THE RETURN OF SPRING. Dear as the dove, whose wafting wing, The green leaf ransomed from the main, Thy genial glow, returning Spring, Comes to our shore again; For thou hast been a wandered long, On many a fair and foreign strand, In balm and beauty, sun and song, Passing from land to land. Thou brings't the blossoms to the bee, To earth a robe of emerald dye, The leaflet to the naked tree, And rainhow in the sky :

I feel thy blest benign control The pulses of my youth restere; Opening the spring of sense and soul, To love and joy once more.

I will not people thy green bowers With sorrow's pale and spectre band : Or blend with thine the faded flowers Of memory's distant land : For thou wert surely never given

To wake regret from pleasures gone; But like an angel sent from Ilcaven. To soothe creation's groan. Then, while the groves thy garlands twine, Thy spirit breathes in flower and tree,

And worship God in thee. And in some calm sequestered spot, While listening to thy coral strain, Past griefs shall be a while forgot, And pleasure bloom again.

My heart shall kindle at thy shrine,

From the Southern Christian Advocate. A New and Valuable Clover for the

During the past spring I was much interested in examining a new species of clover, which is raised by two gentlemen clover, when growing, before blossoming, resembles the red clover in some respects, but in others it is entirely different. The blossom is yellow, and the seed resembles the bean in shape, though it is but little larger than the seed of the red clover, and is contained in a very singular burr, which is about the size of a large pea. Again, this grass, roots and all, dies annually; yet the same piece of land need never be sown but once, as the seed is produced in very great abundance, and comes up very freely and surely, every autumn .-Again, it is entirely a fall and and winter grass. It commences growing in October, and grows on finely through the whole winter, affording the finest pasturage, and continues to grow well, if pastured, until the first of May; about this time the seed begin to ripen, and the grass gradually dies, and leaves the ground thickly covered with the dead branches and seed. When the cool fall rains and dews return, it then re-appears, and grows as before stated.

I have said that it yields an abundant crop of seed; indeed, the quantity of seed is so great, that it is a striking and very important peculiarity. From my own observations, and from what one of the gentlemen above alluded to has told me, I am well satisfied that it will yield, on good land, at least 50 bushels, probably 100 bushels of seed in the burr per acre, and this will be amply sufficient to sow 15 or 20 acres thickly. This will render the clover exceedingly valuable to every Southern planter. From a lot of 5 acres of good clover, he will raise seed enough to sow 100 acres of cotton land, and thus secure a rich reward of grass to cover the land during the winter, and protect it from washing rains, and afford him the best pasture in the world. This is not mere fancy, for its growth on fair land is as luxuriant as I ever saw of the red clover, on the finest lands in Virginia or Kentucky. I carefully examined a lot of this clover, which was closely grazed to the first of March last, and about the first of May a great many of its branches were four feet long. I have often admired the luxuriant pastures and meadows on the rich valley of the Ohio, but I think I never saw a better crop of grass in all my life than that was. Any person who may be desirous of getting further information about this grass, can obtain it by writing to Dr. H. L. Kennon, or Mr. C. Snedecor, Forkland, Ala. The letters should be post paid, as this is without their knowledge.

My apology for troubling you with this communication, (if one is needed,) is this: I was brought up in agricultural pursuits, in the rich and beautiful valley of the Ohio, where the fertility of their lands is easily increased an hundred fold, by a ju- receipts for various cures in your paper, dicious system of grassing; and ever since I became a citizen of the South, I ing interests of the South. FEVER AND CANCER CURED-GREAT DISCOVERIES .- The city of New Orleans important discoveries made in it within a few years, by two eminent physicians,one is Dr. Gilbert, whose fame is now widely extended, as the successful curer of that hitherto impregnable and terrible disease, "cancer." The other is Dr. Seat, who has cured some of our most eminent men, in a few days, of fever .-We have read in the New Orleans Delta. and have seen the most respectable testimonials of the cures effected by Dr. Gilbert, in his Hospital, Poydray street, New

Dr. Seat visited our Office last week, on his way to Europe to dispose of his important discovery to foreign governments. The discovery is a medicine which never fails to cure the most inveterate case of fever in a few days. Such discoveries confer untold blessings upon the human family.-Scientific American.

An exchange says that there are nine Sensible folks up there.

FROM a costly and beautiful English annual, we pluck for the amusement of our fair horticulturists, the following pleasant allusions to her imperial majesty,

The Rose. The "garden-queen," the Rose, outvies even the dainty Violet in the number and enthusiasm of her laureates; she is indeed unrivalled, both in popular and poetical fame; nor has she yet lost much of her renown; for a rarity in literature would be that poem, if of any length, which should fail to offer its homage at her fair gods and men, the emblem of love and beauty, and the mute but expressive monitress that "all that's bright must fade," has been in all ages the unwearying theme of the Poets, from the gay odes of Anacreon to the quaint moralizing songs and sonnets of our old English writers; and from them, through a long and glorious vista of names, illustrious among the mind's nobility, down to the present time, with its few great and countless lesser

The cheek of Beauty has ever beer the allotted theme of this floral queen. and so it is, and will be; but alas! in many a fair face, the vermeil blush has given place to a pallid hue. 'Tis in the morning sunshine, and the hilly breeze, that the true-tinted rose is worn; but its fresh hues fade and blanch in the crowded saloon or the heated ball. It is of few votaries of dissipation, that Herrick could

"One asked me where the roses grew, I bade him not go seek, But forthwith bade my Julia show

A bud in either check." In order to display their own elegant invention in explanatory fables, the classic Bards of old, feign the Rose to have been in the vicinity of Forkland, Ala. This originally white; and divers are the causes assigned for its change of complexion. Herrick, versifying one fancy, tells us-

"'Tis said, as Cupid dane'd among The gods, he down the nectar flung Which on the white rose being shed, Made it forever after red."

Another legend is, that Venus, hastening to protect Adonis, trod on the thorns of the rose, and, her foot being wounded. a few drops of her celestial blood served to make the flowers blush ever after for their cruelty to their patron divinity.

The term " under the rose," sub rosa. applied to any secret transaction, is perhaps not generally known to be of classic origin. Cupid, once on a time, wishing to gain assistance from Hopocrates, the god of silence, gave him the rose, by way of bribe; and from this circumstance the custom formerly prevalent among that "it was folly for the Americans to some nations, of suspending a rose from the ceilings of rooms in which secret meetings were held, is evidently derived; them were the flower of the British army, and hence the familiar expression, "under the rose," which is very insignificant unless the origin of it be known.

To Raise Cabbage, &c .- A corres. condent of the Prairie Farmer has the ollowing remarks in regard to the raising of Cabbage, &c.:

" Every spring I am called on for cabmy neighbors why they do not raise and I'll be d-d if we don't whip you." plants themselves, I always hear some excuse like; "The bugs eat them up," 'The seed was good for nothing," or, The frost killed them," or "You cannot raise cabbage plants on old land,' &c.; and may be it is so with neighborhoods where the Prairie Farmer circulates, and for that reason I will describe my way-and I have never met with a failure. I have boxes prepared, about twelve inches deep, and set them up in a sheltered place, high enough to be out her knitting and said no more. of jumping distance of the bugs, and fill them with a good rich soil. Before planting the seeds, I prepare a kettle full of boiling water, and pour it as hot as posible over the boxes. This kills the varmints and seeds of weeds in soil, and when cooled down some, promotes the germination of the seeds planted, which come up a great deal quicker than when planted in cold soil. The seeds are sown on top, and pressed in the warm mud with a board, and are afterwards covered with about the eighth of an inch of loose soil. The plants will come up quick and thrifty, and no bugs will trouble them. Last year, I raised in a box about thirty-six feet square about 3000 cabbage plants, which sold readily at 2s. per hundred, which would be at the rate

A Good Reply. The Cincinnati Times tells the following anecdote of a regular "skinflint:" "A certain tight-fisted old codger of this city happened to be in at Foster's Philosophical Instrument Manufactory a few weeks since, where he was shownthe Lord's Prayer engraved on a piece about the size of a five cent piece, with which he was very much pleased. Returning home, he related the circumstance and fragrant shrine. This favourite of to his family, and a prodigal son coming into the sitting-room, the following ensued:-

"My son, would you suppose that the Lord's Prayer could be engraved in a space no larger than the area of a half-

"Well-yes, father, if a half dime is as large in every body's eye as it is in yours, I think there would be no difficulty in putting it on about four times."

WHERE SHALL WE PLACE HIM?-The "Yankee Blade," tells us of a queer incident which once came off at a church in Boston. A clergyman was pronouncing a grandiloquent eulorium upon Howard, the philanthropist, comparing him with all the worlds benefactors since Noah's day, and declaring that he could find no place honorable enough for him, on the roll of those who brought blessings to their race, while ever and anon his paragraphs were wound off with the exclamation, "Where shall we place this great philanthropist?" Just as he had reiterated the interrogatory for the 12th time, a chap with a "brick in his hat," who had staggered in, rose up, and steadying himself by clutching the pew railing with vice-like grasp, cried out, "S-s-since you are so-so-b-b-blamably puzzled, Mister, he-he-he can have s-se-seat here in th-th-this pew. There's plenty room!" It would require a Cruikshank's penc.! to denict the scene that ensued. Suffice it to say, our bibulous friend was incontinentshown that there was room neither in the pew nor in the entire house for him.

A GOOD ANECDOTE .- The following is said to have occurred at New Orleans, during the invasion of that quarter by the British. After the battle of the 23d December, 1814, in which both armies received nearly the same injury, a subaltern British officer was sent to the American line with a flag of truce. Being detained a little, he began to converse with a corporal in our service, respecting the probable issue of events there. He stated resist any longer, as they, must eventually be heaten-that the troops opposed to who had repeatedly vanquished the best veterans on the continent of Europe, and were commanded by Lord Packenham, Lord Picton, Lord Cochran, Lord Kean, and many others of the ablest generals in Europe." To this the corporal replied indignantly: "On our side we have the Lord God Almighty, the Lord Jesus bage and other plants; when I inquire of Christ, and the Hero Andrew Jockson,

THE UNION SOLD .- Mrs. Partington, on being told that Mr. Ritchie had sold 'The Union," exclaimed, "Alas! alas! I feared he would do something awful when I heard that Congress had dejected the bill to edentify him! I wonder if he sold the people with it, and if I have got to become a nigger slave. If so, I shall emulate to the South, where they know how to treat the poor critters." And SEEING A LIGHT .- A sailor the other day, in describing his first efforts to become a " water man," said that just at the close of a dark night he was sent aloft to see if he could see a light. After a short time he was hailed from the deck with-"Mast head ahov!" " Ay, ay, sir," was the answer.

"Do you see a light?"

"Yes, sir!"

" What light?"

" Day light, sir!" The lookout was ordered down with a run -Cleveland Herald.

Mourning.—We copy the following evidence of canine sagacity and affection from a New Orleans paper-the Delta, we believe it was:

"A dog which had lost a whole little was seen yesterday trying to poke a piece of crape through the handle of one of the sausage shops in this city."

"I wish you would not smoke cigars," said a plump, little black eyed girl to her lover. " Why not I smoke as well as your chimnies?" "Because chimneys do not smoke when they are in good order." He has quit smoking. In a discourse in behalf of an asylum ly remarking, "If all the world were blind, what a melancholy sight it would A STRIKE .- "I ain't going to be called printer's devil any longer, I ain't," exlaimed our imp the other day, in a terrible pucker. Well, what shall we call you?"

"Call me typographical spirit of evilthat's all."

"MY LAD," said a young lady to a boy carrying an empty mail bag, "are you the mail boy? "Yer doesn't suppose I'se a female boy, does yer?" answered the lad as he cast a look of astonishment upon the young lady. A RICH journeyman printer has been found out west. He is being exhibited with ringtail monkeys, wild hogs, no-haired horses, fourlegged calves, Glidden's Aunt Phæbe, and other mean things. Why is a lady's hair like the latest news? Because in the morning we always find it in papers.

MARSHAL'S MAGICAL PAIN ERADICATOR, TILL POSITIVELY CURE Rhen VV in every stage, Weak Back, Weak Joints, Bruises, Strains, Swellings, Toothache, Head-ache, Contracted Tendons, Lumbago, Psinful Nerves, Spinal Affections, &c., &c. In fact, it is hard to say what kind of pains it will not cure. It is WARRANTED to cure the diseases named or, in case of failure, the money will be refunded.
To persons troubled with CORNS, this compound s particularly recommended. Please to read the following commendatory letter from Judge Hughes, of Burke county :-ELMORE, BURKE Cv., Dec. 22, 1850. MR. J. E. MARSHAL, - Dear Sir: In compliance with your request, I make this simple statement of facts. My boy Daniel stuck a thorn in his foot about the first of last June, the thorn was extracted, and no more thought of it for 15 or 20 days, his foot then began to swell, and in a few days it was opened. It discharged a large quantity of matter. The discharge continued for eight days, and then ceased. His foot then re-commenced swelling and extended up his leg, thigh, and hip, with violent pain. He then be gan to spit from his lungs matter similar to that discharged from the abscess on his foot. I then called in medical aid, and from the remedies used, he was alternately better and worse for eight or ten weeks. During this time a large abscess formed upon the hip, the discharge was large, and as soon as it ceased, a general swelling of his leg, thigh and breast commenced, which was very hard to the touch, and at times experienced much difficulty in swallowing. Medical aid seemed of no further avail, and was discontinued. I then had recourse to your "Magical Pain Eradicator." In forty-eight hours, from the time I commenced its use, his foot began to soften; the swelling on his hip and breast subsided, and I am pleased to say he is now well.

I again used your remedy in a case of Neuralgia, with great success, giving immediate re-licf. I have tried it also for Tooth-Ache, with my youngest child, with entire success.

From the success I have had in the use of your "Magical Pain Eradicator," I have no hesitation in recommending it to the public. Yours truly, W. W. HUGHES." The above statements of the use of "Mar-shall's Magical Pain Eradicator," are known by me to be true. ANGUS BETHUNE.

The Faculties, for intellectual abilities, moral worth and professional acquirements, will compare favorably with the most distinguished in our country. The medical faculty constitutes an anomaly in this or any other country—all of them are able lecturers and the best of teachers.

Those who will contemplate our geographica, position, and the extent of our population, can have no doubt as to the eligibility of our situation for an enterprise of the kind. As to health, including all seasons of the year, we dony that any other city has more.

A common error exists in the minds of many students relative to the place of sindying medicine; those who intend practicing among the diseases of the West and South should certainly educate themselves at a school whose Faculty are practically acquainted with those diseases.

That the public may be estained of the permanency of this school, we feel it our doty to state, that the Trustees and Faculty forms and that the December of the states them, cannot be interrupted.
