

In presenting for the consideration of the House of Representatives of the United States, a petition praying the dissolution of the Union, has been offered the deepest indignity to the House of which he is a member...

Resolved further, That the aforesaid J. Q. Adams, for this insult, the first of the kind ever offered to the government, and for the wound which he has permitted to be aimed, through his instrumentality, at the Constitution and existence of his country...

The correspondent of the Charleston Mercury says:—At the close of the reading of the resolutions there was a spontaneous burst of applause on the floor, and in the galleries.

Mr. Adams spoke for half an hour in reply; and, though declining to go generally into his defence until he ascertained whether the House would entertain the resolutions, he insisted on the propriety of his course, and the right of the petitioners to make known their grievances and demand redress.

Without concluding, Mr. Wise yielded to a motion for adjournment, which was carried. It is hardly possible to conjecture what will be the result of the debate commenced to day; but be that as it may, it is true that the controversy was settled, and that the South knew what she has to expect.

From the Plough Boy. TO PLANT IRISH POTATOES. Dig or plow the ground well, run it off into drills 2 inches apart, and one inch deep, plant the sets 2 inches apart, and cover them an inch deep, leaving the ground after planting smooth, take wheat straw and cover the ground all over to the depth of a foot or eighteen inches, they will come up through the straw, and do well, requiring no working, the production will be double or treble, those planted in the common way.

From the Plough Boy. MR. EDITOR.—I have observed in a late number of the Temperance Advocate, published at Columbia, (S. C.) a communication from a gentleman of Fairfield, Dr. J. B. Davis, when, independent of the respectable source from which it comes, is I think entitled to the most favorable consideration of every planter in the Cotton growing region.

That Cotton may be substituted for hemp in the manufacture of bagging, I presume no one can doubt after reading the article referred to; and that it ought to be substituted for hemp, let a few statistical facts decide.

Assume that the average Cotton crop in the United States is 1,600,000 bags per annum, which, allowing 5 yards to the bag, will require 8,000,000 yards—and allow (2) pounds to the yard, 16,000,000 pounds of Cotton, or in round numbers, about 46,000 bags of 350 pounds each, will be consumed in the manufacture. The Cotton thus consumed, at 6 cents per pound, will be worth $2,760,000, for which a permanent market will be created at the doors of the producer; and supposing the bagging to be worth 20 cents per yard, $1,600,000 will go into the pockets of the manufacturers at home, instead of being sent abroad to enrich the coffers of the growers and manufacturers of hemp.

It may however be said by the superficial objector, that after all, the creation of a permanent home market for 46,000 bags of Cotton, in addition to that which already exists, is no great object; but such a remark I apprehend would not be founded either in philosophy or common sense. To say nothing of the vast importance to the Cotton growing region that the planters should be, what they emphatically ought to be, independent of the world so far as concerns all the appliances necessary to the production, and preparation for market, of the raw material; it should be remarked that the manufacturer of bagging from Cotton would naturally lead to the manufacture of rope, which in cost is nearly or quite equal to one-fourth the cost of the bagging. In addition to this, most of the rope and cord used, for the various other commercial and agricultural purposes, and also the millions of yards of heavy cloth used for sacks, canvases, &c. might be manufactured of Cotton.

If the system be once adopted of using Cotton for all the purposes for which it may be well used as hemp, it is not an extravagant calculation to say that an additional home market of 100,000 bags will be created in the midst of the Cotton region.

I propose in a future number to return to the subject more in detail, but in the mean time allow me to commend the article of Dr. Davis to the serious consideration of every planter and manufacturer in the Cotton region, and especially to the enterprising proprietors of the various Factories, in our own districts. Let them make a fair trial of the article, and if as I confidently believe will be the case, the Cotton bagging shall be found to answer all the purposes of hemp, let every planter make it a point of honor to use nothing else. What little influence or patronage I may have, though it be as humble as the widows mite, I hereby pledge to the success of an enterprise so noble in its purposes, and so beneficial in its consequences to the Southern planter.

ARATOR. HAMBURG MARKET. Wednesday Evening, Jan. 26.

Cotton.—The article continues to come in slowly, if a comparison may be made with our usual business, although the streets are considerably thronged with produce wagons. Today there is something over three hundred bales in, among which is a parcel from Georgia. The quality generally is inferior, but sells readily at 5 1/2 to 8 cts. A strictly choice lot would command from 8 1/2 to 9 cts., Carolina mottos. Upon the whole, we cannot alter last week's quotations, as there appears to be but little change in prices since then.

Groceries, &c.—We have no alteration to notice in the Grocery line—prices remain as at our last revision, except the article of Flour, which is getting scarce, and would bring from 6 1/2 to 7 1/2 dollars. (Country) according to quality.

OBITUARY.

Departed this life on Wednesday Morning last, the 12th ult., in Barnwell District, S. C. Mrs. SARAH YOUNG WARD, aged 67 years, consort of Mr. E. W. Ward, and daughter of the late James Lamar. We intend obituary or panegyric on the deceased, but what she strictly merited. We call on all those acquainted with her, and those who knew her best, to test every word that we say. In her household duties, persevering and untiring, always laboring for the comfort and interest of all. No needy supplicant ever left her hospitable abode with empty hands or a heavy heart. It was her characteristic always to relieve, comfort, and help, wherever it was needed. Her toils are now ended, and her precious remains rest in the Baptist Church enclosure at Aiken—a spot that will ever be revered and hallowed by all her relations and friends.

Oh Aiken! thou contain'st a treasure; No word was ever more true.

FARMER'S HOTEL.

EDWARD C. H. S. C. THE FARMER'S HOTEL, having rented the establishment formerly occupied by Mr. A. B. Addison, has fitted it up for the accommodation of transient and permanent boarders.

The Hotel is near the Courthouse, in a very pleasant situation, and he flatters himself that his table will bear a comparison with any in this section of the country. Good stabling and attentive servants are provided, and in fact every thing that can be done on his part to render travellers and boarders comfortable, will be attended to.

He is prepared to accommodate two or more families with board, and from the well known health and good society of this Village, families will find it a desirable summer residence. His charges in all instances will be made to correspond with the times.

PROSPECTUS FOR THE SECOND VOLUME OF THE Southern Botanic-Medical JOURNAL.

THE publication of this Journal will be continued—the Second Volume commencing on the 1st of January, 1842. It will be issued in numbers of sixteen pages each, three times a month—on the first, tenth and twentieth—instead of the first and fifteenth, as hitherto; thus furnishing our Subscribers with the same amount of matter, and saving them about half the postage. It will continue to be the uncompromising advocate of the principles and practice of the Thomsonian system, which tends, as we believe, to the best temporal interests of the human family, in instructing them in the art of preserving health and prolonging life; and will, we trust, contribute its share in the progressive march of Medical reformation now taking such rapid strides in every section of our beloved country. Our best energies shall be devoted to render it one of the most useful and entertaining publications of the kind now publishing.

Subscription price for a single copy, Three Dollars; for two or more copies, ordered at one time, Two Dollars and Fifty Cents.

Any person forwarding the names of Ten new subscribers, and Twenty-five Dollars, (current money,) shall receive the eleventh copy for his services.

No paper will in any instance, be sent without payment in advance. This rule will be strictly adhered to.

All communications of a business nature to be addressed to the Proprietor, and all communications intended for publication to be addressed to H. Lec, M. D., Editor.

No Letter will be taken from the office unless the postage is paid, or the letter franked.

ALFRED BROOKS, Proprietor. Forsyth, (Ga.) 1841.

PROSPECTUS, FOR THE FOURTH VOLUME OF THE MAGNOLIA.

THE December number closes the 31 volume of this periodical, and in calling the attention of our friends to a new volume, it is our happiness to state, that having overcome, in some measure, the difficulties incident to the transfer of our work from the interior to this city, and other changes, we are now enabled to assure our subscribers that the "Magnolia" is placed upon a permanent foundation—its circulation is established, and its continuance secured. To effect this more certainly, one-half of the work has been disposed of, under such terms and contracts as will essentially subserve its interests.—It will, hereafter, be issued in an enlarged form, having a monthly addition of 16 pages, handsomely printed on superior paper, making, at the close of the year, a volume of nearly 800 double columned pages. It will be punctually issued, positive arrangements to that effect have been made with the publisher, and the many hindrances which have hitherto impeded its progress having been overcome. In addition to the usual contributions from eminent writers the Editor has pleasure in saying, that he will be assisted in the literary department by some gentlemen whose aid will greatly enhance the value of the periodical, and impart additional interest to its pages. It is the desire of the Editor to make the "Magnolia" a standard popular Magazine, and to accomplish this, he is determined to devote to it every energy, in order to mark it worthy of the patronage of the friends of Southern literature. To such he presents his claims, confident that the growing reputation of the work; and the peculiar advantages under which it will hereafter be issued, will lead them to sustain, by liberal subscriptions, a periodical whose intrinsic value is now so much increased.

Terms for the enlarged volume, the same as for the former, $5 a year, in advance.

Editors, to whom the "Magnolia" is sent, are respectfully requested to insert this Prospectus.

Spruagh Geo. Dec. 11.
