HAMBURG, Jan. 15. Cotton .-- There has been a fair business done in the staple, considering that the planters are just setting down to business, after enjoying themselves during the holidays; a quanity has arrived by wagons and the river. Monday and Tuesday it was a shade better than last week's quotations, for what reason we are unable to account. To-day at 12 M., we find t maintains our last quotations, viz : Ordinary

Cotton -The news by the Rochester and lowa, we cannot say has advanced our last quotations, but it has had a tendency to make them firmer especially in Ordinary qualities, and has created a livlier demand in the market -Republican Extra.

Augusta, Jan. 16. Cotton.-The market, since last Thursday has been active, and the prices quoted in one last have been fully maintained. But this at tivity is not owing so much to the orders for shipment, as to local speculation in the staple under the impression that the rates have de clined as low as they ever will during the sea son, especially in the better qualities. The receipts are light, and the quantity offering not large, many of the planters preferring to hold on for better prices. All this combined, have tendency to keep up the prices of last week, which we renew Extremes 34 to 43 cents. The principal sales were made at 4 to 44 to 44 prime article in square bales would probably bring 45 to 5 cents. But these prices should be considered as unstable, though any fluctuation would not materially change them, until operators for shipment to the North or Europe, enter the market, and establish rates corres ponding with the markets that govern our own .- Crutstitution dist.
