We proceeded slowly, observing the struc-the various crystalline formations of earbohandred yards. Here we found our course interrupted by a steep, rocky descent that la just before us. We boked over, but our views were limit d by thick darkness, we threw down rocks but could only hear them plunge into deep water. The noise of a running stream, gargling among the rocks faintly fell upon the ear and then died away in the distant part of the cave,

Our guide told us that we might venture down with perfect safety, and go out on the other side of the hill; but as our lights were growing short, we concluded we would Never was it received with more joyfulness of heart. It is situated on the great Eastern and West ern Line of Stages, from Salisbury via. Lincol ton to Asheville, &c. (a stage passing there every day in the week but one). The country around is broken and proverbially healthy, and besides the minera ows, to whom pensions have been granted properties of the water, there are many inducements to turn the attention of invalids and others towards this place. Its proximity to the lower country-the cheapness Abigail Sailsbury, aged 100, widow of of hving-the excellence of the neighboring society-the abundance of game, and the rich field afforded to science, especially to mineralogy and botany, are facts not to be private of Col. Walker's regiment, married overlooked by the travelling world. But t is in the mineral qualities of the Springs that the great attraction to this spot consists The proprietor has no exaggerated lists of cures to present to the public, for he has just taken possession, nor would be deem it a compliment either to the good taste or sagacity of the public, to present such if he had them. But he has the assurance of some of the most scientific physicians and chemists, to the rare and valuable properties of these Springs. In 1824, Professor Olm-sted, (now of Yale College) made a strict analysis of this water, and pronounces its foreign ingredients to be: Sulphuretted Hydrogen, Sulphate of Line, Sulphate of Mag nesia. Mariate of Lime. For a more extended statement see his Geological Report of North Carolina, authorized by Act of Assembly, pages 129-30. Space will not permit us to add the very flattering remarks of this gentleman. but any one at all acquainted with the subjeet cannot help perceiving the peculiar a dap ation of these minerals to the disorders that prevail at the South.

The Proprietor can only superadd his determination to meet patronage by an unflinch ing attention to the wants, wishes and comforts of his visiters.

The Springs are now, and will be through out the year, open for the accommodation
