THE Classical Department of this Institution will for the ensuing year, be under the direction of Mr. Wm. C. Moragne, a graduate of the South Carolina College, and at present one of the popular teachers of the Greenwood Academy in Abbeville District. The attainments of this gentleman in Classical learning, his experience in the art of teaching, and in the preparations of young gentlemen for admission into College, are qualifications which recommend him to the Trustees of this Institution, and entitle him to the confidence and patronage of the public. The Academy building is situated in a retired grove, at a convenient distance from the Village, is surrounded by a substantial fence, and has every advantage which a quiet retreat, shade, and good water, can impart. Miles' compound Extract of TOMATO, A SUBSTITUTE FOR CALOMEL.

FROM the well known and established reputation of Calomel, it has been long employed by the empiric, and scientific physician, as one of the most powerful agents for the removal of disease. By the former, almost every kind has been deluged with nostrums, that their authors claimed as specific in every disease incident to the human family. The folly of these pretensions needs no comment; for accurate chemical investigation has shown, that the base of most of the Panaceas, Cathartics, &c., which have been trumpeted before the community, with so much assurance, is Calomel, or mercury in some form. Now, if this potent article, even in the hands of the most skillful physician, frequently exerts an influence on the human system, unforeseen, and entirely beyond the control of art; undermining the constitution, and bringing on premature old age, disease and death, what result should be expected when prescribed by the ignorant? Could their many thousand victims speak, a voice from the tomb would soon dispel the 'specific' delusion that now sways the minds of the living.

Human physicians deplore the sad evils resulting from the mercurial practice, and will gladly hail the introduction of an article that can safely be substituted for Calmel. They feel that keenly, the great uncertainty of its primary operation; they cannot say whether it will be favourable or unfavorable. They also know and feel, that if its use is continued for any considerable time, injurious secondary consequences must certainly follow. But they must choose the least of two evils: they know no other article that will arouse a torpid liver, remove obstruction, and set in free action the whole glandular system, and it being indispensably necessary to do this, they continue its use, notwithstanding the evil consequences which follow.

They have long desired and sought an article that would produce the good effects of this drug, without subjecting the patient to its deleterious results. Such a desideratum, it is believed, has at length been obtained, in the article now presented to the public.

The proprietors of this article keeping in view the fact, that a rise and benighted Being has placed within the reach of all, remedies adapted to the diseases incident to the climate they inhabit; and knowing likewise, that most of the diseases of the UNITED STATES are based upon organic or functional derangement of the liver; directed their attention to those articles which act more especially on the biliary organs.

After long, laborious, and expensive research, they have succeeded in extracting a substance from the TOMATO, which, from its peculiar effect upon the hepatic or biliary organs, they have denominated Hepatine. It is a medicine that will produce all the beneficial results of Calomel, in both acute and chronic diseases, without the possibility of producing the deleterious consequences common to that article. Its action upon the constitution is universal, no part of the system escaping its influence. It is, however, upon the organs of secretion and excretion, that its great power is particularly manifested, hence it is peculiarly adapted to the treatment of bilious fevers and other diseases in which a torpidity or congestion of the liver and portal circle prevails.

It is admissible in all cases where it is necessary to cleanse the stomach, and bowels; it removes obstruction, and excites a quick and healthy action of the liver and other glandular visera of the abdomen. Being diffusible in its operation, it produces a free circulation in the vessels on the surface of the body, accompanied by a gentle perspiration. It does not exhaust like drastic purges; still, its action is more universal, and may often be repeated, not merely with safety but with great benefit. This becomes indispensably necessary in cases of long standing; for in them intense temporary impressions made by strong medicines, seldom, if ever, do good; but tend to injure the stamina of the constitution.

It is cleansing and purifying to the system, acts in perfect harmony with the known laws of life, and is undoubtedly one of the most valuable articles ever offered for public trial and inspection.

For convenience, this medicine is formed into 3 grain pills. The white pills are cathartic, alterative, diaphoretic, and diuretic. The yellow pills are tonic, stimulant, and diaphoretic. As a family medicine, one which may be resorted to with safety, and relied on with certainty, in the first stages of disease in almost any form, it exceeds all former discoveries in medicine, either from the vegetable or mineral kingdoms.

They are put up in packages of 135 grains, or 45 Pills, at 50 cents, or 100 pills at $1. The above Medicine, just received and for sale at the Edgefield Medicine Store. July 11, 1839 if 23
