JAMES B. DAVIS, Sec'y,

Madder .- We learn from an Ohio paper that this important dye and drug is now about to be cultivated in the deep rich soil of that State. A farmer on the Vermillion river in Erie county has gone into its cultivation and found it much more profitable than corn or any other crop. He cultivated it in his intervale or bottom land. The consumption of this dye in the Eastern States, where it is used by Calico printers to produce the most brilliant and durable colors is already immense. The quantity even now is estimated at 9 or 10 million pounds, which at 20 cts. per lb. would amount to near two millions dollars. This might be clear gain.

"Take care of that paint," as the city girls say when a fellow goes to kiss them. "Music and drawing taught here," as the man said when he was pulling a wheelbarrow through the streets without any law," as the client said when he flogged his coupsellor.

A Big One .- Mr. Robert Berry, Inn keeper at Carl's corner, Waterborough, Maine, (says the Repository) has a boy oight years old last March who weighs one hundred and thirty four pounds. He is well proportioned every way, and apparently healthy. He appears like a child of course, but is in size a man. When he was no infant, as we are informed by his friends, he was small and sickly, but when about one year old, he suddenly recovered his health, and began to grow rapidly. He is very hearty indeed. If nothing befalls him he will be the Lambert of Maine.

A Persecuted man- Novel mode of Courtship.-A Mr. Casey, who lives "Out west," recently testified in court that the Widow Manning, who was desperately in love with him, "not only asked him to marry her but when he refused she followed and chucked bricks ot him, and played various games of that sort." Poor Mr.

A Witty Scoundrel .- The Barre Gazette tells a story of an incorrgiole offender, who, while on trial, and while addressing the Court and jury, observing that one of the jurors had apparently failen asleep, interrupted the counsel for the State by remarking, 'you may as well stop, sir-you have talked one of the jury to sleep.' The counsel indignant at the rascal's audacity, launched forth into a torrent of abuse, which however, had but the effect to arouse the attention of the jury and the bystanders; the accused all the while remaining unmoved. When the speaker had momentarily stopped to gether breath the thief remarked in the most unpassionate manner conceivable "You can proceed with the argument now sit, you have waked him up."

The Lady Washingtonians held a temperance festival at Bangor, Maine, on the Taylor's dwelling Conspicuous among the mottoes displayed on the occasion was the following: "Total abstinence or no husbands." Several ladies addressed the assemblace semblage.

Marriage Outright. - In one of the upcounted a fair one for some years, but either was not ready or willing to put the question; she was full willing, and perhaps too lling-but he never came to the scratch. At last she got mad, and said she would marry Bill Patterson, if he ever courted her again. Bill, on hearing of this determination, went once more and put in his claim; he was a scurvy fellow in some things, and neither ma'am nor dad was willing to it. So he goes secretly to R-, gets a license, and that night they made off to a Gretna squire. In their road to happiness however, who should they meet but Ben Sykes! He had an inkling of what was going on, and when he met them he understood how the case lay.

"Sally." says be, "I have fooled you, that's a fact, and I am sorry for it. But if you still prefer me to Bill Patterson, just say se, and I will give him a thrashing. 10 00 take his license, and make old Moody

15 00 marry usto-night. The old love was too strong for the new. Ben gave Billa thrashing, and took his gal, and (what he hated most) his license, which cost him 75 cents, and was off with the plunder to Moody's. The old squire did not so well understand how one man could be married on a license granted to another.-Ben said he did not understand law quibbles, but this he knew that unless he did it he (the squire) would "kerch it" too. This hint was enough for Moody, who without more ado, pronounced them man and wife.

That was the man who struck Billy Paterson .- Argns:

Victoria's Household .- The Women the Greatest Drinkers .- From a statement made in an English paper, we see that the pages and upper servants at Windsor Castle are allowed wine at the rate of two bottles for every three men per day, and one to each woman! In this case, at least the women are the greatest drinkers .-Picayune.

The End of the World .- Father Miller. at the Tabernacle in Boston, on Tuesday night, said he had made a great mistake about the end of the world .- The time had now gone by, and he must confess that he knew nothing about it. He made this confession with tears in his eyes.

Origin of the word "Texas."-It has exceedingly puzzled many persons to determine the real meaning of the word Texas. It originated in the couplet used by the earlier emigrants to that "land of promise."

"When every other land rejects us, This is the soil that freely takes us,"
The word Texas is a corruption of the phrase used in the last line .- Cin. Rep.

The Will of God .- How little did we know, how little does man ever learn to know, that there is an element always wanting in our calculations, one that we seldom think of, and to which we never give weight enough-the will of God! That which overrules the wise, conquers he mighty, frustrates the persevering, and leaves human schemes and human purposes, but as bubbles glittering in the sunshine, to break when they have had their hour.

Brandreth's Pills.

The Body's Waste.

The bodies of all created beings are perpetually undergoing a species of recolutionary changes; it is therefore evident that in order to facilitate this periodical change the uniteral outlets of the body must be kent in a healthy condition, for if the noxious humors are allowed to sojourn too long in the body they become excessively sharp and corrosive, occasioning the most terrible and fatal disorders, which frequently email years of suffering and anguish. This could be prevented by unrely recourse to this Medicine—but, when this is the case, all we have to do, is to make immediate use of the BRANDRETH VEGETA BLE UNIVERSAL PILLS—a Medicine which has attained its present standard of usefulness, solely from its exceeding editary properties; these Pills being in truth nothing more than an assistant of nature, causing her to do that which, is required to produce a healthy condition of the body, such bring the case it is evident that they can be administered with safety to advantage as well as to helpless intercy, and invariably with the same beneficial results. Allum Spring Pills, For the Cure of Dyspepsia, Scrofulus and Liver Diseases.

THESE PILLS are prepared by Dr. S. R. Campbell, from the water of the highly celebrated Mineral Springs in Rockbridge county Virginia, called the Alum Springs.
These Pills, like the water from which they are prepared, are a dibretic, promoting the secretion of urine and an alterative, ing the secretion of urine and an alterative, increasing the secretions of the glandular system generally, and particularly of the liver. They act gently, but effectually upon the bowels, after two or three days use of them, producing capious dark, bile ious evacuation. They also effect a determination to the surface, increasing the perspiration; therefore, they are a great purifier of the blood.

and equaliset of the circulation. Each pill is equal to a common glass of the water.
