HAMBURG, January 14. Mr. Editor :- The accounts from Liverpool, which have caused a decline in the markets of the North, have affected the Charleston and our market. I now quote prime cotton 131, market rather languid, the receipts since the holidays have been very light, probably owing in part to the bad state of the roads. Business of all kinds is rather dull, the stock of goods are ample, large additions having been made by River and Rail Road since Christmas. There were two cases of Small Pox about ten or twelve days ago, both negroes, who were immediately removed to the Pest House. No caso exists in town of this disease, except those mentioned above. O. P. Q.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 13. The cotton market still labors under depression, and prices have a tendency in favor of buy ers. 1,100 bales sold at 12 a 134c.

COLUMBIA, Jan. 13. We have nothing new to notice in the cotton market to-day. The demand was quiet but firm, without any change in the prices from those current at the close of last week. 95 bales were sold, at prices ranging from 11$ a 134 cents.

Edgefield Female Institute. Edgefield C. H. S. C.

THIS Institution closed for the Winter Va. cation on Friday the 20th inst., and will e-open on Monday the 13th of January 1851. The Principal offers his very sincere thanks to his Patrons for their liberal support and kind encouragement, which he hopes the result of his lapors will justify, and that the ensuing year will prove their unabated confidence.

Having become Proprietor as well as Principal of the Institute, an additional guaranty is thus given to the public, that every exertion on his part will be made to deserve and ensure its success, and to make it what it professes to be, a superior School. Every means has been taken in the choice of Assistants and Text Books, to render it more than ever an essentially Southern Institution. and in the Music Department it will be found that few schools can vie with the amount of talent and the number of Teachers employed: Circulars of Terms &c. can be had by applica-
