be impossible to arise. If then there is any probability that the Union party of the South will never give of the voters of this Congressional District, their assent to any course of resistance that Col. F. W. PICKENS and DRAYTON NANCE looks to a dissolution of the Confederacy. Esq., as candidates to represent it in the and if there is any degree of certainty that Southern Congress. They are gentlemen of the truly Southern party of Georgia, Ala- ripe experience, of tried patriotism, and united bama and Missi sippi will uphold, as far as is to the State by the highest and holiest ties.in their power, the course of secession by These gentlemen would possess some ad-South Carolina alone, we maintain that the vantages from their attendance upon the present is a safer period for action than we Nashville Convention above many others, no are likely to find at any future time. We have yet a good hope of rallying the few States, that are considered sound, to the rescue-we will create for our true friends in those States, grounds of argument and anpeal, which may free thousands from the shackles of party and the delusions of skilfal leaders, and open their eyes to the true issues before the country. And if the spirit which has been wont to animate the native population of those States has not entirely succumbed, they will turn upon their unmasked betrayers, and strike them to the earth.-They will be restored to their "first love," and will fly with ardor to the help of that State which shall have thrown herself into the breach. Our true friends are, every where, imploring Heaven that South Carolina may make the issue now-they feel that they are being borne down by a swift-descending flood, which her action alone can check. We have the RIGHT upon our side. We have the SYM-PATHIES OF THOSE AT THE SOUTH WHO PREFER JUSTICE TO THE UNION. We will have the HELP of their ARMS if need be. The prospect if we delay, is cheerless and gloomy.-The enemy are advancing-our ranks are certainly receding. Virginia is admitted to be gone-North Carolina is given up as rapidly verging towards freesoilism. Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee, and Louisiana abhor disunion under any circumstances that now exist, or are likely to arise. If South Carolina declines action, her influence, to say the least, will be greatly impaired-the advocates of Southern Rights, everywhere, will be disheartened, if not dismayed. Federal gold will be lavished, as it has hitherto been, to Virginia, and has served as a striker in a Blackspread disaffection and disloyalty among our smith Shop for ten or twelve years.—He is sold leaders. South Carolina may be the next to be tampered with. Great Heavens! to think that she too may become the victim of treachery. Let us fly, while yet we may.-Let us, in Freedom's name, get beyond the reach of this contaminating influence. Let us sever the link that binds us to this central monster. Rather than remain longer to become the dupes of time-serving politicians, the minions of an irresponsible moneyed tyranny, let us sacrifice if need be, half that we possess-let us man ships and defend our independence on the water-let us arm regiments, and meet them on land. Let us but take our position boldly and let us pledge our last dollar and our last drop of blood in the cause, and we must prove invincible. I am mistaken in Independence, if he does not heartily respond to these sentiments. DECISION OF 1850. (To be Continued.)

From the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser. South Carolina

As the political position of the Palmetto State is one of peculiar interest and attraction at this time, we insert below an account of a speech delivered by one of her Senators a Edgefield Court House, a few days ago-the Hon. A. P. Butler. We take it from the Edgefield Advertiser, the editor of which is a brother-in-law of the Senator-a staunch advocate of separate secession. In connection with this speech we would state that Gen. Wallace and Mr. Orr, two Congressmen from the State, are reported to have made specches to their constituents lately, in which they took ground similar to that of Senator These things are not agreeable to many of us who are prepared to back South Carolina at any cost, but it is important that they should be known. So it appears that there are serious divisions even in that gallant little State as to her true policy in the present emergency. South Carolina not uni-ted—but divided! It strikes our car with ominous forebodings-almost with terror; something akin to that awful sound of "Le Garde recule" to the "grand army" of the Emperor on the field of Waterloo. When that noble State-now the last hope of the South-shall have bowed to Northern tyranny and oppression by a quiet submission, then indeed may the South speedily prepare for that terrible catastrophe that surely awaits her-the abolition of slavery not only in the District of Columbia, but in the States. May the Great Ruler of nations nerve her sons to take that course which is the only salvation of herself or the South. If the pusillanimity of the other Southern States shall induce them to withhold their co-operation, them let her act alone; and her devoted sons, scattered far and near over the whole South and West, will if need be, rally to her standard and uphold her honor. She has children enough without her borders to drive off every mercenary invader that may pollute her soil. And where is the South Carolinian that would not respond to the calls of
