"Let idle Ambition her baubles pursue,
While Wisdom looks down with disdain,
The home of the farmer has charms ever new,
Where health, peace and competence rei n."

To the Ladies!

In order to make our "Department" more useful, if possible, we propose to devote half a column each week to " Domestic Recipes." As we are sure that we have a full share of No. 1 housekeepers among our fair readers, we call upon you, ladies, to give us the recipes of all kinds of good and savory dishes. This will be of great benefit to one and all; for by giving one recipe you will perhaps get a dozen or more in return. This is a small investment that will pay handsomely. We appeal to you, Ladies, and we trust that our call is not made in vain.

Be just, Brothers.

As some of our bretheren of the press have fave failed to give us credit for extracts from the "Farmers' Department" of our paper, we are constrained in self defence. to administer a slight rebuke. We are not vain enough to claim anything more than justice, as we have made no pretensions to the honor of being known among the corps editorial. But we beg our brother editors to remember, that although we are only known as "Colter & Scooter." we are men of like passions with themselves-men of flesh and blood-whose feelings are not as hard and impenetrable as iron and steeland that we have rights in common with "the rest of mankind." Remember also the fabled Jackdaw and do not strut in borrowed plumage. "Honesty is the hest policy." We try to be just towards our bretheren in giving them credit, for all that we borrow. and expect as much from them. " Verbum

A Flower Vase to make.

TAKE a cow's horn, or if you will, ram's or bull's horn, the fresher the better, so the pith has left it, and tie a string or ribbon around the large end. Put in your flowers and fill with rain or spring water, and suspend it to a rail. The horn affords rich nitrogenous sustenance for the flowers, and will make them keep longer and better than if left to grow in the soil unculled. A horn vase may be highly ornamented according to the taste-either scraped and polished, or dressed with green velvet, ribbon or silk. It may be covered with pine burr scales, or shark skin, or other substances according to convenience and fancy. Bachelors, try it by putting a bunch of Johnquills in one, and a bunch culled at the same time in a tumbler or earthenware vase, and report to your lady-loves; and assure them that no bad odour will attach to the horn, as this will all be consumed by the flowers-though You may break, you may ruin the vase if you will, A slight scent of the horn will cling to it still.

To prevent Rabbits from Barking Fruit Trees.

WE are informed by an experienced farmer of our District, that annointing with bacon rynd the trunk of the tree, from the ground up beyond the reach of rabbits, will plow, leaving it straight in front, and beveffectually prevent their depredations.

From the Soil of the South. The Culture of the Sweet Potato.

HAVING received several letters from abroad, as well as requests from friends near to write out my mode of cultivating the sweet potato, I have concluded the easiest way of answering all, would be to furnish ing is covering the seed properly. The an article to your interesting and useful paper; prefacing my remarks by saying that the plan, herein given, was highly successful the last season, notwithstanding the long drought and great heat, my crop measuring full width, while the right is narrowed down three hundred and seventy-two bushels, to six inches wide by gently circling out the heaping measure, per acre, and much larger board from the left end. I prefer covering than any raised in this section.

About the middle of February, I open a bed four feet wide, six inches deep, and of the land is not so likely to bake after it. I sufficient length, and fill with fresh stable run the wide part of the board in the middle manure, to generate heat; cover with one inch soil; take the seed from the bank and break them into pieces of suitable size for planting; then spread them evenly and close over the bed, and cover with four inches of earth, and leave them to sprout; when you well covered. Thus all the trash and litter find they have all sprouted, (say middle of March) spread over your land a good coat of stable manure; also, sow, broadcast three hundred pounds of guano, and one hundred and fifty pounds of plaster per acre; plow all in with a large two horse plow, running close and as deep as the horse can draw it; check it off three and a half feet each way, and draw up hills as high and large as the space will admit of; let one hand go ahead with a stick four feet long and two inches in diameter, sharpened to a blunt point, and make a hole in each hill some six inches ches long, at an angle of about 45 degrees, deep; open the bed carefully and take out the seed without breaking off the sprouts, and drop one piece in each hill and cover.

Any farmer that will they put out roots, which materially diminish go over his crop the second picking, and their product.

My success was owing to high manuring, deep and thorough cultivation, and an early start, on sandy soil. The cost of raising tinue his selection for a few years will have was eight cents a bushel! $20 for manure, a plenty of five dollar Cotton seed. $10 for cultivating, is $30 per acre-372 bushels, at 8 cents, is $29.76.

They were gathered by plowing-no hoe being used, small hands following the plow and picking them up-the larger hands cutting off the vines close to the hill with knives and dragging them out of the way, made the gathering easy and expeditious. None were cut and very few left in the ground. E. T. S. Respectfully, yours, Wyunton, Jan 1855.

The Working Farmer.

THE Editor of this agricultural monthly after copying an article of ours upon the subject of "Saving our Land," by the use of guard drains, hill-side ditches &c., makes a suggestion, which we give below. Although he is mistaken as to the purpose for which our drains or hill-side ditches are used. his suggestion may be of benefit in some way or another. As our ditches are only used to guard against the washing away of our soil by heavy rains, we can have but little use for his boring implements, unless we get the telegraph size. This, we are certain would be a useful implement upon every farm, for the insertion of fence and gate posts, stack poles, &c.

We recommend the following remarks to those who wish to under-drain bottomland or crawfish flats, as containing some very practicable hints.

We would suggest to the South Carolina farmers referred to in the above article, that they may rid their side hills of the pernicious influence of resident water, arising from local springs, which approach near the surface, by a very simple method. Augers or borers are now made of 2 inches in diameter, similar to those used for boring the soil for the insertion of telegraph posts, and if at spaces of 20 feet apart in each direction. they will hore holes in their side hill soil, ifting out the earth to the depth of 3 feet. They may then insert in each hole a common ceiling lath, and the next day will be able to ascertain on which of the laths the water has risen to the highest point. By following the line of those holes in which the water shall approach nearest to the surface, they may make a drain which will cut off, and carry away, all the springs: whereas if such drains be dug by guess, they may escape such points as would effectually rid them of the excess of water .- [Ed.

TILL LITTLE AND THAT LITTLE WELL 'Tis folly in the extreme to till

Extensive fields and till them ill. The farmer, pleased, may boast aloud His bushels sown, his acres plowed, And, pleased, indulge the cheerless hope That time will bring a plenteous crop. Shrewd common sense sits laughing by, And sees his hopes abortive die; For when maturing seasons smile, Thin sheaves shall disappoint his toil.

Advised, this empty pride expel; Till little and that little well, Of taxing, fencing, toil, no more Your ground requires when rich than poor And more one fertile acre yields Than the huge breadth of barren fields.

beds as high as I can get them. I let them thus remain until the tenth of April, when I the 10th to the 25th of April will do the best. In order to plant, I take a piece of inches long, and sharpen it like a scooter

eled in the rear, and open with it to the depth of 2 or 3 inches. I prefer the wooden plow to the iron because it is not so apt to run too deep. I then roll my seed and drill them sparcely in the furrow, as much Cotton is injured in being planted too thick.

The next and most important thing in plant-

WARD & BURCHARD. BY ROYAL LETTERS PATENT.

THE HYDROMAGEN. OR WATERPROOF ANTI-CONSUMPTIVE CORK SOFES.

MANUFACTURED by HARCOURT, BRADLEY & Co., 44 Market Street, Manchester. Principal Warchouse, 102 Wood Street, Cheapside, London, England. American Establishments, 38 Ann Street and 102 Nassau Street, New York. The HYDROMAGEN is a valuable discovery for protecting the feet from damp or cold, and therefore a preventative of many Lung diseases, rethout any doctoring xhatever. The Hydromagen is in the form of a sole, and worn inside the boot or shee. Its medicated character is a powerful antidote to disease.

For Gentlemen it will be found agreeable, warm, and idote to disease.

For Gentlemea it will be found agreeable, warm, and headthy, to wear in the coldest or rainest weather, as the foot cannot become wet if the Eydoomagea is inserted. Ladies may weat the lightest seled boots or shoes in the most inclement weather with impunity; while Consumption, so prevalent among the young of one entairy, may be thwarted by their general adoption. They entirely superseds overshoes, as the latter cause the feet to perspire in a very unhealthy manner; and, besides, are not dangerous wear to pedestrians in icy weather, like India rubbers. While the latter cause the feet to appear exzemely large, the Hydromagea, being a news thin silee of cork prepared, peculiarly placed inside, does not increase the size of the boot, or cause the foot to appear unitary. To Children they are extremely valuable, as they may engage in exercise with comfort and healthy effects. Their expense is so slight as to scarce need mention; bosides, those who paironize them will find their yearly doctor's bill much diminished thereby.

As the Hydromagen is becoming more known, its sale is increasing to anadmost incredible extent. Last year in London, Manchester, Birmingham, Liverpool, Glagow, Leeds, Dublin, Paris, Antwerp, Ehmburgh and Berlin our sales meached 1,732,450 pairs of Cork Soles. This year the number will far surpass that.

Ask the Faculty their opinion of their value as a preventaive the GOUGHS, COLDB, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Man's Stras, per pair, 35 Cravs.

To all persons of all ages and conditions, as a certain and a safe shield against those fearful diseases, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Couglis, Colds, and other affections of the Lungs, which arise-from the exposed state of the chest, according to fashion, and to the continued changes of our continued changes of our climate.

"The Protector" is simply a chemically prepared fur, lined with silk and padded, which, suspended from the neck, covers the chest, in so agreeable a manner that, once worn, it becomes a necessity and a comfort.

"The Protector," although but recently introduced into America is making rapid progress through the United States, the Canadas, South America, and the West Indies. It has for a long time been a staple article in England and on the continent of Europe, while it has grown in many countries to the position of an article of dress. continent of Europe, while it has grown in many countries to the position of an article of dress.

To demonstrate these facts enquire of any English resident in your vicinity of his knowledge of the beneficial effects of wearing the Protector, without recourse to doctoring of any kind. The cost of wearing these articles is a mere triffe, and one will last some years. No one who values the health of himself or his family will be without them. The Hospitals in this country are not alone recommending them, but rapidly introducing them. Harcourt, Bradley & Co., of London, and Manchester, England, were originally entrusted with the manufacture of the Protectors, by the lamented Dr. Cooper, and continue to manufacture according to his original instructions, and therefore recommend those who would wear "The Protectors," to see to their being genuine.
