"MAJOR" asks "Who is the best farmer in the District." We answer, he that makes the most by tending to his own business and letting other people's alone,-who raises his own meat, mules, wool, &c., -buys the least of foreign produce-never waits for his neighbor to repair each half of a copartner ship fence,-and who takes two or three good agricultural papers and pays for them in advance.

OUR EXCHANGES.

WE have received our August Agricultural exchanges, viz:

" The Southern Cultivator," Augusta, Ga. " Soil of the South," Columbus, Ga.

" The Farmer & Planter," Pendleton, S.C. " American Cotton Planter," Montgome-

" Carolina Cultivator," Raleigh, N. C.

" Plow, Loom and Anvil," New York.

" Working Farmer," New York. We venture to say that these are the best advice. But do as you like.

THE FOREMAN PLOW.

WE call special attention to the advertisement of this Plow; and can speak from experience, that it is the very best plow, all things considered, now in use. It is superior to all plows in stiff clay soils, which want thorough culture; indispensable to sandy soils having clay foundations, and even as good as the best for thorough preparation in Spring of sandy soils without clay subsoils.

The Stock being of wrought iron, does not rot soon, or need any wedging up; and if the mule runs away, and runs around the field again and again, the old Iron Plow always comes out best in the race, and is ready to commence operations at the bid of the driver. It will avoid the trouble and expense of clevis and pin. It can be suited to a long and narrow sub-soil plow hoe, or a scooter, or coulter, or scraper or sweep and turning plow that will turn over the sedge and weeds better than any plow we ever saw, and that without choking up. Nay, more, we never heard alledged one reasonable objection to it from the most critical judges of what a plow ought to be.

THE INSPIRATION OF TRUFFLES.

Here is one vegetable that we know nothing in the world about. We pluck the following notice of it from the Agricultural Division of the Patent office :

THE CULTIVATION OF TRUFFLES,-It has been suggested to the Patent Office that tion of this Convention, respectfully report: measures should be taken to introduce the truffle into the United States. This esculent flected upon the objects which have caused which in some respects resembles the mushroom, has been the favorite dish of epicures to convene at this place. Your Committee from time immemorial to the present day, have come to the conclusion, that a period and yet strange to say, they have always has arrived in the agricultural history of been scarce and high-priced, few knowing South Carolina, where something ought and how to raise them, and fewer still possessing the proper knowledge to prepare them for the table. WILLIAMSON, Aug. 10, 1855. FOR THE ADVERTISER. MILLET.

MESSRS. COULTER & SCOOTER :- Gentlemen : " A prophet is not without honor save in his own country and among his own people," was spoken by one who " spake not as man speaketh," and it generally holds true, so far as my observation goes. Hence this communication is addressed to outsidersthe outsiders of the "Advertiser," and the outsiders of my neighborhood. The insiders, therefore, are to understand that it is not intended for their benefit. I want none of their "sly glances and lurking smiles."

Millet, gentlemen, is a great thing, and that is saying a great deal in its favor. It is my hobby, and that is saying much more, for every body who knows me, know that I works of the kind in the United States. ride a sleek, thrifty, good-looking animal-They are-every one of them-most valua- you can't catch me on anyother sort. THE AGRICULTURAL CONVENTION.

Our farmers should give their serious and careful attention to the following Report of the Committee on Business to the Agricultural Convention recently assembled in Co-

Your Committee would earnestly bring to population, which is the true wealth of the State: our stocks of hogs, horses, mules and cattle are diminishing in size and decreasing in number, and our purses are being strained for the last cent, to supply their places from the northwestern States. This state of affairs should not exist. We must arouse, by some means, the dormant ener-

We assure him again, that nothing ricultural implements. When our people as yet has excited any other emotion in us, there will be a spirit of inquiry awakened but a fondness for the jest. We confess in the breast of every one, and the echo will that we were not at the time properly posted fly from the mountain to the seaboard. We and that some of our flings were made at will stand by the old Palmetto State! Our sons will no longer seek the god of mammon, in the fertile lands of the south-west; Believing that his affability and confiding but an attachment and zeal will be engennature has already suffered by being too dered in the bosom of each for our homes easily influenced by his "Ransey Sniffle" and the land of our birth, that will never die advizers, and knowing that he has soul that as long as this spirit of inquiry and emulacan be soothed by the mellowing strains of sideration the natural advantages we enjoy, poetry, the following lines, to this end, are our great system of railroad inter-communication, by which is daily developed the hidden resources of our State-our easy access to one of the best and cheapest markets on the Atlantic-the comforts of life and health we enjoy in the middle and upper districts, and then contrast them with the low waters in the western rivers-the cholera, the yellow fever and mosquitoes which scourge the south-west, we will then be convinced that our homes in South Carolina are more durable, and our land will yield us great nett income over the lands in the south-west. The question then, suggests itself, how are the energies of our people to be awakened upon the all-important subject of agricultural improvement? We answer, it can be done by the establishment of a State Agricultural Society, aided and assisted by district societies—by collecting useful facts and instructive opinions, which are known to numerous individual farmers, the embodying such useful information, and diffusing it throughout the State-by the annual exhibition of the agricultural, mechanical, artistic and domestic productions of our citizens. At these fairs our people will be brought in contact with each other-expression of opinions will be elicited, inquiry will be set on foot, and our people will return from each annual festival with new ideas, and in fixed determination to turn over a new leaf in agricultural improvement. To encourage us in the establishment of a State Agricultural Society, we have but to cast our eyes to our sister States, Virginia, Maryland; North Carolina and Georgia, and see what State Agricultural Societies have done in giving a new impulse to the energies of their people; their old fields have been reclaimed, expatriation of their sons has in a great measure ceased, and they now linger on the fatherland, tied by kindred and hallowed associations. We feel that something should be done to arrest the deterioration of our land, and the expatriation of our energetic sons from our proud old State, made glorious by the brilliant achievements of the sages and patriots that have gone before us. Your Committee, therefore, without expressing any opinion as to the management and working of the Society, for they concede that to be the appropriate duty of the Executive Committee, beg leave to submit

HOW TO MAKE ONE FARM EQUAL TO THREE. In a recent address by G. T. Stewart, Esq. before the Ohio Agricultural Society, he thus speaks on this subject:

Many farmers are destroying the productiveness of their farms by shallow work .-As they find that their crops are diminishing they think only of extending their acres of surface, as if they supposed their title deeds only gave them a right to six inches of earth. If they will take those deeds, study their meaning, and apply the lesson to their fields, they will soon realize in three fold crops, the act that the law has given them three farms where they supposed they had only one; in other words, that the subsoil brought up and combined with the top soil and enriched with the atmospheric influences and those other elements which agricultural science will teach them to apply to their ground, will increase three fold the measure of its productiveness. To show to what extent the fertility of the soil can be increased, I refer to a statement in the last Patent Office Report. In the year 1850, there were nine competitors for the premium corn crops of Kentucky, each of whom cultivated ten acres. Their average crop was about 122 bushels per acre. At that time, the average crop of wheat per acre in the harvest of Great Britain on soil cultivated for centuries was about double that produced on the virgin soil of Ohio. Why is this? Simply because British farmers are educated men and apply work wisely. They pay back to the earth what they borrow; they endeavor by every means in their power to enrich their ground and in turn it enriches them, If our farmers instead of laboring to double their acres, would labor to double their crops, they would find it a vast saving of time and soil, and an increase of profits. Many of them never think of digging 10 inches into the soil, unless they have dreamed about a crock of gold hidden in the earth; but if they would set about the work of digging in earnest, every man would find his crock of gold without the aid of dreams or divination.

We have great advantage over British farmers in the fact that our farmers nearly all hold the lands which they cultivate in fee simple, while in England they are chiefly tenants hiring the land of the nobility, paying enormous rents to the proprietors, besides heavy taxes to the government. Taxes mers are their own landlords. Hence they have been able to pay three folds wages for labor to those in Europe, and the cost of transportation and yet undersell the British farmers in their own market.

THE FARMER'S SONG.

In winter he lives at his case.

Success to the jolly old farmer, Who sighs at the tail of the plow, The monarch of prairie and forest, 'Tis only to God he may bow. He is surely a fortunate fellow, He raises his bread and his cheese : And though hard is his labor in summer,

When the reign of winter is broken And spring comes to gladden and bless When the frogs in the meadow are sporting, And the robin is building her nest-The farmer walks forth to his labor,

And manly and firm is his tread, And he scatters the seed for the harvest That yields to the nations their bread.

His banks are all chartered by nature,

Their credits are ample and sure ; His clerks never slope with deposits, Pursued by the curse of the poor. His stocks are the best in the market; His shares are the shares of the plow They bring the bright gold to his coffers, And pleasure and health to his brow.

When his crops are gathered and sheltered When his cattle are snug in the fold; He sits himself down by the fireside And laughs at the tempest and cold. A stranger to pride and ambition, His duty he strives to fulfill Determined whatever betides him, To let the world jog as it will.

His trust in Him who has given The seasons the sunshine and rain Who has promised " seed time and harvest," So long as the earth shall remain. And if from his duties he wander, Led on by his venturesome will, Through life and its changing relations God's Providence follows him still.

TALLAPOSSA CO., Alia, Jan. 2, 1852.

Dear Sir:—I send you this to certify to you that your Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has performed one of the most wonderful cures on me that has ever been effected on man. I have been efficied for foity years with eruptions on my legs and feet; in 1848 they got so bad that I had to go on crutches, and in 1849 I had one leg amputated above the knee. In about nine months after my other leg broke out in large eating and running sores from my knee to my foot, and discharged a great deal of offen sive matter. My groin also broke out in large biles, which discharged much offensive matter, and at the same time my left hand broke out in large running sores nearly to my elbow. The misery that I have suffered for the last two years I cannot describe to you. I was in such agony that I never rested day or night.

In October last my son brought me one of your bottle wrappers; I read it, and found record of some wonderful cures performed by your "Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsapurilla." I sent and got two bottles of it, and com-

In October last my son brought me one of your bottle wrappers; I read it, and found record of some wonderful cures performed by your "Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla." I sent and got two bottles of it, and commenced taking it. In two weeks, to my great astonishment, my sores all became easy, and I could sleep all night, a thing I had not done for two years. When I had taken six bottles, my sores got well as if by exchantment. I have now used in all eight bottles of your "Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla," and I consider myself well.

I entrent all of the affilieted to try this medicine, for I believe it will cure any known disease in the world. Lay aside all prejudice and just try it, and proclaim its great worth to suffering mankind and entreat them to take it, for it will cure them. My case is well known to a large portion of South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, and if any should doubt the above cure, I invite them to call on me, and I will show them the scars. I can be found in Tallapoosa Co., Ala., one mile from Stoc's Ferry.

and to puriet the blood. THIS SARSAPARILLA is made of the Sarsa-parilla which grows in the Southern States and nothing else. It has the natural Sarsaparilla taste. Its effect upon the system in all cases in which Sar-saparilla is indicated is wonderful. It is a great safeguard against diseases arising from a torpid state of the Liver, or impure state of the Blood. Generally, it acts upon the Bowels as a mild pur-gative or laxative. It not only mildly moves the Bowels, but gives tone to the system by restoring healthy action in the Liver, and by freeing the blood from its impurities. For children, it is a great preventive of worms and supercedes the necessity of giving them so much worm medicine; at the same time it improves their general health. A better and more useful medicine cannot be introduced into Edgefield District, either for profes sional or family use, than the Georgia Sarsapar lla This Sarsaparilla is not to be sold on commis
