She'd love me back again. Alas! my hopes, adawning bright, Were all at once made dim; She saw a chap, I don't know where, And fell in love with him!

Next time we met-(now how it was I don't pretend to say)-But when my chair moved up by hers, Why, hers would move away. Before, I always got a kiss, (I own, with some small fuss.) But now, forsooth, for love nor fun, 'Fwas non-come-at-a buss!

Well, there we sat-and when we spoke, Our conversation dwelt On everything beneath the sun, Except what most we felt. Enjoying this delightful mood, Who, then, should just step in, But he, of all the world whom I Had rather see than him. And he would sit down by her side. And she could-all the while He pressed her hand within his own-

Upon him sweetly smile; And she could pluck a rose for him, So fresh and bright and red. And gave me one which hours ago, Was shrunk, and pale, and dead.

And she could freely, gladly sing The songs he did request; The ones I asked were just the ones She always did detest. I rese to leave-and "She'd be glad To have me longer stay !" No doubt of it! No doubt they wept To see me go away!

I sat me down. I thought profound, This maxim wise I drew: It's easier far to like a girl Than make a girl like you. But, after all, I don't believe My heart will break with woo: If she's a mind to love "that chap," Why, bless her, let her go!

An Irish Letter.

A correspondent into whose hands the following letter had fallen, sends it to us as something too good to be lost: IRELAND, Kilkenny, 1850.

DEAR JIMMY :- I have not wrote you before my last since now, because as we moved our place of living, I did not know where the letter would find you; but I now with pleasure take my pen in hand to inform you of the melancholy death of your own living uncle Kilpatrick, who died very suddenly last week, after a lingering illness of five months. The man was in violent convulsions the whole time, of his sickness laying perfectly quiet and spachless, all the while talking incoherently and calling for water.

I had no opportunity of informing you of his death sooner, except I had written you by the last post, which went off just two days before his death, and then you would have had the postage to pay. I am at a loss to tell you what his death was occasioned by, but I fear it was by his last sickness, for he never was well ten days together, during the whole time of his confinement, and I fear his sickness was occasioned by eating too much rabbits stuffed with peas and gravy, or peas and gravy stuffed with rabbits, I cannot now tell which, but be that as it will. as soon as he breathed his last, the Doctor gave up all hopes of recovery.

I need not tell you anything about his age, for you well know that in December next he would have been just six months His property now devolves to his next of kin, who all died some time ago; so that I expect it will be divided between us, and you know his property was considerable, for he had a fine estate, which was sold to pay his debts, and the remainder he lost in a horse race, but it was the opinion of every one, at the time, that he would have won the race, if the horse he run against had not been too fast for

I never saw a man, and the Doctors all say so, that observed directions and took medicine better than he did; he said he had as lief drink gruel as wine, if it only had the same taste, and would as soon take tarter emetic as eat beef-steak if it only had the same relish. But, poor soul, he will never drink more, and you not have a living relation in the world, except myself and your two cousins, who were killed in the last war.

I can't dwell on this mournful subject, and shall sale my letter with the black sale wax, and put your uncle's coat o' arms, so I beg you not to break the sale when you open the letter, and don't open it until three of four days after you receive it, by which time you will be prepared for the sorrowful tidings. When you come to this place, stop, and don't read any more till my next.

From your affectionate aunt, BIDDY KILPATRICK. To James McStraffie.

P. S .- Don't write again until you receive this.

A CORRESPONDENT at the South, tells.

the following anneedote: An old Dutchman took a job of hauling cotton across the country to a certain river, and one day he stopped the team about noon for the purpose of eating his dinner, and giving refreshment and rest to his horses. Perceiving indications of a spring a little distance from the road, he left his son in charge of the horses, and carried his tin pail over to the water. It proved to be a hot spring, and the old Dutchman cried out in terror to his son, with a loud voice:

"Hanse! trive on! trive on te deam, for Got's sake! Hell ish not von mile vrom dish playshe!

"I Love to STEAL."-An amusing neident occurred in one of our downeast churches, some years ago. The clergyman gave out on a pleasant Sabbath afternoon in July:

"I love to steal a while away From every 'eumbering care.

And spend the hour of setting day In humble, grateful prayer.'

The regular chorister being absent the duty devolved upon the good old deacon M-, who commenced. "I love to steal-" and then bagged down-and raising his voice to a still higher pitch, he sung,

"I love to steal-" and, as before, he concluded he had got the wrong pitch, and deploring that he had not his "pitchtuner," he determined to succeed if he died in the attempt.

By this time, all the old ladies were of the "young 'uns" were all in a broad grin. At length, after a desperate cough, he made a final demonstration, and roared out,

"I love to steal-"

This effort was too much; every other but the godly and eccentric parson was laughing, who arose and, with the utmost coolness, said,

"Seeing our brother's propensities, let us pray!" It is needless to say that but few of that congregation heard the prayer.

Scene in a Dentist's Office .- A male representative from the Emerald Isle enters, hat in hand, with "The top of the morning to ye' sir, an' I've got a bad tooth, an' the divil a bit o' comfort can I get short of a bottle of brandy, an, I've got one of Father's Matthy's medals to kape me from all such evil spirits, sure. Now sir, what'll ye be axin, to pull me a

"Oh," replied the doctor, "I won charge you anything for pulling the second

Pat seated himself turned up his mug. and the doctor soon took a peep at his grinders, and with a little assistance from Pat, soon found which were the ones he wanted out.

Says Pat, "this is the first one and that is the second one. Plaze pull the second one out first."

"Very well," replied the doctor, "any way to get them out." And he pulled. Before he had time to fix the instrument for the other tooth, (the fir: one;) Pat had got out of the chair and was edging towards the door.

"I guess, doctor, I won't have the first tooth pulled till it aches, and you told me you would pull the second one for nothing."

Pat mizzled, and the-doctor pocketed the joke instead of the fee.

SAL. DON'T FOUNDER .- At the celebra tion ball in Coldwater, after the dancers began to "get interested" and commenced calling for "fast tunes," a couple who had been particularly industrious, and were very much warmed up by the exercise, "hauled off," for a drink .- The lady drank immoderately, and the young man, probably having witnessed the results of watering too freely after "fast driving," in a voice that could be heard all over the room, cried out-"Sal don't founder."

The sentitious warning it is said had the desired effect, and is possible that the fair one's life was saved by the means .-Toledo Republican.

LESSON IN ARITHMETIC .- "John, sup pose I were to shoot at a tree with five birds on it, and kill three, how many would be left?" said a school teacher to one of his pupils.

"Three, sir," replied the boy. "No, two would be left, you ignoramus.

"No they would't, though-the three shot would be left, and the other two would be flied away." "Take your seat, John."

"Will you keep an eye on my horse son, while I step in and get a drink?" "Yes sir." [ Stranger goes in, gets his drink, comes out and finds horse missing.] "Where is my horse, boy ?"

"He's run'd away, sir."

"Didn't I tell you to take care of him, you young scamp?"

"No, you told me to keep my eye on him, and I did till he got clean out o'

"Why don't you put on a clean shirt?" said as well the other night to his companion; "then the girls will smile upon you as they do upon me."

"Why not?" said white collar. "Because," said soiled collar, "every body's mother is not a wash-woman."

"PA, isn't that man in what is called the spring of life ?" "Why, my son?"

"Because he looks so very green."

A COUNTRY EDITOR, in speaking of a steamboat, says-" She has twelve berths in her ladies' cabin."

" Oh, heavens," exclaimed an old lady on reading the above, "what a squalling there must have been."

"LITTLE BOY, how many kinds of fire are there?" "Four, sir." What are they called?" "Wood fire, coal fire, cam fire, and fire away like fury." "That will do; you may go to the head."

"You look as if you were beside yourself," as a wag said to a fellow who stood beside a donkey.

THE GREAT SUMMER MEDICINE! DR. GUYSOTT'S IMPROVED EXTRACT OF Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla

POR the cure of all diseases or disorders generated by impure blood. Its great success justly entitles it to the name of the Great American Specific. So far as it is known it is universally appreciated, and many eminent physicians use it daily in their practice with the most happy effects, and certify that it is the best extract in existence, and the only that STANDS THE TEST OF TIME. Every year adds to its great popularity, and multiplies its astonishing cures. The victim of HEREDITARY SCROFULA, With supparating glands, honey-combed flesh, and caries eating into his bones, finds Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla a balm for his afflictions. Ills horrible torments are assuaged, and his malady not only relieved, but PERMANENT.

Sel as CHEAP as Augusta, Hamburg, Aiken, or any other neighboring market.

LY CURED.

It may be safely asserted, from the results of past experience, that "Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla," is, beyond all comparison, the MOST WONDERFUL REMEDY ON EARTH

MOST WONDERFUL REMEDY ON EARTH for the following diseases, and all others proceeding from VITIATED BLOOD.

Scrofula or King's Evil, Rheumatism, Obstinate Cutaneous Eruptions, Pimples or Pustule on the face, Blotches, Boils, Chronic Sore Eyes, Ringworn or Tetter, Scald Head, Enlargement and Pains of the Bones and Joints, Stubborn Ulcers, Syphilitic Lumbago, and Diseases arising from an Injudicious use of Mercury, Acites or Dropsy, Exposure, or Imprudence in Life, Liver Complaint, Ague and Fever, Intermiting Fever, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Diarrhea, Plethora of Blood in the Head, Piles, Pains in the Back, Sides, Breast or Loins, and all forms of Muscular, Glandular and Skin Diseases.

and Skin Diseases.

It is a sovereign specific for General Debility, and the best renovator for a Broken Constitution. It braces and re-invigorates every organ, promotes It braces and re-invigorates every organ, promotes activity and regularity in every function, and produces that condition of the whole physical system, which is the best security for LONG LIFE!

Let all who wish to purge the blood from the impurities contracted from the free indulgence of the appetite during the winter, and to prepare the system to RESIST SUMMER EPIDEMICS. RESERT NOW to "Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock SORT NOW to "Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla," which is proving itself an anti-and Sarsaparini, when is ploud to see a many dote for many of the most malignant diseases that flesh is heir to, and they will never be disappointed; for in this remedy the public faith has never wavered—never can wave; for it is founded on experience, just as their want of faith in other and spurious compounds is also founded in experience. They FLY FROM MINERAL NOSTRUMS to seek hope, life and vigor from this PURELY VEGETABLE REMEDY.

Therefore, however broken down in health and spirits, however loathsome to himself and others, let no one despair of recovery, let the patient only understand that his hope of physical restoration lies only in "Geysott's Extract of Yellow DOCK AND SARSARILLA," and persuade him f r his LIFE'S SAKE to try it, and we have no hesi-tation in predicting his speedy restoration to health. As a means of regulating all the functions of WOMAN'S DELICATE ORGANIZATION.

Please to read the following commendatory etter from Judge Hughes, of Burke county:-Elmore, Burke Cv., Dec. 22, 1850. MR. J. E. MARSHAL, -Dear Sir: In complinee with your request, I make this simple statement of facts. My boy Daniel stuck a thorn-in his foot about the first of last June, the thorn was extracted, and no more thought of it for 15 or 20 days, his foot then began to swell, and in a few days it was opened. It discharged a large quantity of matter. The discharge continued for eight days, and then ceased. His foot then re-commenced swelling and extended up his leg, thigh, and hip, with violent pain. He then be gan to spit from his lungs matter similar to that riage parts and Bodies, of steady moral habits, none other need apply. Good comfortable buildischarged from the abscess on his foot. I then ings can be procured, convenient to the shop for called in medical aid, and from the remedies used, he was alternately better and worse for eight or ten weeks. During this time a large abscess N. Medical aid seemed of no further avail, and was discontinued. I then had recourse to your "Magical Pain Eradicator." In forty-eight hours, from the time I commenced its use, his foot began to soften; the swelling on his hip and breast subsided, and I am pleased to

I again used your remedy in a case of Neuralgia, with great success, giving immediate re-lief. I have tried it also for Tooth-Ache, with my youngest child, with entire success.

From the success I have had in the use of your "Magical Pain Eradicator," I have no hesi-
