict analysis of this water, and pronounces its foreign ingredients to be : Sulphuretted Hydrogen, Sulphate of Lime, Sulphate of Magnesia, Muriate of Lime.

For a more extended statement see his Geological Report of North Carolina, authorized by Act of Assembly, pages 129-30. Space will not permit us to add the very flattering remarks of this gentleman. but any one at all acquainted with the subject cannot help perceiving the peculiar adaptation of these minerals to the disorders that prevail at the South.

The Proprietor can only superadd his determination to meet patronage by an unflinch ing attention to the wants, wishes and comforts of his visiters. The Springs are now, and will be throughout the year, open for the accommodation of travellers.
