Talk of a moon of honey, Of roses and so forth ! Of making matrimony A Paradise on earth! For such a mess of pottage Her thraldom who would weave? For love within a cottage A palace who would leave. I do not care a copper

For sentiment and love ; It may be very proper For those who ape the dove, But such a bird as I am, Who roves as well as sings Has got (sometimes to try 'em) A brilliant pair of wings.

Then I shall never marry For money, love, or fun! The men-Tom, Dick and Harry-Are traitors every one, A little admiration, A little liberty. An innocent flirtation, Is just enough for me.

THE BOY AND THE ROBBERS The Elbridger Advertiser, (a German paper,) gives the following account of a fearful incident which occurred recently at a farm house in the District of Neidenburg, on the Poland frontier. In order to give credence to the matter, the reader must know that the place referred to is situated in a country which was for a long time past been the chosen spot of accomplishing the most extensive smuggling operations-where the child from its tender years becomes familiar with scences of outrage, and thus becomes prepared to follow the career of its father at a much earlier period than others who are born and bred amidst comfort and peace. A peasant had left his farm early in the morning, accompanied by his wife, to dis pose of his weekly stock at the town of Neidenburg. His son Franz, a boy of fifteen, and a daughter, five years younger, remained to take care of the house, and about two hours after the parents had gone, a stranger suddenly entered the house, at the same time exhibiting a knife and pistol, with an intimation that the slightest show of resistance would be punished with death. Franz opened a bureau, where the robber found ten dollars in money; but far from being satisfied with this, the fellow insisted that there was more in the house, and that he must have it. Franz then opened a closet, told the robber that it contained what he sought; but the man had scarcely entered when Franz closed the door upon him, drew out the key, and directed his sister to run to the village for help. Little Lisette was not slow in following the order, raising her voice to the highest pitch, she out, but scarcely ha ed the door, when she was seized by two other men, accomplices of the first, who strangled her, ere her cries could alarm the neighborhood. Franz heard the dying groans of his darling sister, and resolved to avenge her. The double-barreled gun hung on the wall; in a second he had seized it, and searcely had he finished loading, when he heard the steps of the robbers coming towards the room in which he was. The entrance of the first ruffian was the signal for the gallant boy to discharge one of the barrels of the gun, and without uttering a groan, the man fell lifeless to the floor. The second appeared; he saw the deadly weapon aimed at him, and sought to retreat, but too late! The fatal report was heard, and he fell over the corpse of his guilty accomplice. Shocked by his own work, Franz now sat down to think of what he was next to do, but his resolution was soon taken. Again the gun was loaded, and the brave little fellow placed himself as sentinel before the closet of the captive robber, that he might guard him until assistance arrived. It was not long in coming. The double report had been heard, and a neighbor hastened to learn the cause of it. Being told of the capture of the ruffian, he laughed at the danger of freeing the man, whom he proposed to take at once to the village. The key was handed to him, and in another moment the closet door was opened, but the robber who had probably overheard the conversation sprang nimbly out, seized the peasant, and plunged his knife several times into his body. The last blow had scarcely been inflicted, when one more report was heard from Franz's gun, the last robber fell to the ground, weltering in his blood. The criminal authorities took possession of the parties and exhibited them publically, with a view of identifying them. the country .- [Translation in National Police Gazette.

AN EASY NATURED FARMER-THE TRUE MAHOMETAN SPIRIT .- The Detroit Advertiser relates the following example of a resignation, usual among Americans:

A certain good-natured old Vermont farmer preserved his constant good nature let what would turn up. One day, while the Black tongue prevailed in that State, one of his men came in, bringing the news that one of his red oven was dead.

"Is he?" said the old man, " well, he always was a breechy cuss. Take his hide off, and carry it down to Fletcher's; it will bring the cash." An hour or so afterwards, the man came back with the news that "line back" and his mate were both dead, "Are they ?" said the old man, well I took them of B ---, to save a bad debt that I never expected to get. It is lucky that it ain't the brindles. Take the hides down to Fletcher's; they will bring the cash." After the lapse of another hour the man came back again to tell him that the nigh brindle was dead. "Is he?" said the old man, "well he was a very old ox. Take off his hide and take it down to Fletcher's it's worth cash, and will bring more than any of the others." Hereupon his wife, who was a very pious soul, taking upon herself the office of Eliphaz, reprimanded her husband very severely, and asked him if he was not aware that his loss was a judgment of Heaven for his wickedness. "Is it?" said the old fellow. "Well, if they will take the judgment in cattle, it is the easiest way I can pay it."-

WITH four metalic qualifications, a man may be pretty sure of success. These are -gold in his pocket, silver in his tongue, dissatisfied of all mechanics? Because he brass in his face, and iron in his heart.

INDUSTRY AND INTEGRITY.

There is nothing possible to man which industry and integrity will not accomplish. The poor boy of yesterday, so poor that a dollar was a miracle in his vision, houseless, shoeless, breadless-compelled to wander on foot from village to village, with his bundle on his back, in order to procure labor and means of subsistence, has become the talented an honorable young man to-day, by the power of his right arm, and the potent influence of good principles, firmly held and perpetually maintained. When poverty, and what the world calls disgrace, stared him in the face, he shuddered not, but pressed forward, and exulted most in high and great exertion in the midst of accumulated disasters and calamities. Let this man be cherished, for he honors his country and dignifies his race. High blood-what matters it if this course not his veins? he is a free born American, and therefore a sovereign and a prince. Wealth-what cares he for that, so long as his heart is pure, and his soul is pure, and his walk upright? he knows, and his country knows, that the little finger of an honest and upright young man, is worth more than the whole body of an effeminate and dishonest rich man. These are the very men who made the countrywho bring to it whatever of iron sinew and unfailing spirit it possesses or desires, who are rapidly rendering it the mightiest, as it is already, the freest land beneath the sun.

How TO BE BEAUTIFUL .- Venus, the embodiment of female beauty, was anciently represented as having arisen from the sea This is only another way of saying that cleanliness is necessary to beauty. Without cleanliness, there can be no health, no beauty. A hand left unwashed for a few days becomes ugly and repulsive. If one can conceive of a face left unwashed even for a week, we must imagine something very far from beautiful. A face freshly washed looks more handsome than at any other time. But is vain to wash a few square inches of skin we have in view, if the vastly larger area we cover with our dress is left from day to day, and from week to week, uncleaned from its constantly accumulating impurities. The health, and consequently the clearness and freshness of the skin, require that every s juare inch, nay every pore, should be in the best condition, and that cannot be if a single pore he left clogged with the impure air which is continually passing from the system. But the action of water upon the skin, especially cold water, seems to be more important even than its first office of cleansing t from impurities. The rain bathes the lovely rose bush, washes it from dust, but it also enlivens every leaf and petal. So the cold bath not only cleanses the skin from its impurities, but gives it tone, strength and glossy smoothness, and a fresh appearance like that of the rose just washed in nature's bath, a genial shower.

INFLUENCE OF A SMILE.—It is related in the life of a celebrated mathematician, William Hutton, that a respectable looking country-woman called upon him one day, anxious to speak with him. She told him with an air of secrecy, that her husband behaved unkind to her and sought other company, frequently passing his evenings from home, which made her feel extremely unhappy, and knowing Mr. Hutton to be a wise man, she thought he might be able to tell her how she should manage to cure her that he refuses to hang his gate! husband-The case was a common one, and he thought he could prescribe for it without losing his reputation as a conjurer. "The remedy is a simple one," said he, "but I have never known it to fail. Always meet your husband with a smile." The woman expressed her thanks, dropped a curtesy and went away. A few months afterwards she waited on Mr. Hutton, with a couple of fine fowls, which she begged him to accept. She told him with a tear of joy, and gratitude glistening in her eye, that she had followed his advice and her husband was cured. He no longer sought the company of others, but treated her with constant love and kind-

THE HEART .- The little I have seen of the world, and know of the history of mankind, teaches me to look upon the errors of others in sorrow, not in anger. When I take the history of one poor heart that has sinned and suffered, and represent to myself the struggles and temptations it has passed through; the brief pulsations of joy; the feverish inquietude of hope and fear; the pressure of want; the desertions of friends; the scorn of the world that has little charity; the desolation of the mind's sanctuary, and threatening voices within; health gone; even hope, that the longest, gone; I would fain leave the erring soul of my fellow-man with Him from whose hand it came.-Longfellow.

REVENCE .- When the mind is in contemplation of revenge, all its thoughts must surely be tortured with the alternate pangs of rancour, envy, hatred and indignation; and they who profess a sweet in the enjoyment of it certainly never felt the consummate bliss of reconciliation. At such an instant the false ideas we received unravel, and the shyness, the distrust, the secret scorns, and all the base satisfactions men not one of them was known in that part of had in each other's faults and misfortunes are dispelled, and their souls appear in their native whiteness, without the least streak of that malice or distrust which sullied them, and perhaps those very actions, which when we looked at them in the oblique glance with which hatred doth always see things, were horrid and odious, when observed with honest and open eyes are beauteous and ornamental.

Mosr eminent men, who have astonished the world by the amount as well as vigour of their writings, have been early risers. Not so Jeffrey. Speaking of a continental expedition which they once had together, PO., S. C. Lord Cockburn says: "It was a delightful journey. Its only defect arose from his inveterate abhorrence of early rising, which compelled us to travel during the hottest part of the day. This aversion to the dawn, unless when seen before going to bed, lasted his whole life. He very seldom went to and others. sleep so soon as two in the morning, and distrusted all accounts of the early-rising virtues. He tells Lord Murray, in a letter in 1829, that he had been much pleased with a family he had been visiting near Bath, especially with the patriarch, a marvellous brisk young gentleman of eighty-two, who gallops up and down the country in all weathers, reads without spectacles, and is neither deaf, dull nor testy. I find, to my great delight, that he never rose early in his life : though I am concerned to add that he has for some years been a water-drinker-a vice.

however, which he talks of reforming." THE first ingredient in conversation is truth, the next good sense, the third good humor, and the fourth wit.

Why does the black smith seem the most is continually striking for wages.

THE OLD MAN AND HIS GRAND CHILD.

There was once a very old man, whose eyes had become dim, his ears deaf, and whose knees trembled under him. When he sat at the dinner table, he could scarcely hold his spoon, so that sometimes he spilt his soup on the cloth. His son and daughterin-law were much displeased at this, and at last they made their old father sit in a corner behind the stove, and gave him his food in a little earthen dish.

He never got as much as he could eat, and he would often look towards the table with wet longing eyes.
One day his shaking hand let his little disl fall, and it was broken. The woman scold ed, but he said nothing; he only sighed. Then they bought a wooden trough for him. Once, as he was sitting thus in the corner, is little grand child, about four years old, was playing on the floor near him with some pieces of wood. "What are you making?" asked the fa ther, smiling.

"I am making a little trough," answered the child, "for father and mother to eat from when they are old and I a growing

The man and his wife looked at each other in silence, and their tears flowed fast. They brought their old father back to the table gave him as much food as he wished, and they never again spoke an angry word when his trembling hand split soup on the cloth.

CONJUGAL AFFECTION .- A woman went nto an apothecary's shop the other day, with two prescriptions, one for her husband and the other for her cow. She inquired what was the price of them, and the apothecary replied it was so much for the man and so much for the beast. The woman finding that she had not enough money, reflected for a moment, and said: "give me at all events the medicine for the cow; I can send for my husband's to-morrow."

MRS. PARTINGTON AND GHOSTS .- " Do you believe in Ghosts, Mrs. Partington?" was asked of the old lady, in somewhat of timid manner. "To be sure I do," replied she, "as much as I believe that that bright fulmanary there would rise in the east to-morrow morning, we all live and nothing happens. Two apprehensions have sartainly appeared in our family. Why, I saw my dear Paul, a fortnight before he died, with my own eyes, just is plain as I see you now, and though it turned out afterwards to be a rose bush with night cap on it, I shall always think, to the day of my desolation, that it was a forerunner sent to me. And one did come in he night when we were asleep, and carried away three candles and a pint of spirits, that we kept in the house for embarkation. Believe in ghosts, indeed! I guess I do, and he must be a dreadful skyptic who dosen't."

EXTRAVAGANT people are always penu ious. Show us a woman who pays a hundred dollars for a shawl, and we will show you a woman who will run all over town to get her husband's shirts made "sixpence cheaper."

EMERSON is rather down on travelling .-He says men go abroad because they are nothing at home, and they come back because they are nothing anywhere else.

A GENTLEMAN in one of the interior towns is so much opposed to capital punishment,

"Wood is the thing after all," as the with a pine leg, said, when the mad dog

"CUEFEE, is that the second bell." "No, Massa, dat's de second ringing of de fuss bell. We hadn't no second bell in dis here hotel."

DR. ROGERS' LIVERWORT AND TAR!!

A SAFE and certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Asthma, Consumption of the Lungs Spitting of Blood, Bronchitis, Hooping Cough, and all Pulmonary Affections. A Lovely Young Lady Cured of Consumption! THE following is from the pen of WM. II. LEVIson, Esq., the distinguished editor of the U. S. Military and Naval Argus, under date of New York, January 26, 1851. What could be more conclusive? "It is seldom we permit ourselves to occupy a space in these columns to speak in praise of any article in the patent medicine way; but when we see the life of a fellow creature saved by the use of any medicine whatever, we consider it as our right, if that others may, in like manner, be benefitted. The case which has induced us to pen this article was that case which has induced us to pen this article was that of a young lady of our acquaintance, who by frequent exposure to the night air, contracted a Cold which settled on the Lungs before its ravages could be stayed. (This occurred two years ago this winter.) Varous remedies were used, but with very little effect or benefit.—The Cough grew worse, with copious expectoration, and the sunken eye, and pale, hollow there is the property of the cough grew worse. cheek, told plainly that pultoonary disease was doing its worst on her delicate frame. The family physi-cian was consulted, and although he would not admit to the young lady that she really had the Consump-tion, yet he would give no encouragement as to a cure At this crisis her mother was persuaded to make use of a bottle of Dr. Rogers' Compound Syrup of Liverwort and Tar, and we are happy to state sh haverwort and Tar, and we are happy to state she was perfectly cured in less than three months by this medicine alone, after even hope was destroyed. It is useless to comment on such a case as this, for the simple truth will reach where polished faction never can. If any doobt the authenticity of this statement, let them call at this, Office.—U. S. Military and Naval Asset.

TESTIMONY OF THE PRESS.

From the N. Y. Conrier, Aug 13. DR. ROGERS' SYRUP OF LIVERWORT AND TAR.— We have heard of several important cures recently effected by this excellent medicinal preparation, and in one instance that came under our observation, we can speak confidently. One of our employees who had suffered severely from a long standing cold, during the past week commenced the use of this medi-cine, and his Cold has entirely disappeared.

From the N. Y. Mirror, Sept. 2. LIVERWORT AND TAR .- Of the virtnes of Dr. Rog ers' Cough Medicines prepared from the above arti-cles, it is needless now to speak; its efficacy in speedi-ly curing Coughs, Colds and other lung complaints, which too freequently, if neglected, result in Con-sumption, is too well established in public confidence to need eulogy now.

From the N. Y. Despatch, Aug 25. WE have heretofore taken occasion to give our testimony in favor of the curative properties of Dr. Rogers' Compound Syrup of Livervort and Tar, and would here repeat the advice already given, for all persons who are afflicted with Consumption, or any of the premonitory symptoms, to make a trial of Dr. Rogers preparation.

DR. DENNIS'S GEORGIA SARSAPARILLA, FOR faundice, Sick Head-ache, Dizziness, Loss o

Appetite, Constipation of the Bowels, Piles, caused by Costiveness, Pain in the Bowels, or Rheumatism, caused by the use of Mercury, Syphilis, Scrofula, Boils, Ulcers, &c.

THIS PREPARATION is made as pure as possible. Its bitter taste, and beneficial effects in diseases of the Liver, and diseases arising froman impure state of the Blood, prove it to be the PUREST AND MOST USEFUL preparation of Sarsaparilla that is made.

Those who have used the various preparations of Sarsaparilla will find, by the taste and effect, that there is more Sarsaparilla in one bottle of Dr. DEN-NIS' preparation, than in half a dozen bottles as it is renerally made.

generally made.

Its alterative and mildly purgative effects upon the bowels, make it not only a good substitute for Mercury, but useful in removing all diseases arising from the imprudent use of Mercury.

Prepared only by J. DENNIS, M. D., Augus-Sold by A. G. TEAGUE and G. L. PENN, Edgefield C. II.; P. M. COHEN and CAREY & COUTURIER, Charleston; BOATWRIGHT & MIOT AND F. Columbia; A. J. CREIGHTON, Hamburg; WM. F.
