IF The N. York correspondent of the Charleston Evening News, under date of the 11th inst., says:

"The only news I have is of a war on the Vermont- railroad-from Boston to Burlington. Two hundred laborers, mostly Irishmen, who have been at work, and learning to riot in Canada, being cheated of their wages by some rascally sub-contractors, took one of the principal contractors prisoner, and in spite of the civil and military power, would not release him, until he had given security for the payment of the money due them. An armed force was called out from Burlington, and there was quite an excitement, but no bloodshed so far. "The movements, chiefly from this city for the invasion and occupation of Califor nia, are of an earnest and energetic kind. and the men engaged in it, are in some cases, of the right character. We may look upon the extension of our boundary in that direction as a fixed fact.

OF The Anderson Gazette of the 17th inst., says :- " We can inform our friends at a distance, that our village is again without a grog shop, and we learn the Town Council has refused to grant any more licenses to keep such establishments in the place .-- Those therefore who have sous and daughters when they wish to send abroad to school, will find Anderson, not only free from all those scenes of dissipation which are frequently met with in country villages, but our Academies will be found to be of the highest order, and the society of the place of the most moral and respectable character.

A rumor is current in Washington; and pretty generally believed, that Mr. Bucha nan is about to retire from the Department of State, and that he will be nominated to the Senate by the President for the vacan cy on the Bench of the Supreme Court. If the President has fixed upon a successor, the fact has not yet transpired. Mr. Calhoun and Mr. King, the present Minister to France, are the persons chiefly spoken of. Mr. Calhoun would cert inly bring more strength to the administration, at this time, than any one else who could he brought into the Cafinet. But although his course during the present session of Congress has, in no small degree, added to his previous high and brilliant reputation as a patriot and statesman; it still does not seem to us that the occurrences of the session has been of such character as to render the President more inclined to offer hin the first place in the Cabinet, that he w is to retain him in the same place at the cemmencement of the administration. Nor do we consider it by any means certain that Mr. Calheim would accept the appointment, unless, indeed, he should see that by doing so he could exert a more efficient agency in bringing the existing difficulties with Mexico to a satisfactory adjustment. In that case, no one doubts that he would cheerfully make any sacrifice of interest or feeling which duty to his coun

From the Charleston Mercury. MR. CALHOUN'S REPORT.

We have purposely deferred commenting on this remarkable document, both because we desire to express no hasty opinion, aubecause in so great a matter it was but fair to our reader to allow them to judg unprejudiced by any opinion of ours. A: who study politics, knowing the vast im portance of this topic of Internal Improvement, whether regarded as a question of constitutional construction, or of fise economy, or of party interest, have of course carefully read Mr. Calhoun's exposition. And we doubr not that the strict State Righrs men have felt themselves especially called on to weigh maturely this Report, not only because it treats of a question always associated with State Rights, but because it comes from the statesman who has long been their houor ed leader, and still more, because by its constant appeals to the Constitution as the only law on this subject, it munifestly ap peals especially to them.

Well, we have ever claimed to be of the strictest among State Rights men, and trust we have not been "sholly inefficient soldiers in the defence of the Constitution against those who maintain that the will of the majority is the supreme law of the depicted on the countenance. By this land. Against the system of Internal Improvement by the General Government, tion HE has imbeded himself in the hearts we have ever warred, and expect to do so to the end. Upon all the issues made between the friends and opposers of that system, we have stood with the latter feel ing that they were right in the construct tion of the Constitution, and right policy. energy in carrying out his purpose. We With these feelings and convictions, we have studied Mr. Calhoun's Report, and we can see no answer to his argumentwe believe it dnauswerable. Not how, ever, as a vindication of loose construction of the Constitution, or of Internal Improvement by the Federal Government. goes no step towards these ends. Nothing ever emanated from the author more dis. tinguished for a manifest and pervading veneration for the Constitution. Every principle is drawn directly from that in trument, and every limitation of the State Rights doctrine, is sternly enforced. There is nothing vague either in argument or in conclusions-no advance is made under cover of a mist, and when we reach the deductions, we know exactly, what they cover. A singular clearness and precision of definition characterizes the whole document. Yet with all this, Mr. Calhoun reaches a conclusion hitherto deemed in admissible by the Republican party, that the Federal Government has the power of improving and rendering safe the navigation of the Mississippi and its principle brauches-a power which has always been identified with that to build and improve harbors of commerce, to construct roads and to improve the navigation of every little stream in the Union. It is by care fully separating it from all these, by refering it to e distinct grant of the Constitution, and establishing its identity in character and object with the power to make safe the navigation of the Atlantic coast. that Mr. Calloun arrives at conclusions to which every State Rights man can heartilv assent.

He denies the constitutionality of any inprovements which two States can effect. because the constitution allows of compacts, under the sanction of Congress, of iwo States for such purpose. But it absolutely forbids all alliances or compacts At such times mothers are apt to give their in of three or more States, and of consequence all improvements depending upon such general union are impossible, unless within the power of the Federal Government.

Of one thing we think all the friends of Mr.¡Calhoun have a right to complain, viz : that he should have left us so long in doubt as to the grounds of the opinions he aunounced in the Memphis Convention. We confess to have partaken of the surprise and dissatisfaction widely felt. on the annunciation of those opinions. He night not, it seems to us, to have avowed with the general doctrine of Internal Imrovement, unless where he had opportunity to viadicate them from such connecun, and thus relieve his position from all what and all chance of misconstruction .---As one of his friends, we rejoice that we au now understand and support him .---A more masterly exposition of the Constiution has never been made even by himell, than his Report contains.

The Tariff in Massachusetts .- If, as the Balimore Republican says, we could believe the Whigs, Lowell, it must be supposed, would to a man stand by the immaculate tariff of 1842; for on the downfall of this act, Lowell must at more sink to irretrievable rain. We are, however, happy to learn that the news of the passage of Mr. McKay's bill through the House. has left the city of mills in good running order. Hear the Lowell Avertiser : "As the news spread through the city, Whigs and Republicans · could be as quickly defined as if of different descent, the former by the frown and the latter by the joy single act of James K. Polk's administraof the hard-fisted yeomanry of New En gland. Soon as the bill becomes a law we will lay it before our readers. The Hon Secretary of the Treasury has won golden opinions for his boldness of conception and pray God the Senate may do its duty.

From the Republic of the Ris Grande, June 23. GEN TAYLOR .- When the news reached here on Wednesday that Gen. Scott would not supercede "old Rough and Ready" in the command of the forces operating against Mexico every face was elated with joy. and loud and numerous were the expressions of delight that followed the announcement.

e undestand that when this news was given publicity to in the Brigade of Volunteers, so great was the joy of the men, and so apparent, that their Colouels immediately called them out, and marched them to the bank of the river opposite the old Hero's quarters and gave him a military salute, after which the soldiers gave him three cheers, the heartiness of which plainly indicated that they were from the heart.

The Green Bay Republican has the following warlike rumor, which we give as we find it :

A gentleman has arrived here direct foin the head waters of the Missouri, bringing intelligence that the Sinux, Black Feet, Sanks and Foxes, and the Winnebagoes, are assembling in large numbers, and making every preparation for a war upon the white settlements on the borders of Iowa and Wisconsin. Is is said that a number of applications, have been made to the President for the appointment of members of Congress to offices of profit during the present session. It this has been so, the applications have been unsuccessful, for in no instance, we believe, has a member been appointed .-The course adopted by Mr. Polk in this particular, is worthy of the highest approbation. It is not unusual for men, while candidates before the people, to decry of fice holders, and yet after being elected. to grasp the first fat office that is within their reach. We do not contend that in all cases, men bers of Congress should be excluded from appointment; but the exceptions should be few, and the posts then assigned should be of high trust and responsibility, instead of emolument .- Pendleton Messenger.

Extraordinary Case of Infanticide .-We were shocked to hear, a few days since. of the murder of an infant, some 4 or 5 miles from this place, aged three mouths, by its brother, a boy some six or seven years of age. It appears that the mother, a widow woman by the name of Mrs. I ife. hed gone to a neighbors to borrow some meal, and left the infant in the care of its brother. Upon returning, the child was missing, and after searching a while for it. was found laid away among some bushes near the yard, with its head gashed in two or three places. The boy, when interrogated upon the subject, replied that the child had fatlen out of the door, and in going out of the door himself, he accidently let an axe fall upon it that he was holding in his hand. Although there is no positive evidence to prove him guilty of intentional murder, yer the jury of inquest were unanimous in the opinion that such were his intentions.—Abbeville Banner.
