ROOM, BOYS, ROOM.

BY C. F. HOFFMAN.

There was an old hunter,
Camp'd down by the till,
Who fish'd in this water,
And shot on that hill.
The forest for him had
No danger, nor gloom,
For all that he wanted
Was plenty of room!
Says he, "The world's wide,
There is room for us all;
Room enough in the green wood,
If not in the hall.

Room, boys, room, by the light of the moon,
For why shouldn't every man enjoy his own room?"

He wove his own nets,
And his shanty was spread,
With the skins he had dress'd
And stretch'd out overhead;
Fresh branches of hemlock
Made fragrant the floor
For his bed, as he sung
When the daylight was o'er,
"The world's wide enough,
There is room for us all;
Room enough in the green wood,
If not in the hall.

Room, boys, room, by the light of the moon,
For why shouldn't every man enjoy his own room?"

That spring now half choked
By the dust of the road,
Under boughs of old maples
Once limpidly flow'd;
By the rock whence its bubbles
His kettle was hung,
Which their sap often fill'd,
While the hunter he sung,
"The world's wide enough,
There is room for us all;
Room enough in the green wood,
If not in the hall.

Room, boys, room, by the light of the moon,
For why shouldn't every man enjoy his own room?"

And still sung the hunter—
When one gloomy day,
He saw in the forest,
What sudden'd his lay,
A heavy wheel'd wagon
Its black rut had made,
Where fair grew the greensward,
In broad forest glade—
"The world's wide enough,
There is room for us all;
Room enough in the green wood,
If not in the hall.

Room, boys, room, by the light of the moon,
For why shouldn't every man enjoy his own room?"

He whistled to his dog,
And says he, "We can't stay;
I must shoulder my rifle,
Up tracks, and away."
x t day, 'mid those maples,
The settler's axe rung,
While slowly the hunter
Trudged off as he sung,
"The world's wide enough,
There is room for us all;
Room enough in the green wood,
If not in the hall.

Room, boys, room, by the light of the moon,
For why shouldn't every man enjoy his own room?"

MISCELLANEOUS.

Pulpit Advertisements.—Every body had heard the story of the orthodox deacon, who said at the close of a warm exhortation, that he was as sure that there was a God, as he was that there was flour in Alexandria; and he knew that for certain, because he had just received a fresh lot which he would sell as cheap for cash as any other store in the place! We always think of the deacon whenever we hear at the close of a solemn discourse, some three or four mere secular notices designed to help Mr. or Mrs. Somebody in their very benevolent enterprise of making money. We have heard advertised, in this way, a singing school, a musical exhibition, a sale of books, a scientific lecture, and, worse than all, the tomfooleries of animal magnetism. Now the minister who reads such notices differs from the deacon aforesaid in one respect; he advertises for other people rather than himself. And yet, after all, it happens sometimes that a "ticket" or bonus in some shape, has been presented as the moving argument to the mind of God's ambassador. There is but one rule for a conscientious of this point, and that is, to refuse to read at once, all every secular notice. It is needless to say that by the opposite course, the minister degrades, not "magnifies his office."—Zion's Adv.

A Thought for Prayerful Mothers.—"You are the cause of it!" said a dying young man to his mother; "I am just going into eternity; there is nothing before me but misery—black despair, and you are the cause of it. You allowed me to violate the Sabbath with the gun and angling rod, and thus was I introduced to that crime, which, in ten years, has brought me to perdition." She turned from his bedside, and, with a heart-rending groan, left the room. The day of Judgment will doubtless disclose many similar cases.

Without indulging children in immoral conduct, a mother may indirectly promote their everlasting ruin. Even while administering salutary advice, she may omit to supplicate a Divine blessing on their souls; and if she do not "ask," how can she expect to "receive?" Of what avail are her exhortations to prayer, so long as she neglects to pray? Does not example preach louder than precept?—God is not mocked.—To every Prayer.

less Mother, might not a dying impenitent child, while he gasps forth "to hell I must go," add the awful question, "Are not You the cause of it?"—Mother's Magazine.

Irresolution is a bar to all advancement in life. The resolute man makes circumstances the creatures of his will—the irresolute man is the mere creature of circumstances: a weathercock carried about by every wind that blows. Before acting, we should put the question to ourselves, "Is it right or wrong?" If right, "go ahead," as Davy Crockett would say, and did say; if wrong "dout you do it." Never ask "what will people say?" Satisfy yourself that you are right and then act. You may be pointed at, laughed at, but remember that your safety and welfare depends on your associates may for a time have of you. The man who acts from principle, whose reliance is on himself, is sure to be respected, and seldom fails of gaining his ends.—Rev. M. Eaton.

From the Southern Miscellany.
"Won't you take something?" says the wagoner, puttin an old junk bottle of rum that smelled strong enough of inions to knock a man down rite under my nose for I knowd what he was bout.
"No I thank you," says I—'t's a Washingtonian."
"Who's they?" says he: sum of your pesky Flurroy preachers, I spos?"
"No," says I, they're revolutioners."
"Revolutioners!" says he, "why my father was a revolutioner and fit agin the British at King's mounting and helped to lick tyranny out of the country."
"Blast all tyrants!" says I, and hurra for the revolutioners.
"Come take somethin' says he, and planted his bottle at my nose agin.
"No," says I, "I'm a revolutioner, and go agin King Alcohol, tooth and toe-nail."
"Who is King Alcohol?" said he.
"King rum," says I, that very tyrant that got you by the guzzle now, and he'll have you choked down on yer knees to him fore a half an hour, if you don't revolutionize on him and quit him.
The fellow stopped and looked rite down in the fire—then at me—then at the bottle, and he tuck another look at the fire.
"That's a fact," says he, "its had me on my back afore to night; but I cant yes I kin—here goes mister, blast all tyrants—I'm a revolutioner, a Washington revolutioner, forever, and with that he throwd the bottle of rum smack in the middle of the fire, and it blazed up blue, and yaller, and red.
"Give me yer hand mister," says I; "I dont want no better proof of your manhood than that stick to it like a true Washington revolutioner."
"Stick to it mister!" say he, why I never broke my word when I was sober in my life, and now I must do it afore I kin git drunk. Stick to it? I've been wantin to revolutionize long ago, and now I've done it, I'll never knock under."

A Short man with tall Ideas.—A hoosier measuring six feet four—one who would make a most excellent locomotive May pole, if he had but the suitable banner flying from his hat—got into cross purposes yesterday on the Levee with an Irish drayman, as stout and chunky as a pork barrel.
"Jest turn out here," said the hoosier throwing of his coat and throwing himself into a "position"—"jest turn out, here, and I'll give you sich an all-fired lickin' that you'll think every box a blow from a pile driver!"
"Git out, ye mane crather!" said the little Irishman to the giant of the West—"git out, ye spalpeen! D'ye think I'd stoop so low as to please myself on a level with the likes of you!"—Picayune.

"What is your idea of the end of the world," said a Millerite to a man he conversed with yesterday.
"My idea," said the man "is that the world is round, and consequently has no end."

"What's your mother tongue?" said the Recorder yesterday to a witness.
"My mother's tongue?" said the latter.
"Well I cant say; but it must be mighty long for my father says there's no end to it!"

Worthy of Imitation.—The Prussian Government, in order to avoid, as far as possible, accidents upon its railroads, has founded a school at Berlin for teaching the art of directing and managing locomotives; and an ordinance has been issued, that from and after the 1st of January, 1846, no person shall be employed as drivers of locomotives on the railways of the kingdom, but those who had been taught at this school and obtained a certificate of their capability.

Death from Intemperance.—Five men came to their deaths in New York on Wednesday from intemperance. One fell into the dock when intoxicated, the other four were found dead in their bed, having come to their deaths by drinking large quantities of liquor when in a state of prostration.

Another use for India Rubber.—An English paper says that Caoutchouc is an excellent remedy for toothache. After the cavity of the tooth is cleaned, a piece of Caoutchouc is cut on a wire, and being softened in the flame of a candle, is pressed while warm into the tooth. Thus the air is kept from the nerve, and the cause of toothache removed.

True to the Letter.—To a friend who observed to us the other day that Judge Cheve's Letter was not only a great political essay but a great State paper, which ought to be preserved in our public archives, we added—it is more sir, than a great State paper. It is a great statistical document—for it gives the statistics of the Southern heart—the heart of the great Southern Nation.—Charleston Mercury.

The Triennial General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church adjourned sine die Tuesday evening. Among its last acts were the designations of three Missionary Stations vis: to Africa, Turkey and China, and the appointment of Bishop was also appointed for Arkansas and Texas.

Insanity—Important Medical Convention.—We understand that a Convention of Medical Superintendents and Physicians of Insane Hospitals and Asylums in the United States was during the past week, in session in this city. Among the subjects occupying the attention of its members were the following: The Medical and Moral Treatment of the Insane—The Construction and Organization of Hospitals for the Insane—The Jurisprudence of Insanity—Prevention of suicide—Statistics of Insanity—Asylums for Idiots and for colored persons, and the Prevention of Insanity, and Insanity in Prisons.—These subjects, after a full and able discussion, were referred to appropriate committees to report at the present or a future meeting of the Convention.

The attendance at this first assemblage of the kind has been unexpectedly large, and its deliberations, as we learn from a friend who has opportunity of attending its sessions, have been characterized by great unanimity and a devoted interest in the important matters coming under its notice. The following gentlemen, representing the different institutions with which they are connected, participated in proceedings of the convention, viz: Dr. Ray, of the Maine Hospital; Dr. Bell, of the McLean Asylum; Dr. Woodward of the Massachusetts State Hospital; Dr. Siedman, of the Boston City Hospital; Dr. Cutter, of a private institution at Pepperell Mass.; Dr. Butler, of the Hartford Retreat; Dr. Brigham, of the New York State Hospital; Dr. Earle, of the Bloomington Asylum; Dr. White, of the Hudson Lunatic Asylum; Dr. Stribbing, of the Western Asylum of Virginia, and Dr. Gall, of the Eastern Asylum of the same state. Many of these gentlemen are extensively known as distinguished and successful laborers in the exalted field of benevolence to which they are devoting their time and talents. We feel confident that great good is about to result to the community from the movement to which we have referred, are sure the public will look with great interests for the result; of its proceedings.

Cold Water.—Dr. Joel Shaw, who has a Water Cure Establishment in New York, publishes a long list of diseases which have been cured by the use of cold water, internally. We should be glad to see this remedy become general, as there can be no doubt that it would be of essential service to mankind in a variety of ways. It would greatly aid the exertions of temperance societies; promote cleanliness, and contribute to keep people in health. A man was cured of intemperance by the use of the shower bath—and we would advise its application in all cases of drunkenness. If every man knew that intoxication would be visited by a drenching in cold water, we suspect there would be less disposition to use ardent spirits, to excess.

Forty Thousand Tame Frogs!—The ascent to the peak of Teneriffe made by Mr. Wise, our Minister to Brazil, and others from the U. S. frigate Constitution, on the 4th July last, is described at great length and with much beauty and vivacity of style, in a letter in the Boston Atlas of Monday, by Lieut. J. B. Dale, one of the party. Among other notable things celebrated, the writer notices a huge cistern in the richly embellished garden of the American Consul, from whence at twilight issued the music of forty thousand tame frogs, cultivated with care for their musical talents! The American Consul must have a singular musical taste. A swamp would probably have more attractions for him than a concert room.

A Slave Case.—A gentleman and his wife came from the South recently to visit their friends in this town, and brought with them a colored nurse. It was supposed by some that she was kept under unusual restraint in the apprehension that she might become acquainted with her rights in a free State, and claim her liberty. A writ of habeas corpus was issued before Judge Dewey, and she was brought before his honor, in this town, on Wednesday last from Greenfield, whither the gentleman and lady had gone to visit their friends. On an examination before the judge, she denied any improper restraint and expressed no desire to change her condition. She said she was free, of course here was the end of the case. But it still being persisted that she was not free, that she was through fear of her master, who was present,—her free papers were produced showing that she was not a slave in her own State. His honor admonished the gentleman concerned, to be more careful in future to learn facts in the case before he commenced legal proceedings.—Northampton (Mass.) Gaz.

The political Abolitionists in Hamilton county have nominated William Henry Brisbane for Congress. Mr. B. is a native of South Carolina, and removed to Cincinnati, about five years ago. He was a large slaveholder, and sold his slaves before emigrating. Subsequently he repurchased them gave them their liberty, and aided them in removing to Ohio.—Vermont Observer.

Keep your Sons Employed.—Let play be but their occasional privilege, and they will enjoy it far more highly. Employ them in the garden; if you have one, as work is not play. Give them daily and regular duties about the house. It will do them no harm to perform humble services. It will help you and help them still more, to have them bring wood or coal, to scour the knives, to make their own beds, to keep their own room in order. You may thus render them highly useful, and greatly contribute to their happiness, and their future welfare. Louis Philippe the present king of France, was in childhood and early youth, required to wait upon himself in the humblest office. It was through this culture that he was trained up to be one of the most remarkable men of the present age.

The Silk Culture is rapidly extending in Tennessee. Large quantities of cocoons have been raised and sold at $3 per bushel, and a company with a capital of $100,000, located on Red River, miles below Nashville, engaged in the extensive manufacture of silk.

Tooth-ache! Tooth-ache!
DR. LACOUNT'S ELIXIR is a speedy, certain, and lasting cure for the most painful and distressing disease that can affect the human frame. In almost all cases of Tooth-ache it arises from a decayed state of the parts, which excites the action of the atmospheric air, the nerve of internal surface of the capes or rotten tooth, and a cure must be effected, either by extraction or by rendering those parts impervious to the action of the air.

Dr. Lacount's Elixir is particularly adapted to destroy the nerve, without the slightest injury to the other teeth, and thereby effect a permanent cure. Its application is not attended by the slightest pain, or inconvenience.

Thousands have declared that it cost $10.00 without this preparation if it would $10.00 per val.

To those Candid Men
WHO honestly doubt the truth of the Brandrethian System, we would entreat them to ponder well upon the following facts: The Food taken into the stomach is converted into blood, which vital stream, flowing through all the ramifications of the system, not only imparts strength and continues life, but actually creates, forms, and builds up, each and every part of the animal machine. If the blood therefore, is pure and healthy, the body, which is formed from, and supported by the blood, cannot be diseased. But if there be in any part of the body any effusion, such as bile, or ulcer, even a bruise, the blood circulating through that part, takes up impure matters from the local affection, and carries it into the general system. This is the cause often of sudden death to persons of full habit, afflicted with bile, and use no medicine; the matter gets into the circulating system, and chokes up the fine blood vessels which supply the brain with vitality, and life ceases, as if bereft by lightning. Now this can be remedied—the Brandreth Pills, will, if used at these times, take out all impure matters from the circulation, and save the general health, at the same time they are curing the local affection. Oh! how important it is to mankind, that this subject be well comprehended; it would save many from tedious times of sickness, and often secure their services to their friends, when otherwise the tomb would have been their victim.

Allum Spring Pills,
For the Cure of Dyspepsia, Scrofulus and Liver Diseases.

THESE PILLS are prepared by Dr. S. R. Campbell, from the water of the highly celebrated Mineral Springs in Rockbridge county Virginia, called the Alum Springs.

These Pills, like the water from which they are prepared, are a diuretic, promoting the secretion of urine and an alterative, increasing the secretions of the glandular system generally, and particularly of the liver. They act gently, but effectually upon the bowels, after two or three days' use of them, producing copious dark, bilious evacuation.

They also effect a determination to the surface, increasing the perspiration; therefore, they are a great purifier of the blood, and equaliser of the circulation. Each pill is equal to a common glass of the water. They should be taken before each meal, and from six to ten or twelve should be taken in the course of each day; for a fortnight, and then omit them for the same period. For the cure of the above diseases, perseverance in the use of these Pills, is all important; and if they are perseveringly used, every alternate fortnight, a cure may more certainly be expected, than under any other treatment heretofore discovered, except from the use of the water, from which they are prepared, either by an attendance at the Springs or otherwise. They very speedily cure diarrhoeas, attended with acidity of the stomach; and are a very useful remedy for the summer bowel complaint in children, as also for expelling worms from children. From one to four should be given in three equal portions each day, to a child under six years, according to age. When given to children, they should be powdered and mixed with syrup. These Pills are easily taken, having no nauseous taste, are perfectly safe in all cases, where active fever does not exist, and do noticken persons while using them.
