From the Charleston Mercury. GYPSUM AS A FERTILIZER. GREENWOOD, Jan. 20, 1853.

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 20th of June last, making inquiry about the application of Gypsum, and the benefits resulting from it, came to hand in due time.

and are often found to be so, when previously acted upon by water, slight rains lubricate these polished surfaces, and cause the sand to pack.

There should be no spot on the whole earth so beautiful, so happy as home. Nowhere in the world should the heart turn with so much longing, with such deep fullness of love, as to that blessed sanctuary.

There is no one so slow to note the follies or sins of a father as a daughter. The wife of his bosom may fly in horror from his embrace, but his fair haired daughter cleaves to him in boundless charity.

their questions in monosyllables, and they will soon be ashamed to do such things themselves. Both precept and example ought to be laid under contribution.
