Poetry. DROOP NOT UPON YOUR WAY. BY JOHN BARNES. Ho ! ye who start a noble scheme, For general good designed, Ye workers in a cause that tends, To benefit your kind ! Make out the path you fain would tread, The game ye mean to play : And if it be an honest one, Keep steadfast on your way ! Although ye may not gain at once

The points ye most desire, Be patient-time can wonders work Plod on, and do not tire ; Obstructions, too, may crowd your path, In threatening, stern array, Yet flinch not ! fear not ! they may prove Mere shadows in your way.

all all

Then while there's work for you to do. Stand not despairing by, Let "forward" be the move ye make, Let "onward" be your ery ; And when success has crowned your plans, 'Twill all your pains repay, To see the good your labor's done-Then proop NOT UPON YOUR WAY. SONG. BY THE GLEANER. I love the world, the dear old world, That glides along so unconcerned, And heedeth not the grumblings hurled,

In sage contempt by wise and learned. If corrows come, and friendships fly, And tears are dropping from my heart, I hie me to the open sky,

And soon the tears forget to start. The waving clouds, those gorgcous things, A world of sunlight all the day, They seem to give my spirit wings, And bathed in light it soars away.

The gentle breeze that fans my brow, And gayly stirs the forest leaf. And carols mid the bending bough. Will ever bear away my grief.

The grave we term a place of rest, Yet, oh ! it seemeth mournful too, With ebbing life upon its crest, And loving spirit lost to view.

And life is sweet, 'tis bliss to breathe The mingled air of buds and flowers, What love and friendship fail to wreathe,

We find in nature's sunlit bowers. Dollar Newspaper.

Agricultural.

Agriculture has made greater strides towards a perfect system within the present century than in all the many hundred years preceeding. That which until about fifty years ago was a simple plodding routine at once destructive to continued fertility and ruinous to the interests of the farmer and land-owner, is now gradually becoming a dignified science which properly understood and faithfully carried out will not only reward the labor of its study on the increased guished party, her reply was; "The fruitfulness of the soil, but extend its bene. fruitfulness of the soil, but extend its benefits beyond the energetic agriculturist promote from the nickneck, that I could himself to all classes of the community. It may be a slower but it is a surer road to wealth than all the gold mines of the Pacific, and by the stimulus which good farming necessary creates by the more imposing position it gives to the state from the increased value of the land within its limits and by the active employment it affords to other trades and professions. It enables the people of the Commonwealth to sustain with ease its dignity and credit under necessary taxation. The benefits which agriculture owes to those immortal names whose lives were devoted to its study are vast and manifold. Through the experiments they undertook and the discoveries they made there is found to be no land so utterly barren but what may be converted to some degree of fruitfulness. And soils once fertile but now impoverished by excessive and injudicious culture can be restored to their former vigor and by proper management brought into a condition of permanently increasing productiveness. A careful analysis of soils-by no means difficult to acquire--and a knowledge of to make mine vrow a blum budding mit : the constituent elements necessary to fer- and ven I gits on the tobermost branch, tility will enable any one with a little I vall from the lowermost limb, mit one perseverence to acquaint himself with the leg on both sides of the fence, and like to particular property or properties that are stove mine outsides in !" wanting in his land and these being supplied a suitable rotation of crops afterwards will not only keep the the soil in good heart but actually improve it still further .- Authors Home Gazette.

TO PRESERVE VEGETABLE MATTERS FOR EXPORTATION, &c.-Take pointoes, pare them, and cut them in slices, and mmerse them in boiling water for ten minutes. After this, dry them in an oven at about 100 or 120 degs.; they are then submitted to the powerful pressure of a press, when they should be wrapped in tin foil and kept in air-tight vessels until required for use. Peas, beans, &c., may be treated in the same manner. Any vegetable may be dried in an oven at about 125 deg., then ground in a coffee mill, after which they should be pressed and kept in air-tight tin boxes; pumpkins, &c., may be treated in this manner. By these simple directions our farmers may wisely profit. The vegetables may be put into a cotton cloth bag and immersed in the hot water, and a screw or hydraulic press will answer the purpose for pressing. No family in the country need be without a variety of all kinds of vegetables throughout the entire year.

RECIPE FOR SNAKE BITE .- A subscriber writing us from the river, says that one of his children, a small lad, was bitten a few days since by a poisonous snake, and in fifteen minutes afterwards his arm was swollen almost to bursting, but by a very simple remedy he was entirely relieved in a short time. He sends us the following recipe, which may not be generally known, and as it may be of importance we give it a place in our colums:

Cotton wood leaves, beaten up or bruised, to which add sweet milk. Let the person bitten drink of this, and at the same time apply it extensively to the wound .-- Picayune.

Nor HALF THROUGH .- Could'nt help laughing the other day, at an anecdote of a man accustomed to make long prayers, who had overpersuaded a guest, greatly against his inclination, to stay to breakfast. He prayed and prayed, till his impatient guest began to think seriously of edging away quietly, and walking off; but in attempting it, waked up the old man's son, who was asleep in his chair. "How soon will your father be thro'?" whispered the guest. "Has he got to the Jews yet?" asked the boy in reply. "No," said the other. " Wal, then he aint half through ?" answered the boy, and composed himself again to his nap. The guest bolted at once. A RHODE Island lad, under examination by a Connecticut schoolmaster, being asked " How many Gods are there ?" The boy, after having scratched his head sometime, replied. "I don't know how many you've got in Connecticut, but we have none in Rhode Island ?" A FASHIONABLE Lady being inquired of how she liked the dinner at a distin-

TOMATO FIGS .- As this is the season of tomatoes, we republish the following recipe, and commend it to every good housewife who desires to have a rich conserve of domestic manufacture wherewith to treat her friends. And while we do so, would recommend to her, in putting up peaches, pears, quinces, &c., not to omit to preserve a few jars of tomatoes as they make the most spicy preserve of all.

Take six pounds of sugar to one peck (or sixteen pounds) of the fruit, Scald and remove the skin of the fruit in the usual way. Cook them over a fire, their own juice being sufficient without the addition of water, until the sugar penetrates and they are clarified. They are then taken out, spread on dishes, flattened and dried in the sun. A small quantity of the syrup should be occasionally sprinkled over them whilst drying; after which, pack them down in boxes, treating each laver with powdered sugar. The syrup is afterwards concentrated and bottled for use. They keep well from year to year and retain surprisingly their flavor, which is nearly that of the best quality of fresh there's life there's hope. Spunky gal, that. figs. The pear shaped or single tomatoes answers the purpose best. Ordinary brown sugar may be used, a large portion of which is retained in syrup.

RETORT COURTEOUS .- Three young conceited wits, as they thought themselves, passing along the road near Oxford, met a grave a old gentleman, with whom they had a mind to be rudely merry : "Good morrow, father Abraham," said

one. "Good morrow, father Isaac," said the next.

"Good morrow, father Jacob," cried the last.

"I am neither Abraham, Issae, nor Jacob," replied the old gentleman, " but Saul, the son of Kish, who went out to seek his father's asses ; and lo ! I have found them."

THE "man with a shirt collar" has come to his untimely end, according to the Milwaukie Advertiser. Visiting that city he indulged his "collar" in too much starch, and while turning a corner, it cut his throat.

" Miss, will you take my arm?" " La, yes, and you too." "Can't spare but the arm, Miss," hastily replied the old bachelor. "Then," said Miss, "I can't take it, as my motto is to go the whole hog or none."
