you, his to the Mast High; that you beloiumptuously assumed to judge, had seemte Judgmeot, and hung around and of torturing recollections, from well make you exclaim, "I have a no peace." It is a part of the beau-At harmony of God's providence, that he stings of guilt form a portion of the daily and hourly punishment which pursues the man of blood, from the moment of his crime, and thus furnish aid to the imperfection of human tribunals. As you can have no hope of escape from the pun ishment which these are about to inflict, and which will close your career in this world, let me implore you to banish from your mind all other thoughts than those which arise out of a habitual contemplation of the change that awaits you, and the terrible event which has brought it about. When, by thorough self-exami ation, and deep and continual reflection. you have brought your mind to a full sense of your great transgression, and its consequences to yourself and others, approach the throne of Grace with an humble and Contrite spirit.

Engage the services of these holy Ministers of Religion, whose province and pleasure it is to aid the sinner in his struggles for salvation, and whose earnest efforts, with your own unceasing prayers. mer prepare your mind for the reception of the Great truths of religion, and, as we believe, may implant a hope of final restoration to the favor of your Maker. That such may be the happy issue of those ex ertions, which it behooves you to make is my sincere PRATER.

It now appears that young Spencer, while the vessel was on the coast of Africa, procured a large quantity of Spanish knives, intended only for murder, were found secreted on the persons of the confederates; and further, that the arrangement for the mutiny and for the aid of a "confederate," at the Isle of Pines, were also made on the coast of Africa. Further, it appears that on the 1st of December, when the ention took place, the vessel's crew was far from being in a state of quiet, as has been avowed, that the officers had lost all command over the ship, and that the crew were in a state of deep and violent agitation and excitement, bordering upon open mutiny, which would on have broken out, had not the officers denined to execute the three ringleaders. On reading it, a friend present, observed that it was a matter of regret that the importation had not been received, for there was such a "plentiful searcity of deaths." in this section of country, that the votaries of Esculapius could not possibly be supplied with the requisite quantity of subjects. A refereuce to our weekly hills of mortality will prove that there is much truth in the remark:

Interesting Exportation of Dead Bodies. -Yesterday morning a barrel was carted down to the brig Moon. a Charlesion Packet, lying at the foot of Pine-street, directed to Garvin & Havnes, Augusta, Ga . care of M. Martin, Charleston, S. Carolina. The captain of the vessel suspecting that all was not right, in relation to the eask, had it opened, and it was found to contain two female bodies one a white woman, about 25 years old, the other a colored woman, about 40. The bodies were preserval in Spirits of Wine. The captain had the Coroner informed on the subject, and an inquest was held on the bodies. A surgeon examined them and was satisfied they died of disease, and the Jury returned a verdict that they came to their death from causes unknown. It is supposed the bodies were intended for dis-

President Tyler -We are surprised at and pained by the bitter and personal assults on President Tyler and his Administration by Democratic papers. Cui bono? What if we do not agree with them in all things, still we have great cause of gratitude to President Tyler for many of his public acts, especially his persevering vetoes of a National Bank, and other exceedingly obnoxious Whig measures, in opposition to his own party. These thinse ald not be forgotten, when we feel called upon to oppose, and should prompt us to " praise where we can, and censure where we must;" to censure, in such case, calmly and respectfully, as a duty, and not with unnecessary bitterness and persomality. He has surely enough of them from the Whige-showered upon him with a rabid virolence, is justice, and selfishness, merely for his honest adherence to his principles and the public good, which may well entitle him to the respect and sympathy of the whole Democratic party. -Carolinian.

Laughable .- The Lexington (Ky.) Intelligencer of the 2d inst., says, that on the Wednesday night previous, at the usual hour the stage from Maysville to that place drove up to Breunan's Hotel, the door of the coach was opened for the passengers to alight, and the waiters busied hemselves in taking off the baggage, of which there was a large quantity. The baggage was all reumved, but no passengers appeared. The driver was interrogated as to what had become of them, when he then, for the first time, discovered that they were not in the stage, and had been left at the last stand, nine miles from town, where they had all got out to warm themselves.

The two following paragraphs may be of some benefit to the planters who trade to this and the Augusta market, especially to those along the Savannah river. It will be seen that the distance each way from Delaughter's bridge to Hamburg. is about the same, as per the certificate of Mr. Burckhalter, deputy surveyor, Therefore those who are disposed to go by Fury's Ferry, will do better to cross at Delaugh ter's bridge, and first try the Hamburg market-thus having the advantage of two important cities.

The toll at Delaughter's bridge is on ly 374 cents for a wagon; and as it will be seen, the Hamburg market can be tested, and if the planters, are not satisfied, the bridge can be crossed free.

Wagons going the other route, will have only the Augusta market to trade in.
