

artificially the price of all products, so that though all were dear, yet the same quantity of each demanded in exchange as much as any other, as if all were alike cheap (for equal protection practically applied could only mean this)—were this for any fanciful purpose ever so desirable, it must be obvious that in this country it is no longer possible. By what process could we raise the price of our cottons, our woollens, our hardware, and the numerous articles of manufactures which constitute our exports? They must be sold in foreign markets at the same prices as the goods coming into our competition with them from all other sources.

The same articles will command only the same prices for home use, that they do for exportation, and this price must therefore be the lowest natural price determined by the open competition of the world. Laws made to protect such articles must always be a mere dead letter. To prohibit the importation of an article which we produce in excess, which excess is disposed of in open competition with the whole world, can never by any possibility raise the price of that article at home. It is beyond the power of the law to protect such interests. But on the other hand the law is all powerful to protect and to raise the price of those commodities which we produce in deficiency,—of which we are obliged to import some portion to make up the quantity required. Whatever duty is placed on the article imported must enable the producer at home to command a price as much higher than the producers of that article abroad as the duty amounts to. Protection, therefore, though avowedly extended to all alike, would land us in this dilemma—those classes who produce such articles as we export in exchange for the luxuries, or the necessities, or the raw materials, which we receive from foreign countries, would obtain from the rest of the community at home only the same price that they received abroad in the open markets, while they would have to pay to the producers of articles of which we are deficient, an enhanced price equal to the duty imposed on the quantity imported. Thus the various producers of hardware, cottons, and woollens in Sheffield, Manchester, and Leeds, receive from the farmers and landlords only the same prices that they do from their customers in the United States or Germany; but they have to pay to the farmers and landlords a price for their produce as much higher as the effective duty which is placed on the produce of the farmer of foreign countries.

It must be quite clear, therefore, that if equality be honestly intended to all the varied interests of the community, it cannot be accomplished by protection; it cannot be accomplished by any attempt to elevate prices generally to an artificial standard; but it can be done, and can only be done, by allowing all alike to remain at the natural rate determined by free competition to which a large portion must be exposed, and therefore to which all should be equally exposed. That just equality of interest which the principle of Protection cannot accomplish, Free Trade alone can accomplish.

Meeting of the Democratic Party in N. York.—Pursuant to a call from the General Committee, a large meeting of the Democracy of the City of New York, recently assembled at Tammany Hall, for the purpose of expressing their sentiments on the subject of the immediate re-annexation of Texas. Robert H. Morris Esq. presided as Chairman of the meeting. Among other resolutions, the following was adopted: "Resolved, That in the result of the Presidential election, the Democracy of N. York have instructed their Representatives and Senators in Congress, to secure immediate action on this subject; and that we shall regard all attempts to embarrass the measure with collateral issues, as prompted by partizan and sectional prejudices, unworthy of American citizens, and as a covert avoidance of the question."

Debt of New York.—The debt of the State of New York, at the present time, according to the recent report of the Comptroller, is $28,068,000.

The Anti-rent disturbances have again commenced in certain districts in N. York. Very serious outrages have been perpetrated. In one District, the Sheriff has been tarred and feathered, for serving a process. Our readers will remember, that these disturbances are caused by persons refusing to pay rent for their lands to the legal owners.

To the Members of the Executive Committee of the Abbeville and Edgefield Union Bible Society:

BELOVED BRETHREN,
The work in which we are engaged commends itself to the mind and heart of every lover of God and man, and, in order to its success, demands the zealous, prompt and persevering action of those laboring in the cause.

The progress of the Society, since its organization, has been onward. God has smiled on the effort—friends have increased—and our sphere of operation and usefulness extended. That this prosperity be continued, it should be remembered that God has connected means and ends; and means properly and energetically used under his blessing, cannot fail to secure the end. Let us therefore, as good Stewards, come up readily to the work before us, individually feeling the obligation resting upon us, "to do whatever our hands find to do, with our might."

A meeting of the Committee will be held at my house in Greenwood, on Tuesday after the third Lord's day in March next, at 11 o'clock. A. M., which will be the last before the annual meeting of the Society. A full supply of Bibles will be on hand. The place for the Anniversary of the Society and Preacher to be selected, and other important business to be attended to. WM. P. HILL,
Chairman of Com.
The Abbeville Banner will be kind enough to give the above three or four insertions.

From the Philadelphia Keystone.

OUR CHARGES D'AFFAIRES.
Our Charges d'Affaires and Counsuls are too frequently selected for the enjoyment of the place, rather than for any particular talent to represent our country abroad. As far as talent goes, some of them possess it, in an eminent degree, but few, however, exercise their functions with reference to the great interests at home. Rencher, at Lisbon, enjoys the climate, and in the style of a Southern planter, divides in easy stages the necessities of the day's existence. The Tagus is a beautiful river, at the mouth of which is the city of Lisbon, once truly the capital of an independent government, but now in fact but a British out-post, whose commerce is entirely controlled by British policy. Mr. R. has endeavored to have the bounties and other advantages in favor of England, so accommodated as to permit American bottoms to enjoy similar privileges, in order that the wines, salt and wool, may become an object in our direct trade. As yet no intelligence has been received from him, to warrant the hope of any mediation in that respect. The climate of Portugal is milder and more regular than N. Carolina, whilst the industry and resources of the countries are very similar. The former representative of the Chatham district finds every thing there to remind him of home, except the fruits of the Usurline Sisters, and the entire absence of the home currency, pitch and tar.

Mr. Clenson, at Brussels, possesses every advantage in promoting his scientific investigations, he being one of the first Chemists of the day. There is more industry and comfort in Belgium, than in any of the smaller Sovereignities, and Brussels is one of the most beautiful cities of Europe. Carpets and lace abound, and manufactures are constantly in construction. At Ostend are many beautiful pictures, for which he possesses very great taste. There is no doubt Mr. Clenson will be of advantage to his native land in the development of some of the new principles and elements which the rapid march of science daily discloses.

With Christopher Hughes, Esq., commonly called "Kitt Bughes,"—who has crossed the water, has not an acquaintance? The Hague is a beautiful city, the seat of wealth, for which its former days Holland was so famous. If the climate is so wet and dry, as to prevent the raising of grain or fruit, there is nevertheless patience, economy and neatness that entirely compensate for the marshiness of the soil. In the diplomatic circles, Mr. Hughes has acquired some eclat, from the facility with which he discourses State secrets. His residence is most admirably furnished, in the kingdom, not with an ostentatious display, but in the neatness and style of a plain republican gentleman, who for nearly thirty years has held the confidence of his own government. The connoisseur and virtuoso, may delight themselves for a month in the contemplation of his researches in the antique, and the choice specimens of plate and other objects of admirable workmanship that adorn his drawing-room. It is to be regretted that of late though not wealthy, he has launched into the extravagancies of "the upper ten thousand," and therefore there is something to fear, in the event or pecuniary embarrassments, that may be consequent to his indiscretion in this particular.

At Copenhagen there resides as true a Dane as any in Denmark, in the person of Wm. W. Irwin. With a heart ready to serve the country wherever she may call him, he endures the severities of a northern climate and a feeble government, with perfect composure and stoical resignation. Denmark commands the entrance to the Baltic, and levies a toll upon all ships that pass the sound, which is generally paid at Elsinore. Mr. Irwin, should he live, is destined to fill an important place in the history of our country. His business habits are proverbial, and his agreeable manners, render him the special favorite of the Americans who visit Denmark.

Mr. Boulware enjoys the appointment in the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies; he possesses the confidence of the merchants, and endeavors to exert his utmost service to his Government, in that land of sulphur and rags. This country, although enjoying the balmy atmosphere in which the olive and the vine delight to thrive, is known not to supply its own inhabitants with food, hence poverty and beggary are no where more extensive and distressing. This is the mission for which William H. Polk, Esq. has been nominated.

George W. Day, Esq., at Stockholm, has no particular indication that can form a paragraph. He is the successor of Mr. Hughes, who was nearly overslaughted by him, but luckily just arrived at Washington time enough to overslaught Hermann Beeker, Esq. Unless Mr. Day gives some account of himself soon, it will be the day of the last minstrel when it does come. Mr. Wickliffe, at Turin, is a very excellent man, the son of the Post Master General. His amiable department, and his relationship with a Cabinet officer, has afforded an opportunity to visit Europe in a very excellent position. Every thing that can promote enjoyment is to be had in the Sardinian States, and the young Kentuckian, being of excellent report, will doubtless profit greatly by the opportunity presented him. He has the rugged Alps, in the Savoy, and on the Island of Sardinia, coffee, sugar, and the olives are cultivated.

Of Mr. Hall, at Caracas, Mr. Brent, at Buenos Ayres, Mr. Crump, at Sant Iago, Mr. Pickett at Lima, there is not much to learn, save that they enjoy the $4500 per annum without a murmur.—Our Counsuls we will call upon hereafter.

There is a rumor in the Northern papers of a duel, growing out of the recent trial of Bishop Onderdonk. It would seem that the challenged party is N. P. Willis. Mr. W. warmly contended that no lady could have her delicacy wounded unless advances of an improper nature were encouraged by her, and this, it is conjectured, has furnished the actionable matter. It is not stated who is the challenger, or where the duel is to be fought, or any other particulars.—Charleston Courier.

The amount of Treasury Notes outstanding on the 1st instant, was, it is officially stated, $1,561,068 97.

On Monday last, the following gentlemen were elected Intendant and Wardens of this Town.

M. Gray Intendant.
William Crapon, Thos. Kernaghan, Thos Wright, George Parrott, James Hubbard, and George W. Garmany, Esqrs., Wardens.—Hamburg Repub. Feb. 13.

An old offender Caught.—A man who calls himself Joseph Richardson, and who was tried at Edgefield C. H. some five or six years ago, for stealing a Saddle, made his appearance in our town on Monday night last, and carried off a mule belonging to the team of Mr. W. A. Williams, of Anderson District. After succeeding in procuring a mule, he proceeded to the plantation of Charles Hammond, Esq., where he feloniously procured himself a saddle for the purpose, no doubt, of making his ride more comfortable, but unluckily for him, Mr. Hammond missed the saddle & putout, in company with Mr. Butler, in pursuit of the thief, and succeeded in retaking saddle mule and Richardson, in the course of a ride of about two hours, near Turkey Creek, thirty-one miles from Hamburg. Robert Anderson, Esq., committed Richardson to the Jail of this District, at the same time recognizing him as an old offender, by the name of Ford.—Ibid.

Gentlemen:—The alarm of fire was given this morning at 3 o'clock. It originated in the bar-room of Messrs. Baker & Beard four doors from the post office. I am happy to inform you that by the prompt exertions of the Independent Fire Engine Company, who were early on the ground the fire was soon extinguished, by forcing the door and playing on the fire which had taken place in the bar and had spread to the ceiling above and to the walls. I have not learned how it originated, but it is generally supposed the act of an incendiary.

Wickliffe Bruen, Esq., of Savannah, Ga. has been appointed by his Excellency Governor Aiken, Commissioner to take acknowledgments of Deeds, &c. for the State of S. Carolina, in the State of Georgia.

On Friday evening last, a Mad Dog passed through the suburbs of our Village and proceeded to Mr. McBees' Tanyard where he bit four of his own species, which were shot, and from thence to the residence of E. Green, Esq. (two miles from town) where we understand he was killed after attacking several animals. It behoves every one to be upon their guard, as the disease seems to have been spread over a large section of country, and it is impossible to know where or when it may next make its appearance.—Greenville Mountain Lancer, Feb. 7.

More Snow.—On Monday last we were visited with a storm of snow, which nearly covered the ground but towards night rain commenced falling, and by the next morning the snow all disappeared. Since that time the weather has been very cold, and the neighboring mountains clothed in a beautiful garment of white.—Ibid.

MARRIED.
On the 9th of January, by the Rev. Alex. McCaine, Maj. JAMES C. SMYLER, to Miss CATHERINE M., daughter of the late A. Watson, Esq., all of this District.

Commercial.
HAMBURG, Feb. 12.

Cotton.—We have had what may be termed a busy week, as the staple arrived freely, by wagons and boats; but we do not believe that the supply exceeded the demand, as buyers were apparently upon the alert at all points, and the prices of last week fully sustained, and in some instances a fraction better was given. Today the market has a quieter appearance, but as yet, we have not heard of any reduction in prices. Our quotations therefore, up to 12 M. are Ordinary to Middling 4 a 4 1/2, Middling Fair 4 1/2 a 4 3/4; Fine, 5 1/2 a 5 3/4; and choice parcels would, no doubt, command more, as they have done during the course of the week. Principal sales 5 a 5 1/2.

The River still continues in beating order.—Hamburg Republican.

COLUMBIA, Feb. 6.
Cotton.—The receipts by wagon are light; and but considerable selling out of stores. Prices range from 3 3/4 a 5 1/2 extremes. This week, most sales from 4 a 5 1/2.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 8.
Cotton.—The principal feature of the Upland market during the past week and up to the close last evening, has been its uniform stiffness, with a steady demand both by shippers and speculators; prices under such circumstances not only have been fully maintained by holders, but in many instances they have been able to exact more advantageous terms than they could have done during the previous week, and our present quotations therefore are decidedly in favor of the seller. Extremes 4 1/2 a 6 3/8.
