published in the Southern States. The proprietors thus appeal to our fair country women, for their support, to whom none ever appealed in vain :

"To the ladies we most especially appeal for aid. In other sections of our country they are foremost in fostering and promoting every liberal enterprize, and it is to them that the country is indebted for much of the moral enlightenment that characterises the age. Will not the fair daughters of the south lend their countenance and support to the Mirror."

Magnolia.-We have before us the April number of this valuable periodical, and in order to do justice to it, we feel it our duty to recommend it to the support of the lovers of Literature, as a publication which ought to be nourished, and not suffered to droop, and die, as most of our Southern works of the kind has done. We hope shortly to hear of the Magnolia being one of the favorite Literary Flowers, of the Southern region. The contents of this number consists of pieces on various subjects, in prose and verse, entirely original.

Destructive Fire at North Bend .- Scarcely a week has elapsed (says the National Intelligencer,) since we assisted in paying Funeral Honors to the memory of Gen. Harrison, and we receive information that the Mausion in which he resided, the abode of his family-the house which had known him but was to "know him no more"has been destroyed by fire! Truly now is his family "without a home." The following is all the account we have of this last calamity:

From the Cin Republican Extra, April 12. Fire at North Bend .- The Captain of the steamer New York reports that when he passed North Bend, at 6 o'clock last night, the West Wing of the Mansion House of Gen. Harrison was on Fire-the roof was covered with persons with axes and buckets of water-the windows of the house was taken out, and the furniture had all been removed out upon the green in front of the house. The Captain thinks the main building will be saved.

The Mail Boat has not arrived-perhaps detained on account of the above. Upon the above printed note is added the news brought by "the Mail Boat," in few words: "Burnt to the ground."]-1b.

POST OFFICE, WHEELING, (Va.) Apr. 14. We learn by this mornings mail from the West, that the residence of Gen. Harrison, ..t North Benci, Ohio, was burned to the gruond on Sunday night last, the 11th L. S. DELAPLAIN, instant. Assistant P. M.

The Fire at North Bend .- We are glad to learn by the Cincinnati papers received this morning, that the injury to the Man-sion House at North Bend, as reported yesterday, was greatly exaggerated. The Cincinnati Gazette of Thursday says:

"Great uneasiness was caused in this city yesterday morning, by a report that Gen Harrison's dwelling house, at Northvious afternoon. Direct information, however, arrived before noon, and quieted all apprehensions. The building was on fire, but only the upper story of the west wing sustained any material damage. The roof and this were destroyed, but without, we understand, the loss of any furniture, or seriously inconveniencing the afflicted fumily."-Balt. Patriot.

late meeting in St. John's. Coileton. The bonorable gentleman, after giving his own views, refers the committee who addressed him, to the language of the late President, and Mr. Tyler, for his answer:

COLUMBIA, April 14, 1841. . "Sir, I have had the honor to receive your note inclosing the proceedings of a meeting of "the inhabitants of St. John's, Colleton." That portion of the proceedings which purports to be founded on a rumor concerning my sentiments and position in the Senate of the United States, concludes with a categorical question, whether I intend to vote for a charter of a U. S. Bank.

"The reinstitution of a United States Bank presents a very complex question, both of principle and detail, and must in my judgment, depend on a careful consideration of a vast variety of circumstances, existing at the moment it is proposed. Its very constitutionality must depend upon the actual condition of the country-and were even that conceded, the organization presents so many important difficulties. that it would be unsafe to venture on any conclusion, until a definite and complete project be presented.

The amount of capital-the mode of obtaining the capital—the place where the bank is to be established—its management and control-and, above all, the financial emergencies of the country at the moment when it is proposed-each and all of them exact a grave and cautious deliberation.

" In advance, therefore, I can answer the interrogatory propounded, only by announcing the general principle on which I stand -and this I beg leave to do in the language of our late lamented President, and of the acting President, as contained in answer of the latter to a similar question put to him during the late Presidential canvass.

· In reply to the first branch of your in quiry." (said Mr. Tyler.) " I quote and adopt the language of Gen. Harrisen, in his speech delivered at Dayton. "There is not in the Constitution, any express grant of power for such purpose, and it could never be constitutional to exercise that power, save in the event the powers granted brand would command 11 cents. to Congress could not be carried into effect without resorting to such an institution .-The Constitution confers on Congress in express terms, 'all powers which are ne cessary and proper to carry into effect the granted powers." Now if "the powers granted" could not be carried into effect and putoff at fair prices. without incorporating a bank, then it becomes "necessary and proper," and of course expedient-a conclusion which I served, and kept beneficially in operation. " I have only to add that the creative necessity should be palpable and overruling.

I have the honor to be, Most respectfully, your obd't. serv't.

SOLEMN PROVIDENCE.

"Cut down and withered in an hour!" The Boston Atlas of Saturday morning contained the following notice of the intended voyage of its editor, Major Haughton to Europe:

"Mr. Haughton, the proprietor and senior editor of this journal, will sail in the Acadia this afternoon, for Liverpool. During his absence, he will leave the editorial department of the Atlas under the sole charge of Dr. Thomas M. Brewer, junior editor. The business transactions of the office will also be conducted by Dr. Brewer, as his authorised agent and attorney." The Boston Mercantile Journal of Saturday afternoon contained the following melancholy announcement:

" Death of Richard Haughton !- We have this day a melancholy duty to percontemporary, Richard Haughton, of this city, the editor and proprietor of the Boston Atlas. At about 12 o'clock, while Mr. Haughton was making arrangements for his departure, and apparently in the possession of as much health as he had enoyed for some months past, he was sud denly attacked with illness, probably apoplexy, and immediately expired.

"Mr. Haughton was well known as an able editor. In industry and enterprise, he has seldom been equalled-his political kno vledge was very extensive, and under his direction, the Atlas has exercised a great influence in matters connected with our state and national governments, for several years.

"Mr. Haughton had many warmly attached personal as well as political friends, for he possessed many qualities honorable to human nature-and his sudden and premature death, he being only about fortyfive years old, will carry sorrow to many a manly bosom."

Major Haughton was originally destined for orders in the Episcopal Church, and his studies were directed to that end. But he very early showed an inclination for a political life, and during the latter years of Mr. Monroe's administration he edited a paper in Washington called the National Republican. It was in the interest of Mr. Calhoun, when with him Messrs. Crawford. Adams and Clay, were aspirants for the Presidentship. The National Republican died during the administration of Mr. Adams, and in 1828 Major H. came to New York, and was for a period employed as an assistant in the office of the Journal of Commerce. Herce he removed to Boston, where he established the Atlas, about nine years ago. He was a gentleman of very respectable talents and great enterprize-but an imprudent politician.

It may be noted as a striking coincidence, that the Atlas, on the very moining of the most unexpected death of its editor, but a few hours before its occurrence, contained a dirge beginning-

Weep! for the word is spoken-Mourn! for the knell is knolled-The master chord is broken, And the muster hand is cold.

True, the "word" had already been spoken." and before the sun was down the master hand" was "cold."-N. Y.

Collector at Boston .- The President has appointed Levi Lincoln, late Governor of Massachusetts, and a member of the next Congress, Collector of the Port of Boston. This is the first instance under the present Administration, of the appointment of a Mr. Preston .- The following is the Hon. | Member of Congress to an office of mere Wm. C. Preston's letter in response to the emolument. We trust it may be the last. It is perfectly right and proper for the President to go into Congress for his Cabinet. There he may be expected to find men of more experience in public affairs, and better fitted for his constitutional advisers than any where else. But for an office of profit alone, a representative of the people should never be selected; and the member who accepts such a post, abandons the trust reposed in him by his constituents, and manifests a dereliction of duty that ought to preclude his appointment to any office. The people have honored him with their confidence, and chosen him to guard their interests. He cannot discharge himself of the obligation, for a mere matter of dollars and cents, without dishonor .- N. Y. Her.

> The following boast of a Whig paper shows that in Virginia the Whigs consider Mr. Tyler as opposed to a National Bank. -Charleston Courier.

> We really commiserate the situation of the loco foco stump demagogues and pot house politicians in the South. The death of Gen. Harrison has rendered them bankrupt, by depriving them of all political capital. John Tyler is now president of the United States, and it would require more than even loco foco effrontery, to tell a Virginia audience that they had aught to fear from him, on the subject of Abolition, the Tariff, the Bank, the assumption of State debts, &c. What then can these declaimers go upon? Will they declare war in advance upon his administration? We believe the opposition party of Virginia is too just and generous to adopt this unman-ly and unpatriotic course. The vast maority of it will rather wait the issue of events—give him a fair trial—and judge of his acts in a calm and unprejudiced manner .- Fred Arena.

ABBEVILLE

HIS ESTABLISHMENT is now in complete order for the reception of visitors, and is extensively provided with every ac-commodation and comfort which persons in search of health or recreation, can desire. Mr. and Mrs. Lawhow, who are charged with its superintendance, are eminently qualified to give satisfaction, and the Directors can promise that as good a table and as clean and com-modious rooms will be furnished, as are to be had at any watering place in the United States. These Springs are situated in a healthy and ro-mantic region in the North Western corner of Abbeville District, near the Anderson line, and the place is as perfectly exempted from autumnal fevers as any place in our Mountains. The waters are confidently believed to be equal to any in the United States, in all cases of chronic disease of the liver and other glands, and of chronic inflammation in any part of the system —in cases of dispepsia and sick head ache they have been singularly efficacious, having invariably given relief whenever adequately tried. In these cases they may be almost considered a specific, as well as in diseases of the skin and orinary organs. A Hack will be regularly run during the season from Abheville C. H., which is 24 miles distant, to carry passengers coming to that place in the Stage.

BY THE DIRECTORS.

I hereby certify from personal observation, that the water of the Abbeville Mineral Springs is singularly serviceable in all cases of chronic inflammation and glandular obstructions. It does not appear to possess any highly stimulating or direct tonic properties, but imparts tone to the whole system indirectly by its wonderful effect in wearing out inflammation, and in correcting the secretions of all the glands of the body. A few Summers ago, I sent a patient to the Springs labouring under chronic gastretis, which I found very difficult to treat to advantage. age, and to my surprise the case was speedily cured by the use of the water alone. Subsequently to the above case, I sent another pa tient to the Springs who was reduced very low by aterine obstruction and chronic inflamma tion, with a pulse up to about 120 beats in the minute; she was soon entirely restored to health, by a light diet and the use of the water without any Medicine whatever.
A. B. ARNOLD, M. D.

Lowndsville, S. C., April 3d, 1841.

I hereby certify from personal experience that the Abbeville Mineral Springs Waters are excellent for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints -I was taken there in the last stages of Dys pepsis end Liver Complaint, when given out of all hopes of living, both by my relations and several Physicians who had attended me- I stayed at the Springs six or seven weeks each year for three years, and now I am able to attend to the most of my domestic affairs. I consider the Abbeville Mineral Springs preferable to any of the East Tennessee Waters, for I had fried them well previous to attending the above said Springs.
