PROSPECTUS OF THE Carolina Times.

IIE undersigned will publish, in the town of Columbia, about the 1st of February next, a Daily, Tri-Weekly, and Weekly Newspaper, bearing the title of THE CAROLINA TIMES. The limits of a Prospectus do not admit of a minute delineation of all the features of the contemplated journal. It will be sufficient to indicate the general character of the Times. It will be a Newswithin its columns all matters of information inter-esting or useful to the public. It will be a political journal, chiefly devoted to the dissemin olitical intelligence. Above all, it will ever maintain the constitutional rights and the peculiar institutions of the South, yielding allegiance to no party which does not unequivocally recognise those rights and stoutly uphold those institutions. In matters of State policy, the Times will be conservative. It will oppose all changes in the fundamental law and the administration of the State, which are not imperatively demanded by the "general welfare," and the clearly ascertained will of the people. No measure of reform will be advocated because it is new, and no error in policy will be upheld though it may have the sanction of long-established usage. The Commercial and Agricultural interests of the State shall receive their due share of attention. The Times will contribute its mite to the development of her immense resources, and encourage the Arts and Sciences which minister to the well being, social and political, of her people. And it shall be insisted on that Columbia, the beautiful capital of the State, shall partake of the general prosperity, whilst no attempt will be made to disparage the local advantage of other towns and sections. The latest intelligence, both foreign and domestic, shall be earefully reported. To this end the Telegraph and other means within the reach of the undersigned shall be laid under contribution.

The Dancy Times will be farnished to subscribers at $6; the Ter-Weekly at $3; and the Week-CRENEKER & LAMOTTE, Publishers. JAMES H. GHLES, Editor.
